DEATH WAGON INTENDED AS REPRISAL AGAINST BUILDING TRADES HEAD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Responsibility for the disastrous Wall-street explosion last September, the echo of which was heard around the world, in denunciation of "Reds" and "anarchists" today was charged to individual laboring men or labor sympathizers by the New York Evening World. The paper, however, admitted it could not explain presence of threats signed "anarchist fighters," found in a mail box near the scene of the explosion.

In a three-page story the paper announced that the mystery of the blast that killed nearly forty persons and injured 150 more had been "solved." The theory advanced was that the death wagon in which the bomb had exploded had not been sent into the financial district to terrorize "the capitalist class" but that it had been intended as a reprisal against Robert P. Brindell, president of the Building Trades Council, and eighty-five "Brindell workers" employed in demolishing the Stock Exchange Building annex. Held up on the way, the bomb was believed by the paper to have exploded before it reached its destination.

UNION IS NAMED.

Seeking to link the explosion with the "building trust graft," being investigated by a joint legislative committee, the paper, naming a house wrecker's union, said:

"The Evening World presents proof that 1800 men, nearly all foreign born, sober, industrious, efficient, and well disciplined, have within a space of eighteen months been subjected to an amazing conspiracy of greed and injustice and the explosion was the culmination of his tyranny. The Building Trades graft was responsible for the crime. The Evening World does not charge the union, as a union with responsibility. It was the work of individuals, possibly beside the union, possibly the work of sympathizers.

FURTHER PROOFS.

"Further proofs are presented that the wrath and resentment of these workingmen and their fellows who knew of their tragic losing fight to avert vagrancy and starvation in days of overflowing labor opportunity was centered not only on their arch-oppressor, Robert P. Brindell, dictator of the Building Trades Council, but upon housewrecking contractors."

The police and agents of the Department of Justice, the paper asserts, today are "busy looking through the membership rolls of Housewrecker's Union No. 95 to find men who might have been so false to modern labor-union principles and the teachings of Gompers and Frayne and their own outspoken advocate of law and order, William Zaranko, as to blacken their organization's good name by a crime of private vengeance as horrible and wicked as the Wall-street explosion."

SWANN'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

Dist.-Atty. Swann announced he had invited every person mentioned in the newspaper story to be at his office tomorrow. He added that if they had any information likely to result in indictment of guilty parties, he would immediately place it before the September regular grand jury.

Zaranko, who has appeared as a witness in the "building trust" investigation, today denounced the newspaper story.

The story stressed a charge that efforts had been made by unnamed persons to prevent evidence relating to the catastrophe from coming to light.

DRIVER HAS DISAPPEARED.

It was brought out that a man who was alleged to have claimed ownership of the horse which drew the death wagon immediately after the blast and who spoke of the "boss" who had directed him to drive the conveyance to Wall and Broad streets, had disappeared. One of the men to whom he told his story and who persisted in repeating it, was the victim of an attempted assassination within a month, according to the story, despite the fact that he had "gone dumb."

This man, at whom three shots

TRIBUTE TO HARDING.

Texas and Mexico Join in Honors.

Thousands Greet President-Elect at Armistice Day Celebration.

Senator Lays Stress on Unity of People Wrought by Great War.

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) Nov. 11.—Facing a border crowd in which were many citizens of Mexico and several officials of the Mexican government, President-elect Harding proposed here today a foreign policy directed toward peace and friendship but demanding always full protection of American nationality and American citizens wherever they may go.

The address, his first prepared utterance since his election to the Presidency, was delivered from a stand on the Fort Brown parade grounds, within a few hundred yards of the international boundary. The cavalry sabers of the Fort Brown garrison rattled about him, but in a place of honor on his right was also a part of the Mexican garrison of Matamoros, paying a visit of compliment and courtesy to the next American President.

In his address, devoted jointly to the significance of the Armistice Day anniversary and to the country's foreign relations, he did not mention Mexico by name nor did he refer directly to the League of Nations.

CRAVE FRATERNITY.

"We crave fraternity," he said, "we wish amicable relations, everywhere we offer peace and choose to promote it, but we demand our freedom and our own America. I believe in America eminent on the seas, respected in every avenue of trade, will be safer at home and of greater influence throughout the world. I like to think of an America whose citizens are ever seeking the greater development and enlarged resources and widened influence of the republic, and I like to think of a government which protects its citizens wherever they go on a lawful mission, anywhere under the shining sun."

Senator Harding also suggested that the nation learn a lesson of preparedness from the experience of the World War and spoke a word for waterway development. He praised the efforts of Texas citizens toward the development of adequate port facilities at the mouth of the Rio Grande, declaring his vacation visit to Point Isabel had brought a new realization of the economic possibilities of the State.

DOUBLE PURPOSE.

Although primarily an Armistice Day celebration, the program of addresses and the parade which preceded it were also planned as a welcome to the President-elect and as a boost for the Rio Grande deep waterways movement. The crowd came by thousands from many of the Rio Grande Valley cities and from across

RACE ANIMOSITY BLAMED.

Japs Resent Passage of California Law; Hurts National Pride.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOKIO, Nov. 11.—Viscount Kato, the leader of the Kenseikai, or opposition party, and former Ambassador to England, believes that an extended diplomatic effort alone can solve the California situation.

In an emphatic statement he declares that the California land law is based on race animosity. He has little faith that any conclusions that might be reached at the Washington conference can bring about an agreement on the California antialien law's unconstitutionality. Therefore, he believes that the law will stand as a continuous affront to the dignity of the Japanese nation.

It is significant that all the statesmen interviewed during the last few days are intensely impressed with the view that the California law means racial discrimination. There may be economic and political question involved, but there is no doubt that the uppermost consideration of Japanese minds is that a blow has been struck at her pride and there is probably no other nation in the world that has greater national pride and cohesion.

MAKES JAPS RESENTFUL.

OREGON INTENDS TO KILL ELKS.

Band of Fifty, Responsible for Much Damage, to be Executed by State.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 11. An elk execution will take place some time this week or next in Southern Oregon, according to the State Game Commission.

A. E. Burghduff, State Game Warden, has gone to Klamath Falls to plan the execution of the animals, about fifty in number which have been doing a great deal of property damage in that section.

The band originated from a small number of elks on the Billy Meadows preserve in Eastern Oregon and has rapidly increased.

GREAT FLEET ONLY WAY TO HALT JAPAN.

Congressman Dyer Says War Inevitable Unless We Control Pacific.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.—War with Japan is inevitable, declared Congressman Dyer in an Armistice Day spech here today, unless the United States builds and maintains a navy capable of protecting the Pacific Ocean.

Congressman Dyer recently returned from an extended trip to the Orient. He said the Japanese navy far excelled the Pacific Fleet in ships.

"Japan is ambitious to odminate the Orient for its interests are all there," the speaker declared. "Japan is jealous of the United States and the prominent part it has played in the Far East.

"Japan has annexed Korea against the wishes of the Koreans. Japan is encroaching upon China against the wishes of the Chinese.

"Unless the United States deals firmly with the situation as it exists and builds and maintains a navy in the Pacific surpassed by none, we are sure of a conflict with Japan.

"We are in duty bound to protect the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines. The American people would not submit to Japan taking either group."

The Congressman insisted the United States is being cut off rapidly from communication with the Philippines and the entire Far East "by gigantic fortifications now being erected on the Caroline, Ladrone and Marshall Islands, formerly owned by Germany, but awarded to Japan by the Peace Conference."

He declared that Yap Island, also awarded to Japan, was "the keyboard of American trade in the Pacific."

TOMMY LIES WITH KINGS

Britain in Solemn Tribute.

George V Walks Behind Coffin of Unknown Soldier in Impressive Ceremony.

France Pays Like Honor to Poilu as Hundred Guns Fire Salute.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—In historical Whitehall tonight Great Britain's newly unveiled monument to her "glorious dead" stood half buried beneath hundreds of flower tokens of the nation's sorrowing appreciation of the sacrifices.

A few hundred yards away, in Westminster Abbey, amid the tombs of the realm's great men, rested the body of the empire's "newest immortal" — an unknown comrade of those whose deeds the cenotaph memorializes.

Every part of the empire, all classes of its citizens, from the King to bereaved relatives of the humblest private, participated in the impressive unveiling ceremonies and the subsequent burial rites in the Abbey.

During the ceremony Whitehall and the streets adjacent to the Abbey were jammed with people, most of whose faces mutely told the tale of lost loved ones. The two minutes' silence which fell over this old concourse as "Big Ben" thundered the hour of eleven seemed to vibrate with the repressed emotions.

It was a silence broken only by the hysterical shriek of a woman who collapsed from the intensity of its spell. On the tenth stroke of the great gong, the King pulled the cord unveiling the imposing monument and with the others stood uncovered and with bowed head. Then, after his wreath and those of the Prince of Wales and the official colony representatives had been deposited at the base of the cenotaph, the field-marshal pall bearers, with their hallowed burden, moved off to the Abbey, the King following the flag-draped coffin.

At the conclusion of the services in the Abbey the sound of muffled drums rumbled through the ancient edifice; bugles sounded, and the King and members of the royal party filed out slowly.

Throughout the afternoon great lines extended from the cenotaph through the length of Whitehall, across Trafalgar Square, waiting to await the accumulation of flowers about the monument.

Never before has London witnessed such vast and patient crowds. At a late hour tonight they were still silently filing by the cenotaph, many depositing wreaths, and through the Abbey past the grave of the unknown soldier. The Abbey was to be kept open until midnight if necessary for all desiring to enter.

During the brief services in the nave of the abbey, the King stood at the foot of the grave, the royal ladies and princes ranging themselves on either side. Of all the witnesses that packed Whitehall or crowded the abbey, a little band of approximately 100 women in the abbey received the most reverent attention. They had been selected for the seats of honor because each had lost her husband and all her sons.

Every woman in England so bereft who applied for a place, got it, but less than half the other applicants for seats were successful, owing to the lack of space.

THE NEXT IN HONOR.

After the 100 had been seated, the next to be considered were those mothers who lost their only sons, or all their sons, and then came women who lost their husbands only. They were given positions in accordance with the price they had paid during the war. A girl who wrote she had lost nine brothers killed or missing, was given a ticket, as also was a 12-year-old boy who wrote: "The man in the coffin might be my daddy." In all, 8000 tickets were issued.

The body of the unknown soldier arrived here last night, after it had been honored by Marshal Foch and other military officials in France from the time it was exhumed until it was put aboard an English destroyer. It was brought to London from Dover in the same railway car used to transport the bodies of Edith Cavelle, the nurse who was executed by the Germans, and Capt. Charles Fryatt, the British captain of a British merchant steamer who also met death before a German firing squad.

It lay last night in a room especially set apart and fitted for it in Victoria Station, and a guard of honor remained there until morning.

GUARD OF HONOR.

The guard which escorted the body through the crowded and silent streets from the station to Whitehall, was composed of 100 men of all services who won the Victoria Cross. The pallbearers were field marshals

SALES OF MALT AND HOPS PROHIBITED TO ALL EXCEPT BAKERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Home brewing was brought actively under the prohibition ban today when it was learned that enforcement officials had ruled against the sale of hops and malt to others than bakers and confectioners. Great secrecy surrounded the prohibition bureau's action, but it was definitely ascertained that such instructions had been issued. Details of the order were lacking. The only admission made by prohibition officials in the absence of Commissioner Kramer was that the Volstead Act had been construed to mean that the sale of malt and hops as component part of home-made beer were without the pale of the law and their sale must stop. Enforcement officials throughout the country have been notified of the government's determination but they have not been supplied with the technical language of the decision.

CONSTRUCTION OF LAW.

The construction of the law which resulted in the new orders was made nearly two months ago. At that time officials having it in charge started a document through the regular procedure from which it emerges as a treasury decision. But it has not yet been approved by Secretary Houston. Further than to admit existence the proposed treasury ruling officials declined to discuss it.

Emphatic denial was made to the report that the bureau had considered or had included in the order other articles used in home brewing. Officials likewise denied that provision was to be made for the licensing of even the bakers and confectioners.

There were persistent rumors at both the prohibition and internal revenue headquarters that scores of complaints had come from the manufacturers of cereal beverages containing less than ½ of 1 per cent of alcohol against the tremendous growth of brewing as a home industry. On this phase of the situation officials also refused comment.

DECREASE IN STATES.

It was understood, however, that the beverage manufacturers' complaint had been based on a steady but rapid decrease in their sales which they charged to the growth of home brewing. They were understood to have protested to the Internal Revenue Bureau that enforcement agents were enforcing the alcoholic restrictions on them, while the home brewer, with the aid of hops and malt

ACTION OF PRINTERS IS FUTILE.

National Grange Resents Holdup in Effort to Force Demands.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The appearance at the annual sessions of the National Grange today of its monthly magazine with two pages blank was explained at a meeting of the board of managers by the editor, Charles M. Gardner, former master of the Massachusetts Grange, as due to a strike of printers for more pay.

The editor said the type for these two pages had been set, but not locked, before the strike started and that when he and his foreman locked up the pages the stereotypers refused to handle them. The board of managers today voted to print the full circulation of 60,000 copies with the blank pages.

The National Grange went on record in resolutions as approving the action of the board of managers and commending them for refusing to permit the necessities of the national grange being made use of in an attempt by labor leaders to compel a forced settlement and acceptance of their demands.

BANK TELLER CONFESSES.

Youth Believed Locked in Vault Was Robber; Gives Self Up.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OTTAWA (Ill.) Nov. 11.—Admission that "he engineered the whole thing himself" was made tonight, according to county officials, by Francis J. Carey, 21-year-old teller of the National City Bank of Ottawa, who gave himself up today following robbery of the bank. Most of the $45,000 taken has been recovered. Carey disappeared after the robbery and it was at first thought he had been locked in the vault.

Carey was found at the farmhouse of Mat Corwin, four miles south of Utica, Ill., into which he staggered late today footsore and weary. Following a telephone call to President Charles P. Taylor of the bank, in which Carey said he would await the arrival of Sheriff C. S. Ayer, he was brought back to Ottawa and made his reported confession.

SHERIFF'S STATEMENT.

In the presence of his mother, Mrs. Mary Carey, Sheriff Ayer announced that Carey made this statement:

"I did the whole job. I engineered the whole thing myself. I cannot explain the presence of any one in the alley. When I went home to supper last night I stuffed $500 in bills in my pocket. At home I hid it under the mattress. After supper I went back to get the rest of the money. When I left the bank I ran out for the road. I walked for miles and miles in the dark."

Carey denied, the Sheriff said, knowledge of the disappearance of $4000 of the loot. He had $2 in his pocket. Authorities said a charge of burglarly would be placed against Carey tomorrow.

FIND $40,000 OF LOOT.

Sheriff Ayer said that a shoe box containing $40,000 which was found following the discovery of the robbery apparently had slipped from the young man's hand while he was going over the roof of the bank on which he had climbed to enter the building. The $500 was found tonight under a mattress at Carey's home.

It was at first thought that Carey had been locked in the vault by robbers and last night strenuous efforts were made to open the vault door. Finally, with the aid of two local garage employees who melted off the door with torches, entrance was gained to the enclosure, to find it empty.

Carey was reported also to have said that he "had nothing against the officers of the bank," adding, "but some of the other employees did not treat me right and I thought I might get away with it."

Irish Home Rule Bill Passes Commons After Mild Debate.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BELFAST, Nov. 11.—A party of shipyard workers with the Union Jack at their head, returning to work from an Armistice Day celebration at the City Hall, were attacked by a crowd of Nationalists from the North Queens-street area. Prompt police intervention quelled the disturbance, but not before one girl had been shot in the hand and another injured in the head by a stone.

HOME RULE BILL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Irish home rule bill passed the House of Commons on its third reading tonight, after a motion for rejection of the measure proposed by William C. Adamson, the opposition leader, had been defeated by 183 to 52.

The measure passed without any noteworthy incident in a rather tame debate. The Liberal and Labor members who have boycotted it through most of its stages as a sign of their conviction of its hopelessness as a settlement of the Irish problem were again absent today. The final stage was reached in a small and rather listless gathering of members of the House.

BEGIN INVESTIGATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The British Embassy today delivered to the State Department a copy of the message recently received by the British Chief Secretary for Ireland, dated New York, and signed J. V. O'Connor, threatening reprisals against Englishmen living in this country, if there are more reprisals in Ireland on and after the fourteenth of November.

State Department officers would not discuss the matter, but it is understood it has started an investigation.

The State Department made inquiry today of the British government as to whether any Americans have been injured in the disturbances in Ireland. Press dispatches reported recently that an American had been wounded and it was assumed that action of the department was based on that report. The form of the inquiry was not disclosed.

HARDING WILL NAME JUSTICES.

President-Elect Likely Will Appoint Quartet.

Known Conservative Policy to be Followed.

Tennessee May be Honored by Cabinet Post.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Survey of the judiciary and other appointments, which Mr. Harding will be called upon to make as President, reveals the far-reaching influence he will exert upon the development of the nation in the next decade or two, even if he should serve but one term in the White House.

As Senator Harding is a conservative it may be expected that this influence will be as much in the direction of conservatism as President Wilson's influence has been in the direction of radicalism. Moreover, the overwhelming victory of the Harding ticket is interpreted without doubt by the President-elect as an indisputable popular indorsement of a return to a more conservative policy.

The Supreme Court will remain conservative, but it is probably destined to undergo a marked change of personnel under the Harding administration. It is not unlikely that Mr. Harding will appoint more Justices to the Supreme tribunal in four years than has Mr. Wilson in eight years.

FOUR JUDGES MAY RETIRE.

There are four members of the court who are eligible to retirement: Chief Justice White, 75 years old, and Associate Justices McKenna, 77; Holmes, 79, and Day, 71. Although a Federal judge is eligible to retirement on full pay at the age of 70 and the completion of ten years' service, these four members have elected to remain at their posts.

It has been surmised that the desire to deprive President Wilson of the opportunity to appoint radical members of the court may have been one of the considerations actuating these justices in declining to take advantage of voluntary retirement. Rumor has had it that as Justices McKenna, Holmes and Day, who are conservative Republicans, and Chief Justice White, who is a conservative Democrat, have viewed with misgivings the radical tendencies of President Wilson will not quit. Their refusal to quit the bench has led to proposals of legislation making retirement compulsory.

President Wilson has appointed three Justices: McReynolds, Brandeis and Clarke. An analysis of their attitude in decisions of the court recently was published to prove that they are not so radical as they have been painted. Justice Brandeis is said to have contemplated resigning, but to have been deterred by the President.

Speculation on successors to those who may retire revolves around the names of former President Taft and Charles Evans Hughes. Mr. Taft once was a Federal Circuit Court judge, and sacrificed an opportunity to go upon the Supreme bench under Roosevelt to the opportunity to become President. Mr. Hughes resigned from the Supreme Court in 1916 to run for President. Mr. Taft is 63 years old; Mr. Hughes 58.

Speculation in some quarters evolves a vision of poetic justice, in which Mr. Taft, realizing a lifelong ambition, becomes chief justice through the retirement of Mr. White, whom Mr. Taft, as President, promoted to chief justice.

Already there are a number of vacancies and prospective vacancies in the lower Federal courts which Mr. Harding will fill. It is expected that the Senate will withhold confirmation of Wilson appointees to such vacancies in order to save them for Harding appointees.

HONOR FOR TENNESSEE.

Republican politicians here consider it a foregone conclusion that Mr. Harding will invite a southern Republican into his Cabinet, and that the place doubtless will go to Tennessee in recognition and encouragement of that State's desertion of Democracy's solid South. A likely choice is former Senator Newell Sanders, who not only has led, but largely financed, the Republican party in Tennessee for years.

Kentucky, which almost went Republican, and did elect a Republican Senator, is likely to be recognized with the elevation of Republican National Committeeman A. T. Hert to an important post.

Dean Curtis of the Iowa College of Agriculture at Ames is widely favored by agricultural organizations for Secretary of Agriculture. Clarence Miller, secretary of the Republican National Committee, may be Governor-General of the Philippines. He specialized on Philippine questions while in Congress.

Money Markets of South America Are in Bad Shape

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. — Cables from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uuruguay and Peru, reporting serious financial conditions in those countries because of unfavorable trade balances with the United States were confirmed today by advices received here by various banking interests and commercial houses with South American connections.

These trade conditions, it was stated, apply with equal force to Cuba and most of the Central American countries, where adverse trade balances have for some weeks reduced actual business almost entirely to a cash basis.

"For all practical purposes," said the representative of a New York bank with extensive South American connections, "the foreign exchange market between this country and most points south of the Rio Grande has ceased to function."

They Build Homes

The Los Angeles Building and Contracting Co., makes a specialty of building homes. They have a large amount of construction work under way at all times, although organized but a year ago.

Two ex-service men compose this building company—Wm. Y. Eaves, who saw service in the artillery, and H. F. Hodges in the Department of Aviation.

To enable them to efficiently handle their rapidly growing business, Messrs. Eaves and Hodges occupy a suite of rooms in the Marsh-Strong Building. For their office equipment they selected Weber Standardized furniture as most suited to their needs. May we suggest that unfailing "Weber Service" played a not unimportant part in influencing their decision?

You, too, would doubtless appreciate both Weber furniture and Weber service.

LAY BOMB PLOT TO UNIONITES.

were fired one night in October, the story declared, was Raymond Clark, chief foreman of a gang of housewreckers who were tearing down the Stock Exchange annex. Clark, it continues, is a "Brindell lieutenant," though employed by a firm of building contractors.

BUSINESS MEN TOLD.

"Within the present week," the story continued, "the Evening World has found two business men of high standing to whom Clark told it the afternoon of the explosion and to whom he mentioned it again when explaining to them the attempt to assassinate him three weeks ago. And so certain are these two men of the justification for Clark's frightened silence that they would not talk to the investigator at all until they had a promise guaranteed by higher authority than that of the reporter that their names would not be published."

It told of the shooting of Clark by three gangsters the night of October 17, his life being saved by his watch deflecting one of the three bullets fired.

The newspaper, in setting forth its theory, asserted members of the regular union had been kicked off every building job in New York; that they were half starved by months of idleness; that unknown to its driver, a wagon containing a time bomb was sent to the Stock Exchange annex by "frenzied workmen or sympathizers" to "get" Brindell workers alleged to have been engaged on the job by the wrecking firm of Albert A. Volk; that the wagon became tied up and could not get near the building; and that when the driver went to telephone the bomb exploded.

The paper charged that Raymond Clark, a foreman on the job, who was reported to have said he had seen the driver, was shot within three weeks, in an attempt to silence him forever.

William Zaranko, president of the housewreckers' union, the labor union mentioned in the newspaper article, this afternoon, indignantly denied that his organization or any of its members had anything to do with the explosion.

HYLAN ON STAND.

Under severe questioning by the committee's counsel, Mayor John F. Hylan, on the witness stand before the joint legislative committee investigating the "building trust" today admitted that he had been made a victim of John T. Hettrick's "labor-union game in the interests of the limestone ring."

Hotly resenting any imputations that any "personal interest" had caused him to submit to the requests of Hettrick, alleged promoter of the contractors' clearing house for bidding, Mayor Hylan said he had been "fooled" into sending suggestions made by Hettrick to the building committee of the Board of Education that resulted in contracts involving $15,000,000 worth of work going to stone contractors instead of terra cotta interests.

These suggestions contained in a letter to the Board of Education "explaining" the advantages of limestone over terra cotta, Mayor Hylan said, were based solely upon information contained in a memorandum drafted for him by Hettrick, whom he said he did not know. This letter Mr. Untermyer branded as "pure fabrication and a pack of lies."

While the Mayor was on the stand he was continually in a clash with Samuel Untermyer of the committee's counsel.

DOUBT WORLD THEORY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Federal agents have developed no evidence, Department of Justice officials said tonight, as to the Wall-street bomb explosion, tending to substantiate the solution of the mystery published today by the New York Evening World and linking the explosion with the "building trust graft" under investigation in that city.

Robert T. Scott, assistant to the Attorney-General, said that agents of the department working on the explosion had not found thus far any tangible clue having any bearing in the direction suggested by the newspaper.

dress with a tribute to Leon Gambetta, the famous French patriot.

After the President's oration the procession took up the march to the Arc de Triomphe. President Millerand walked bareheaded with Marshals Foch, Joffre and Petain in full regalia, following behind a battered .155 gun of the model of 1915 bearing the body of the unknown soldier.

MUTILATED SOLDIERS.

Mutilated soldiers, painfully drawing their wounded bodies, but with faces radiant with pride opened the procession. "We captured Givenchy," one soldier minus a leg said. "I would go through it again if necessary."

Old poilus of the Marne battle of 1914, wearing red trousers and kepis, received subdued applause, while flowers were thrown from windows on the car bearing the heart of Gambetta.

The procession reched the Arc de Triomphe shortly after noon. The body of the poilu and urn containing the heart of Gambetta were placed in the Chapelle Ardente, and the procession broke up. The crowds were permitted to file past the coffin for one last look at the soldier draped in the tri-color flag above which the inscription "Thou Shalt Not Pass" to achieve which this, as well as a million and a half other Frenchmen, gave up their lives.

This afternoon a group of little girls in the name of the French government, decorated the graves of American soldiers, in Suresnes cemetery, in the presence of Ambassador Wallace, American Legion and French officials, and numerous Americans.

WALLACE SPEAKS.

In his address, Ambassador Wallace said:

"I wish to thank these children for coming here today to place flowers on our soldiers' graves. I wish to thank them not only for myself and in the name of my government, but I venture to express to them the gratitude of every American mother whose son lies buried in France and also of every American child, whose father fell on a French battlefield.

"The people of France never forget our dead when mourning their own and today they give us another proof of that sympathy which unites us, whether in joy or sorrow, whether in adversity or the full tide of success."

WAR HEROISM IS REWARDED.

Medals Awarded to Sailors and Marines for Valor.

More Than 2500 Decorations and Letters Presented.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—While officers and men of the Navy and Marine Corps throughout the world were receiving today decorations won by distinguished wartime service, Secretary Daniels personally presented similar rewards to officers now on duty at the Navy Department.

Mr. Daniels pinned the Distinguished Service Medal on the tunics of the following officers:

Admiral Robert E. Coontz, chief of naval operations.

Rear-Admirals Thomas Washington, Charles B. McVay, Robert Griffin, Charles J. Badger, W. C. Braistead, Samuel McGowan, David W. Taylor, Charles W. Parks and Commander P. W. Foote, personal aide to Secretary Daniels.

After the ceremonies in Mr. Daniels's office, the chiefs of the bureaus presented medals or other commendations to their subordinates. In all, 153 medals were presented at the Navy Department.

CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL.

At Washington navy yard seven medals were presented, one of them being the only Congressional Medal of Honor awarded in Washington today. It went to Lieut.-Commander E. V. M. Isaacs.

In all, more than 2500 decorations and letters of commendation were presented today to Navy and Marine Corps members, including thirteen Medals of Honor, eight of which went to naval officers, three to navy enlisted men, one to a marine officer and one to an enlisted marine. Those to receive this highest award for valor were:

Lieut. J. T. Boone, Medical Corps, Navy, "for extraordinary heroism" in treating wounded in France. Although the dressing station was twice wrecked by shells, the citation said, the officer "continued without cessation his treatment of the wounded."

Ensign Charles H. Hamman, Naval Reserve, who piloted a seaplane in a patrol which dropped propaganda on Pola, and when a comrade was shot down, landed on the water and rescued the pilot of the wrecked plane.

John Henry Balch, pharmacist's mate, Navy, who fearlessly aided wounded under fire at Vierzy as they fell in the attack, voluntarily keeping up the work "for sixteen hours on a field torn by shell and machine-gun fire."

KILLED DOING DUTY.

O. K. Ingram, gunner's mate, Navy, of the torpedoed destroyer Cassin, who was killed while trying to release the depth charges before the torpedo could reach the ship.

David E. Hayden, hospital apprentice, Navy, who at Thiaucourt braved an open field swept by machine-gun fire to dress the wounds of a fallen comrade and then brought the wounded man back to safety.

Lieut.-Command E. V. M. Isaacs, Navy, captured by the German submarine which sunk the transport President Lincoln and while confined in a prison camp obtained information so important that he determined to escape and jumped through the window of a rapidly moving train. Recaptured, he made a second and successful attempt, "deliberately drawing the fire of the armed guards in the hope of permitting others to escape during the confusion," and finally swam the River Rhine during the night.

A. G. Lyle, dental surgeon, Navy, who administered "such effective surgical aid" under fire during a bombardment as to save the life of a wounded soldier.

Lieut. Orlando H. Petty, Medical Corps, R. F., who was knocked to the ground by a gas shell, which tore his mask at the Belleau Wood fight, "but discarded the mask and courageously continued his work" of caring for the wounded.

Robert G Robinson, gunnery sergeant, Marine Corps, an observer in the marine aviation force, whose plane and one other bacame separated from their formation during a raid, and were attacked by twelve enemy scouts. In the fighting, which ensued, he fought off the enemy until he collapsed from three bullet wounds.

SAVES SHIP AND CREW.

Ensign Daniel A. J. Sullivan, R. F., who flung himself on loose depth bombs on the deck of the U.S.S. Christobe, during a fight with a submarine, and succeeded in securing them, "saving the ship from disaster."

Lieut. Ralph Talbot, Marine Corps, Robinson's companion in the air battle, and, who after the observer's collapse, shot down the nearest enemy scout, "and then with his observer unconscious and his motor failing," dived back across the German lines at an altitude of only fifty feet, took his comrade to a hospital and then returned alone to his aerodrome."

Letters of appreciation also were forwarded to 261 officers, who served in the naval overseas transportation system, "for assisting in making possible, the worthy achievements of the Navy in the war."

The lists of awards did not differ from that announced by Secretary Daniels last winter, prior to the investigation by the Senate, except that 491 were added to receive medals. In no case, was a revision made downward.

The Distinguish Service Medal awarded Rear-Admiral Sims, and the Navy crosses awarded Rear-Admiral Decker and Capt. Hasbrouck, which were declined by the officers, were deposited in the Bureau of Navigation at the Navy Department, awaiting the action of those officers.

the border and there were in the day's events many elements to emphasize both national unity and international friendship.

In the parade, which included an elaborate pageant representing historical epochs and demonstrating productive possibilities of the valley, Mexican Consul Vasquez of Brownsville and American Consul Wilson of Matamoros rode together, each carrying the flag of his nation. Many other Mexican flags were in the procession and the military band of the Matamoros garrison had a place just behind the Fourth Cavalry squadron which acted as the President-elect's escort.

Gen. Lopez, Military Governor of the Matamoros district, was one of those who sat on the speaker's stand. By special request of the President-elect the Matamoros military band, stationed near him, played "Mexico Alegre" just before he began speaking.

HARDING'S ADDRESS.

The text of President-elect Harding's address follows in part:

"November the eleventh has an abiding significance to America and the world. For America, it sealed our capacity to defend our national rights and stamped our effectiveness in aiding to preserve the established order of world civilization; for the world it marked a new order for humanity, and for all time it warns ambition and madness for power that one man's or one people's domination of the world was never designed by God and will never be tolerated by mankind.

"The day is especially interesting to our own country, because without American participation it might have been a later and different date if indeed there had been an armistice day at all. We do not claim to have won the war, but we helped mightily and recorded undying glory to American arms and gave the world a new understanding of the American spirit and a new measure of American resources.

SELFISHNESS NOT TRAIT.

"Whatever the world may have thought of us before, however, incorrectly we may have been appraised, the world has come to know that selfishness is not a trait of our national character, that commercialism does not engross us, that neutrality was conceived in fairness—not in fear—and that when our national rights are threatened and our nationals are sacrificed, America is resolved to defend and ever will. More, we gave to humanity an example of unselfishness which it only half appraised before misunderstandings led to confusion.

"We helped to win the war, unaided and unmortgaged. We fought with the Allied powers, but we were only an associated power, and were never committed, if fully aware of them, to the compacts of the alliance.

"History will record it correctly, no matter how much beautiful sentiment has beclouded our purposes in the World War. We did not fight to make the world safe for democracy, though we were its best exemplars. Nor did we fight for humanity's sake; no matter whom such a cause impelled.

"Democracy was threatened and humanity was dying long before American indignation called for the republic's defense. But we fought for the one supreme cause which inspires men to offer all for country and the flag. We fought as becomes a free America, and dropped the hatred and stifled greed when the victory for defense was won.

FREE AND AMPLE AMERICA.

"We proved anew that here is free and ample America, which does not ask but freely gives. We were American in name before the World War made us American in fact; not a collection of peoples but one people, with one purpose, one confidence, one pride, one aspiration and one flag.

"We learned a lesson, too, of transcending importance. Righteousness and unfailing justice are not in themselves a guaranty of national security. We must ever be strong in peace, foremost in industry, eminent in agriculture, ample in transportation.

"Better transportation on land and an adequate merchant marine would have speeded our participation and shortened the conflict. I believe an America eminent on the high seas, respected in every avenue of trade, will be safer at home and greater in influence throughout the world.

"I like to think of an America whose citizens are ever seeking the greater development and enlarged resources and widened influence of the republic and I like to think of a government, which protects its citizens wherever they go on a lawful mission anywhere under the shining sun.

KINDLY GREETING.

"All the way from my home in Ohio to the furthermost port on the gulf, I have seen among the people who came to give us kindly greetings scores of stalwart, virile young Americans who served their country so gallantly and effectively at home and overseas.

"One must have cause for renewed pride in the character of these men, in their readiness and capacity to serve, in the calm certitude of their manhood, in their new baptism of Americanism. These soldiers of the republic, like their fathers, believe in an America of civil and human and religious liberty; they believe in an America of American ideals. They believe in America first, for it is in America that their hopes and inspirations center.

"We are only in the morn of national life. Who dares to prophesy, in quaffing the cup of optimism, what the future has in store? We have only to go on, independent and free, untrammeled and unmortgaged, to write the supreme fulfillment. We choose no aloofness, we shirk no obligation, we forsake no friends. But we built in nationality and we do not mean to surrender it!"

FORGET STRIKE FOR HARDING.

Painters Forget Trouble to Make Ship He is to Travel on Spic and Span.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. — When striking ship painters learned that President-elect Harding would return from Panama to the United States on the United Fruit Company steamer Pastores, they volunteered to help make the ship spick and span for him. Today they were busily engaged in renovating her white coat. The painters had been on strike for more than a month.

JAPS BLAME RACE HATRED.

brought out in conversations with Japanese statesmen, although they refuse to be quoted, is that certainly the passage of this law will make the Japanese more resentful of American interference of initiative in Far Eastern affairs.

The Japanese contend that if the United States discriminates against them by barring their immigration to the United States, it would be rather crowding matters to continue to follow that policy and pursue them in the East, by telling them that the Japanese cannot go into Manchuria, Korea, Siberia and China.

These statesmen admit that the United States is entitled to its sovereign right to restrict immigration, but they hold that it should apply it to all nations equally.

READJUSTMENT OF POWERS.

It has been pointed out that a readjustment of the powers will find Japan either allied with Germany and Russia or with England and the United States, and the Japanese say the American attitude will determine their action. Therefore, Nippon is closely watching the Shidehara-Colby negotiations.

"I have heard the proposal that the gentlemen's agreement should be made the basis of a new treaty," Viscount Kato says. "This would mean the Japanese admission that it would be inadvisable to allow immigration to the United States because of inability to conform with the new ideas and customs.

"I believe that the California law violates the Japanese-American treaty.

BARRED BY VIRTUES.

"The Japanese are accused of being thrifty and industrious, so California would bar them for their virtues.

"Japan opened her ports to the world under some show of forceful argument by Commodore Perry, doing so against its will because Perry, backed by four armed ships, said the Japanese owed it to the world to assume international obligations. We obeyed the preachings of your people, and now we are barred in California. I do not know how to characterize our position except that it is a curious irony. My main hope is that the majority of the American people may see California's mistake and co-operate with Japan for the adjustment of the difficulty."

THE American of today realizes the profit value of overseas commerce under the American flag.

and admirals, including Douglas Haig, Earl Beatty, Admiral of the Grand Fleet, and Maj.-Gen. Sir Hugh Trenchard, commander of British air forces.

As the procession started from the station, a battery in Hyde Park fired a field marshal's salute of nineteen guns, and just as the coffin was lowered into the grave, another battery fired the same salute.

The grave was filled with soil brought from the grave from which the body was exhumed in France, and was covered by what is known as the "padre's flag," one of the most famous flags figuring in the recent war. A chaplain used that flag scores of times at funerals on the field.

POLICE PRECAUTIONS.

Not in recent years has London seen such detailed police precautions. Extra strong barricades had been constructed at every approach to Whitehall and the abbey, and every man that could be spared was on duty, or was held in reserve near Whitehall.

John W. Davis, the American Ambassador, after the ceremonies in Westminister Abbey, placed a wreath on the grave of the unknown soldier. It bore the words "America will not forget."

Davis was accompanied by Canon Carnegie of Westminister.

The Angelus Artrio —Most Wonderful of Reproducing Pianos

Fancy a home in which dwells constantly such world-famous pianists as Leopold Godowsky, Tina Lerner, Yolanda Mero, Ossip Gabrilowitsch, Harold Bauer and a dozen others. Picture to yourself the joy, the privilege of hearing at your own sweet will, the works of the world's greatest composers, played by these artists with all the rare beauty and poetry of interpretation that has made them world famous, with all the magic grace and fluency of technique that has made you gasp with astonished delight.

Fancy, also, the happiness of hearing at will the melodies that you have ever loved, those soulful, touching harmonies of your favorite opera, the ballads of your youth or the splendid tuneful beauty of a magnificent Strauss concert waltz rendered as is possible only to the divinely gifted few.

All this and more the Angelus brings. The Angelus is different. Different in the truthfulness with which it records the playing of the greatest artists, different in the fidelity with which it reproduces his renditions. It is different in the gentle deftness of its touch in softer passages, in the gradual rise of its crescendos, in the sudden crashing force of its fortissimos and it is vastly different in the charm and beauty of its colorful effects.

You should hear the Angelus. Hear it if only to know to your own complete satisfaction that the world's greatest pianists dwell at your very elbow, to be heard, to be enjoyed at your pleasure. A most cordial welcome awaits you.

Officials anticipated that the ruling on malt and hops sales would bring on a wave of litigation.

Their claim, however, that their decision had been preceded by a careful study and said they were prepared to meet the attack.

Sections of the act specifically prohibiting the sale of integral parts of beer as well as the formal advertising of recipes for its manufacture were cited as one of the foundations of the ruling. The point which they expect to be tested in court was whether the food value of the two articles banned would, in the eyes of a court, permit their continued sale as such despite their use as a basis for beverage making.

SHIPWRECK SURVIVOR TELLS OF EXPERIENCE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MANILA (P. I.) Nov. 10.—Sixty-four persons were thrown into the sea when a typhoon overturned the coastwise steamer, San Basilio, while the crew was attempting to drop anchor off the island of Leyte, South Philippines, according to the story today of Cencordia Eardo, one of the twenty survivors. Eardo, who arrived here on the steamer Samal, being picked up at sea after drifting two days, vividly described the typhoon wreck of November 4.

The sixty-four persons hurled into the sea when the ship turned over, struggled to reach lifeboats and wreckage strewn about them, according to Eardo.

"I swam to a lifeboat," he said, "but after reaching it was compelled to jump back into the sea when a man-eating shark attacked the boat. The shark devoured one of the men in the boat. I obtained a life preserver which kept me afloat until I collected enough wreckage to make a raft, upon which I drifted two days before the steamer Samal rescued me."

NEW FORESTY POLICY FOR HARDING URGED.

AMERICAN PULP AND PAPER ASSOCIATION REPORTS RECOMMEND CHANGES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—A new forestry policy for Senator Harding's administration was recommended today in reports read at the convention of the American Pulp and Paper Association, meeting here.

The Federal government is preparing to spend $50,000,000 on forestry in the next five years in addition to large amounts to be expended by individual States, it was said.

The reports urged acquisition by State and Federal governments of forest land and land for reforesting. Extension of Federal supervision of State and private forests and a single unified system of reforesting under Federal control were other measures advocated.

The pulp men also proposed that no State or Federal taxes be collected on forest land until cutting of the timber begins, and that the tax then be placed on the lumber.

OLD MURDER LEADS TO MAN'S CONVICTION.

LYNDON (Kan.) Nov. 11.—Rufe King, on trial charged with the murder of John Woody, who disappeared while in King's employ at Maple Hill in 1909, was convicted by a jury today of murder in the first degree. The trial lasted twenty-four days.

King was arrested more than a year ago in Colorado after bones had been dug up on the premises at Maple Hill, where he had conducted a livery stable. Two other charges of murder in connection with the finding of the bones are pending against him.

Austria and Bulgaria May Join the League.

Germany and Hungary to be Barred for Time.

Argentine Minister Points to Need of America.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENEVA, Nov. 11.—Lord Robert Cecil, one of the chief authors of the League of Nations covenant, who is coming to the Assembly of the League as a delegate from South Africa, will support the proposed immediate admission to the League of former enemy states, it is expected here. Italy, Switzerland, the Scandinavian states and some of the South American nations are understood to be favorable to such a plan.

France, Belgium, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia will resist the admission of Germany and Hungary, although they are not unfavorable to Austria and Bulgaria. There are indications in League circles that the drift toward admission of former enemy countries is strong and likely to reach the necessary two-thirds of the members.

PROBABLE ACTION.

At the first session it is probable the immediate admission of Austria and Bulgaria will be proposed and an effort made to have action in the case of Germany postponed to another meeting of the Assembly, probably in the spring.

Attention is being directed to the anomaly of admitting Germany while she still is technically at war with the United States. Czecho-Slovakia is stoutly opposed to the admission of Hungary, but it is understood she will not contest the admission of Austria and Bulgaria, who now appear nearly sure of election.

The meeting of the Assembly will be held in the hall of the Reformation Auditorium, seating 3000. It was erected in honor of John Calvin.

WANTS AMERICA IN.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Nov. 11.—One of the most important problems to come before the Assembly of the League of Nations at its coming meeting in Geneva will be that of finding some way of bringing the United States into the League, in the opinion of Honorio Pueyrredon, Argentine Minister of Foreign Affairs, as expressed here today.

M. Pueyrredon, who is a delegate to the Assembly, will leave for Geneva Friday night and will appear before the assembled delegates as soon as he can find an opportunity, he said, to point out to them that the participation of America in the league is fundamental to the very existence of that organization.

"I think it a great pity that the United States is not already an active participant in the League," M. Pueyrredon said. "While I do not say that the League should be abandoned because America has not joined it, I firmly believe that her entrance is vital if the League is to be a virile, functioning body for the prevention of wars.

"I am afraid that war has not been ended, but, on the contrary, has just begun and unless a strong league is brought into existence, the world will again see a struggle, more frightful than the one just finished."

AUSTRIA SEEKS ADMISSION.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

VIENNA, Nov. 10.—Austria after sounding the Entente powers with regard to her acceptability, has asked admission to the League of Nations, according to the newspapers here.

President Motta of the Swiss Federation, the articles state, asked Sir Eric Drummond, general secretary of the League, with regard to the question whether an application by Austria would be acceptable, and Sir Eric replied in the affirmative.

RADICALS OF DREADNAUGHT ARE BEATEN.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The girl employees in the offices of Sylvia Pankhurst's communistic paper, the Workers' Dreadnaught, in Fleet street, were thrashed and the offices upset today by an angry crowd. The leaders of the party that raided the offices alleged that during the two minutes of solemn silence in honor of the fallen dead, as provided for in the Armistice Day program, some of the women in the office were "singing, dancing and banging tin cans."

When the signal came at 11 o'clock for the silence throughout the city all traffic was halted and the great crowds stopped and stood respectfully at attention. It is claimed that amidst this tribute there came from the Workers' Dreadnaught offices a frightful racket and sounds of revelry.

The indignant crowd waited until the two minutes had passed. Then a mob of men and women, said to have been led by workmen, invaded the Dreadnaught offices. Papers were strewn about the place and the men stood aside while the women invaders gave the girls in the offices a sound trouncing. This continued until the police arrived.

One of the girl employees later said that the members of the publication's force who did not believe in the tribute of silence continued dusting the office and made some noise, but did not think it could be heard in the street.

START PLAN FOR REDLANDS PAGEANT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 11. — H. A. Cherrier, president of the Chamber of Commerce, started the plans for the 1921 Pageant of Redlands on their way today when he appointed the executive committee and called the members together for a meeting.

DISCOVERS CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR
Chicago Specialist Says Greatest Percentage of Baldness Due to Alopecia Pityrodes
Prof. John H. Austin, over 40 years a bacteriologist, hair and scalp specialist, who now has offices at Hamburger's, says this scalp disorder is often mistaken for common "dandruff."
Alopecia pityrodes starts with a scaling of the scalp, sometimes slight, commonly called "dandruff," sometimes abundant — producing thick, grayish-white, dry or greasy scales—which leads to falling of the hair. This stage lasts from two to seven years, as a rule. At first, when the hair starts to fall, it is hardly noticeable, but as this ailment, "Alopecia Pityrodes," becomes more deeply seated, and the microbacilli multiply, as they always do, the falling of the hair increases rapidly and in time the top of the head becomes entirely bald.
Prof. Austin has found that only the most powerful microscope can determine the exact trouble with which the hair and scalp are afflicted, and has proved that the use of mange cures, dandruff cures, hair tonics, vaseline and elixirs is like taking medicine without knowing what you are trying to cure.
FREE MICROSCOPIC EXAMINATION of the hair and scalp—both men and women invited. Private Offices, Second Floor, Hamburger's Hours 10 to 12 and 2 to 4.—[Advertisement.]

Are You Pretty Enough?
Of course not. Nobody is. But it is easy to improve your looks. Begin with your skin.
If you have freckles, get rid of them.
If you have a dark, muddy skin, bleach it.
If your skin is dry and rough, freshen it.
If you sunburn easily, prevent it.
If you detect fine lines, revitalize your skin, and do it NOW.
The best and cheapest way to do any of these things is to use FRECKLE-OFF. This cream is the result of years of study of one of the world's greatest skin specialists.
FRECKLE-OFF will make your freckles fade away. It will keep them away if applied under powder while out in sun, wind or sea.
FRECKLE-OFF will whiten any skin.
FRECKLE-OFF makes the skin soft and smooth.
FRECKLE-OFF prevents sunburn if used BEFORE going in sun, wind or sea.
FRECKLE-OFF keeps the skin YOUNG.
Don't take "something just as good." It doesn't exist.

HOOVER TO FEED EUROPE'S BABIES

Says He Will Devote Self to Raising Fund.

Will Collect $23,000,000 in This Country.

Declares America Must Aid Starving Children.

PALO ALTO, Nov. 11.—Announcement that he would complete raising the $23,000,000 fund for the starving and undernourished children of Europe, was made by Herbert C. Hoover, former Food Administrator, before he left his home here today for Washington.

He expected to arrive in time to attend a meeting of American engineering societies in Washington on November 16, to effect an organization for public service.

"I am going to devote myself to raising the $23,000,000 required to carry on child feeding work in Europe," Hoover said. "This will be my occupation and I shall be occupied with it until the $23,000,000 is raised.

ABLE TO CARRY ON.

"We have been able to carry on this work initially by the assistance of the American government and by contributions from various sources without appealing to the general public. There is now, however, no other means for continued support of these children except charity of the American people.

"The machinery for the work is now in existence in Europe. The people of these nations themselves are supplying food so far as they are able and paying the cost of maintaining distribution. But milk, fats, etc., without which these children cannot subsist to effective maturity, must come from America."

DEATH BY ACCIDENT, VERDICT OF CORONER.

JURY DECIDES TWIN FALL DENTIST, KILLED BY TRAIN, NOT A SUICIDE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 11.—That G. F. Baker, a dentist, formerly of Twin Falls, Idaho, but latterly of San Jose, came to his death accidentally Monday night when he attempted to board a Southern Pacific train, was the verdict of a Coroner's jury here last night. The stories of witnesses conflicted. Some said he deliberately leaped under the train. It was finally decided that he was brushed under the wheels by a closed vestibule trapdoor.

He had been visiting his brother-in-law, Dr. G. E. Parsons of Dixon. He stepped off the train at Fairfield, was left behind and apparently was trying to board a second section. He leaves a widow and two children at 2304 South First street, San Jose. The body is being shipped there.

COAL PROFITEERING INVESTIGATION ON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Arnim W. Riley, special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Palmer, today began an investigation of charges of profiteering in coal for New Yorkers.

Mr. Riley, agent of the government's "flying squadron" of profiteer hunters, said the inquiry would be conducted along the same lines as those employed against sugar hoarders.

SHIPPING BOARD IS DEFENDED.

port submitted was "substantially correct" only as to things which he knew and that his testimony showed there were isolated cases which had not come to his knowledge.

Much of the testimony tended to show that the Shipping Board was putting into effect checking systems which would alleviate most of the irregularities charged in the committee's report.

CORRECT ACCOUNTING.

"The board now has a force of 4000 working to bring its accounting up to date," the witness testified. He added that the board intended to perfect a system so that it could receive promptly a separate accounting of each ship and voyage. This action was taken by Admiral Benson shortly after he assumed the chairmanship.

The witness referred to an alleged abuse which had come to his attention recently in Havana, where ships recently from the United States put in large orders for supplies which they could and should have purchased at lower prices prior to sailing. The agent of the board at Havana refused to approve these requisitions. A new system whereby supplies for Shipping Board vessels will be purchased by the board at wholesale instead of retail prices was being prepared.

PRAISES WORK DONE.

The commander characterized the Shipping Board as a body of men who since its inception had accomplished a wonderful achievement. Organized in an emergency, when ships were needed at any cost, it had drawn to it skilled men who, when the war ended, went back to their regular vocations. From a comparatively few vessels a fleet of more than 1100 ships is now being operated. The men now in the board have to undo the abuses which were created under the time of emergency.

Details of the activities of the board, which have come to his personal attention, were touched upon. He said that since its organization it had expended between $3,500,000,000 and $4,000,000,000. He stated it was to be expected that disposal of shipyards, surplus material and wooden ships—built for emergency—must be at a loss. The efforts of the board resulted in over 10,000,000 tons of shipping, and, he added, his investigations showed that, compared with the shipbuilding in England during the same time, the results favored this country as to cost.

PIEZ DENIES GRAFT.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Charles Piez, former director-general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, criticised the House committee investigating the Fleet Corporation, in a statement here today, and declared the committee had overlooked the wholesome atmosphere of the hold and deck of the structure and was being just a bilge-water committee.

"Twice within eight months," Mr. Piez said, "the so-called Walsh committee has caused the publication of statements reflecting on the competency, honesty and integrity of the members of the United States Shipping Board, and the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

"The first statement was heralded as indicating a billion-dollar graft among the shipbuilders and Emergency Fleet Corporation officials of the Pacific Coast.

CASE WAS FLIMSY.

"The indictments, when brought, showed less than $30,000 involved, and the government's case was so flimsy that the judge decided it without letting it go to the jury.

"The committee is again after a sensation, and so it publishes the charges which two former minor employees of the Shipping Board have laid before it. It published these without giving the officials of the Shipping Board and the Fleet Corporation an opportunity to reply."

Mr. Piez declared that in the 181 shipyards under his control, there were 385,000 men, and that there was among this number less than the average human dishonesty. There were cases of payroll padding and petty graft, he said, but offenders were summarily dealth with.

"As to other charges," he continued, "I want to say that during my incumbency of nineteen months, there was not a single case in which any contract was let as a result of either political or other influence, and I challenge the committee to bring forth a single example."

GOV. COOLIDGE NAMES THANKSGIVING DAY.

BOSTON (Mass.) Nov. 11.—The security of the government in the support of the people, the soundness of the country's economic position, and the deepening of the people's religious convictions are mentioned as reasons for gratitude in the Thanksgiving Day proclamation issued today by Gov. Coolidge.

"From time immemorial," says the proclamation, "the people of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, acting through their magistrates after the gathering of the bounties of the early harvest, out of recognition of their dependence on Divine providence, have set apart a day of thanksgiving and praise. During all these generations there has been no time when the misfortune with which the people have had to contend, has not been surpassed by an abundance of blessings. Out of savagery has come civilization. Out of war has come peace. Out of adversity has come prosperity. The progress of the years has brought great obligations, but with them great resources and an inspired people.

"It is a time to return thanks for our duties, which there is a power to meet and for our hopes which have been fulfilled. Our government stands secure in the support of the people, our economic condition is sound, the opportunity for education is open to all; the religious convictions of the people have been broadened and deepened."

"In consideration of these worthy accomplishments and most hopeful prospects," Gov. Coolidge names Thursday, November 25, as a "day of thanksgiving and praise to the giver of every good and perfect gift."

PETROLEUM MONOPOLY IS PLANNED BY JAPAN.

WASHINGTON ADVISED TOKIO TO TAKE POSSESSION OF OIL PRODUCTION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Monopoly of petroleum production in Japan and its possessions is planned by the Japanese government, according to advices to the Department of Commerce today from Tokio. Action will be deferred, however, until Parliament meets in January, the advices stated.

Japan produces only 1 per cent of the world's petroleum, the advices added, but governmental control of the oil fields is planned to insure the Japanese navy an adequate supply.

Oil production is steadily declining in Japan, the department was informed, because of the difficulty of importing well-boring machinery since the war. Between 1918 and 1919 oil production fell off approximately 30,000,000 gallons, the advices stated.

In that note the President said that if Italy and Jugo-Slavia preferred to abandon the so-called buffer state, containing an overwhelming majority of Jugo-Slavs, and desired to limit the proposed free State to the corpus separatum of Fiume without either Italian or Jugo-Slav control, the government of the United States was prepared to accept the proposal, and was willing under such circumstances to leave the determination of the common frontier to Italy and Jugo-Slavia.

The President reiterated that he would gladly approve a mutual agreement between the Italian and Jugo-Slav governments reached without prejudice to the territorial or other interests of any third nation.

GREENSVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 11.—Charles Hamilton believes he has a Rhode Island Red hen which lays bigger eggs than any other hen in the country. He presented the editor of the Greensville Record with one which weighed four ounces and measured 6 1-4 inches around and 2 3-4 inches in length.

Haitian Bandits Who Surrendered Were Not Killed.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PORT AU PRINCE, (Haiti) Nov. 11.—Eleven hundred and thirty-two Haitians were killed in 295 engagements, since the intensive campaign of the American marines began in Haiti in October, 1919, Maj. Thomas C. Turner, adjutant of the first provisional brigade of marines, testified today before the naval board of inquiry appointed by Secretary of the Navy Daniels. Maj. Turner was the only witness examined at the opening session.

Since the American occupation in Haiti, Maj. Hurner stated, 17,000 bandits had been in the field at various times, and since October, 1919, bandits to the number of 7608 had surrendered.

Maj. Turner testified that strict orders not to kill bandits after their surrender had been issued, and that men violating these orders had been tried by court-martial. He declared there was no molestation of the inhabitants. Maj. Turner testified he believed the estimate of Maj.-Gen. George Barnett, former commandant of the United States Marine Corps, that more than 1100 Haitians had been killed prior to the intensive campaign, was exaggerated.

BERLIN INDUSTRIAL SITUATION CRITICAL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The industrial situation has become critical through the refusal of the strikers in the electrical trade to abide by the result of their own ballot, which failed to yield the requisite two-thirds majority necessary to call a strike. The situation is rendered more difficult because the Communist Labor Party has issued a proclamation calling for a general strike. Both wings of the Independent Socialists, as well as the Right Socialist, are opposed to a general strike.

President Ebert has issued a decree, declaring that strikes and lockouts, which affect the gas, water or electrical supplies, are permissible only after a competent arbitration committee has given its award, and that not until three days after the award is issued. Violation of the decree is punishable by a fine not exceeding 15,000 marks.

WANTS STATE TO DEVELOP POWER

Recommendations Made by Municipalities League.

Private Ownership of Such Utilities Scored.

Amendment of Motor Vehicle Law is Asked.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICO, Nov. 11.—Resolutions calling upon the State to develop all its hydroelectric power sources and opposing the encouragement of private ownership of such utilities were adopted at the closing session of the League of California Municipalities annual convention here today.

The resolutions provide a committee of fifteen engineers to detail these recommendations to the proper State officials.

The city attorneys' group of the convention adopted resolutions calling upon cities having issues before the Railroad Commission to combine where such issues are identical.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS.

Another resolution adopted by the convention at large called on the State to amend the motor vehicle law so that funds collected under the law may be distributed to the cities and counties in proportion to their respective population.

Further resolutions adopted called for the removing of the San Francisco Harbor from State to municipal control, the extension of the Utilities Act to include acquisition of ice houses for municipal purposes, and a request to eastern municipalities to stop the migration of indigent tuberculars to California.

WANT DEFINITION OF COMMISSION AUTHORITY

STATE UTILITIES COMMISSIONERS ASK FOR CONFERENCE WITH FEDERAL BODY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—State railways and utilities commissioners in their annual convention here today adopted a resolution asking the Interstate Commerce Commission for a conference to define the relative authority of the State commissions and the Federal Commission under the Transportation Act.

The resolution said "In order that the maximum benefits may be derived from the co-operative provisions of the Transportation Act it is desirable that it should be understood in what classes of cases co-operation between State and Federal authorities is deemed feasible by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and in respect to each such class whether by joint conference or by joint hearing, and under what rules of procedure such conferences or hearings may be initiated and carried forward."

The convention will meet in Atlanta next year.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has no disposition to interfere with State regulatory bodies in administration of local traffic problems, Chairman Clark of the Federal body said today. Mr. Clark said that if a State body promulgated a rule governing intrastate distribution of cars and no complaint came to the Federal body, "certainly we would not interfere with it."

Mr. Clark said the commission planned to establish car service agents and local committees throughout the country. It was impossible, he added, for any tribunal in Washington to deal with the mass of local matters which come up daily.

RUSSIAN REDS STIR UP MEXICAN LABOR.

STATE DEPARTMENT LEARNS BOLSHEVIKI INSIST THAT UNIONS OBEY ORDERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Claude I. Dawson, American Consul at Tampico, who is in Washington, has reported to the State Department that Tampico is a hotbed of labor radicalism, but that the authorities there and in other affected parts of the country have control of the situation.

Recent strike developments in Mexico, according to other advices reaching the department, were directed by Russian Bolsheviki, who insisted that Mexican labor unions obey orders of the central soviet in all matters. The strike in Mexico City was said to be in obedience to orders of the Russian leaders.

The provisional government is making efforts, successful in many places, to handle the situation and prevent disorders, the advices said. They did not state the result of the recent clash between government officials and strikers in Vera Cruz.

President-elect Obregon, whose inauguration is but nineteen days off, has left the labor situation entirely to Provisional President De la Huerta, it was stated.

AERIAL MAIL SERVICE DELAYED BY WEATHER

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Nov. 11.—Weather conditions interrupted aerial mail service between here and Salt Lake City for the first time today. One airplane left today for Omaha and one arrived from the East in a blinding snowstorm.

Pilot Cook left Salt Lake this morning for Cheyenne, but encountered heavy snow in the Wasatch Mountains and was ordered to remain at Rock Springs for the night.

Pilot Murray made three attempts to leave here for Salt Lake today, each time at a different altitude, but he was unable to climb above the snowstorm and abandoned the attempt.

Pilot Brockman left here for Omaha and Pilot Pickup arrived from Omaha at 4:50 p.m., making the last 100 miles in a blinding snowstorm. He was forced to fly within fifty feet of the ground most of the way in order to keep his direction.

ACTRESS IN HART'S FILM BADLY HURT.

Auto Driven by Director Near Sacramento Strikes Wire Strung Across Road.

Mrs. Anna Paul, a member of the William S. Hart motion-picture company of this city, which is in Sacramento taking "Mississippi River scenes" along the Sacramento River, was seriously injured and three other members of the company narrowly escaped death when an automobile in which they were riding was wrecked early yesterday morning.

Mrs. Paul suffered a broken wrist, an injured shoulder and a bad scalp wound. She was taken to the White Hospital in Sacramento.

The other members of the troupe who were in the machine were Mrs. Josie Heward, Dorothy Forno and Lambert Hillyer, director of the company.

According to the occupants of the automobile, which was owned and driven by Mr. Hillyer, the accident was caused by a wire that had been stretched across the highway, evidently with the idea of a hold-up. The top of the machine was torn off and the windshield broken when the heavy car crashed into the wire.

The car remained upright, and how Mrs. Paul sustained her injuries cannot be accounted for by her companions.

A length of heavy wire, which Hillyer says he salvaged from the wreck is being held by him as a souvenir.

BAKERS GO ON STRIKE IN MADRID.

Unemployed in Berlin Storm Iron Works, Drive Out Proprietors.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MADRID, Nov. 11.—Bakers in this city declared a strike yesterday. Government authorities have taken steps to supply the people with bread and military bakers have been called to the ovens. They were unable to fill all demands, however, and lines of people stood all day outside of shops.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 11.—While the coal miners in the Central district who have been on strike have resumed work, 40,000 men are still out in the Charleroi region. Negotiations, however, are under way.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Three thousand unemployed men in the city of Berlin stormed the Lion Metal Works yesterday, drove out the proprietors and engineers, and extinguished the furnace fires, says a dispatch from the German capital. In the north side gas plant of Berlin, it is said, workmen drove out the industrial council and established a political soviet.

French Francs Lead in Foreign Money Decline.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—French francs sold at the lowest price on record in a general decline of values in the foreign exchange market here today, selling at 5.71 cents apiece.

Rates on London and the leading continental centers reacted sharply from recent recoveries, with the French money leading in the decline. Demand bills on London fell to 3.35 1-4 against yesterday's high of 3.39½, and Italian, Spanish and Greek remittances, recorded new minimums at 3.40, 12.27 and 3.95, respectively.

Dealers in exchange again attributed the weakness of remittances to London and Paris to heavy offerings of grain and cotton bills. The collapse of exchange to other European points resulted from increasing recognition of unfavorable economic conditions.

THREE BODIES FOUND IN WRECKED LINER.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Three bodies were discovered this morning in the hold of the Morgan Line steamship El Mundo on which nine men were seriously injured yesterday when one of the vessel's fuel tanks exploded while she was tied up to her Hudson River pier. Latest reports from the rescuers last night indicated that there had been no loss of life.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 11.—According to a special dispatch to the Berlingske Tidende from Helsingfors, a white Russian journal, just received there states that a munity has broken out at Cronstadt on board the cruiser Gromobol.

The crew is said to have murdered their red officers and then scuttled the ship in the port.

PUTS BLAME ON UNIONS.

Restrict Building by Refusal to Use Materials Made in Open Shop.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Railroad difficulties in providing transportation for building materials were recited today by C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central Railroad, before the Senate Committee on Reconstruction. President Markham declared there was a much greater demand for cars than the railroads could supply, but that each month since last March had shown an increased tonnage carried and that since July of this year the railroads had carried more tonnage than in any other like period.

"We will be able, I think," to transport all the building materials necessary for construction," Mr. Markham said. "But this will depend on our ability to extend facilities."

Co-operative thrift, fostered by building and loan associations and other similar organizations, was declared by C. R. Holden, vice-president of the Union Trust Company, to be a prime necessity in solving the housing problem.

"Until we develop a system under which people would rather buy a home than an automobile, we fail to get the financing of building on a sound basis," he said.

Edward Froshlick, representing a Chicago mill work company, charged labor unions with restricting building because they refused to work with materials manufactured by an open shop. He told the committee that no concern conducting an open shop could expect to find a market in Chicago, and that his firm could only place its product through a Federal injunction which forbade the governing body of labor unions from interfering with the installation of mill work made in their factory.

Disclaiming any responsibility for present building conditions, Thomas Kearney, president of the Chicago Building Trades Assembly, said he had no remedies to offer. He said wages of $10 a day were not high when it was considered that tradesmen worked an average of 200 days a year, and in view of the high cost of living.

The committee, which is headed by Senator Calder, closed its hearings today and departed for Omaha, where the investigation will be continued.

THE hopes and ideals of the American Merchant Marine may be relied upon to stimulate its growth and development.

SAYS NURSERYMEN CONNECTING LINK.

HEAD OF STATE ASSOCIATION MAINTAINS HIS ILK A NECESSITY OF LIFE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

FRESNO, Nov. 11.—Maintaining that nurserymen are the connecting link in the chain of human activity that on the one hand ties a vast volume of human food and an industry great and munificent to nature's storehouse, and on the other unfolds to humanity nature's beauties in plant life, President J. H. Bergtholdt, opening the tenth annual convention of the California Association of Nurserymen's convention today asked the question: "Is the California nurseryman a profiteer?" and answered it by quoting from the price lists of the three leading eastern nurserymen.

A comparison of the figures quoted showed that in spite of the unprecedented demand and a corresponding shortage of trees, the California planter is paying over 50 per cent less than the prevailing prices East. The same comparison, the speaker claimed, held good on various standard ornamentals.

...ROSEVILLE, Nov. 11.—Entering the Old Depot Saloon here early this morning four unmasked bandits held up Ed Caslina, proprietor of the place and ten customers, escaping with about $700.

Although a good description of the men was furnished Sheriff Gum no trace of the hold-up men was found today.

Caslina stated to the officers that about $100 in cash was taken from the till of the saloon. While the hold-up was in progress, an unidentified man looked in to see what was happening. He was ordered to come inside by the robbers. One hundred and forty dollars was taken from him.

...[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

...WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—President urges his "fellow countrymen to join the Red Cross "in the numbers" during the annual roll call to be held the fortnight beginning Armistice Day.

"The Red Cross," said [illegible], "deserves a hearty response to such invitation to another, which will be issued the fortnight beginning with Armistice Day.

"From the storms of war and the cooperation of our people a institution grew into immense, enlarged its range of activity, served not only our fighting forces but also civilians involved in the hardships of war in our own nation and in the nations associated with us in a great common enterprise, and gave to the world an example of effective mercy through coordinated effort.

"Since the cessation of hostilities the organization has faced a dual duty: First, to fulfill obligations created by the war, and, secondly, to adapt its experience and machinery to the needs of peace.

STILL AT WORK.

"It is, today, still assisting governmental agencies in the care and cheer of disabled soldiers and sailors, in replacing those able to work in civilian occupations, and in counseling and aiding the families of former combatants; and it is still assisting, with diminished resources, the process of rehabilitation in some of the more prostrated countries of our former associates.

"While continuing these manifest obligations, the Red Cross has been accommodating methods and applying lessons learned in war to the normal needs of our own people in times of peace, especially in regions where provisions for public health and welfare were imperfectly developed. It has placed public health nurses in many localities, and has endeavored to enlist greater numbers of young women in the nursing profession in order that the supply might more nearly equal the steadily increasing demand for community nurses. It has devised a scheme of 'public health centers' for the relief of maladies and for instruction in hygiene, dietetics, and general principles of disease-preventions with its nurses and nurses' aides it has rendered incalculable service in the serious epidemics of influenza.

TEACHES MOTHERS.

"It has carried instruction in hygiene and first aid into schools, the women's clubs, and the homes of our country. It has taught young and untaught mothers how to care intelligently for their babies, and has done much in many ways to promote child welfare, upon which the welfare of the nation ultimately rests. It has made it a fundamental principle, to avoid futile duplications, to co-operate with public agencies when its co-operation was sought, and to supply deficiencies where such agencies had not yet been established.

"It has continued its educational work among the school children through its junior Red Cross branch, and it has, as one result of its war experience, put preparation for disaster-relief on a scientific foundation, so that it is now equipped to meet disaster emergencies promptly in almost every part of our country.

ANSWER IN RECORD.

"By systematic plans and practical performances, it has given a clear answer to the question why the Red Cross should be continued and carried over from war activity into peace time activity. The answer is in the record.

"Additional to these obvious aspects of the matter, there is another reason why I, as President of the United States and President of the American Red Cross, urge my fellow-countrymen to join the Red Cross in impressive numbers: Reaction follows emotion, and after great effort comes perilous lassitude. Sound patriotism and genuine human service are continuous, not intermittent, not contingent merely upon the excitement of war.

"If there is in some of us an inward cooling of the fine fervor which animated us in the crisis of the nation's stress and peril, a contraction of the spirit which ennobled us as individuals and as a nation, now, during the 'Red Cross Roll Call,' is a fitting season to take counsel with our inner selves, to rekindle the old flame, to reaffirm allegiance to practical patriotism and practical humanitarianism, and to symbolize the regeneration of our better thoughts and handsomer selves by re-enlistment in a great army mobilized for the common good."

BISHOP HONORED BY COLUMBUS KNIGHTS.

RETURN OF CHURCHMAN FROM EUROPE, ARMISTICE DAY BOTH CELEBRATED.

Members of the Knights of Columbus from all parts of Southern California attended the banquet and reception given last night at the Roma Cafe by Cabrillo Assembly in honor of Bishop Cantwell. The banquet was in celebration both of Armistice Day and of the recent return of Bishop Cantwell from Europe. Benno Brink of the American Legion was chairman of the evening.

The significance of Armistice Day and its import to the world at large were the subject of an address by Frank G. Tyrrell. He spoke of the ideals of America when this country entered the war and of the ideals we brought out of the war.

Bishop Cantwell told of his trip through Europe, to the Vatican and to Ireland. He was one of a number of American dignitaries who visited the Pope and had an audience with him. In Ireland he visited his mother. He spoke at length last night of the ideals and desires of the Irish people.

Community singing led by Nicholas Devereaux was one of the features of the evening. The Knights of Columbus Quartet, composed of P. J. O'Donnell, Mott Gardner, E. Leavitt and Ed Gibbs, sang a number of songs.

HAIL MILLERS TO INDUSTRIAL COURT.

TOPEKA MEN CITED TO APPEAR AND SHOW REASON WHY THEY CEASE WORK.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Nov. 11.—An order citing Topeka millers to appear before the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations to show cause why they should either cease or cut down production at this time, was signed today by Judge George H. Work, of the Industrial Court.

This is the first instance since the court was organized of proprietors or corporations being called before the court to answer the charge of illegally stopping production.

"The Industrial Court Act provides that the court may act in such a case on its own initiative, without formal complaint being filed," said Fred S. Jackson, counsel of the court. "This is the procedure in this case. Reports to the court have indicated that the millers have curtail production in violation of the Industrial Court Act. The millers will be given an opportunity to state their side of the matter."

Hearing of the case was set for next Monday.

CURTIS PLANNING FOR ILLNESS OF PRESIDENT.

HAS BILL PREPARED TO CARE FOR EXECUTIVE OFFICES IN CRISIS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Hereafter if the President of the United States is physically or otherwise unable to perform his office the Supreme Court will so certify and the Vice-President will succeed to his duties during such disability, if a bill to be sponsored by Senator Curtis of Kansas becomes law.

This law will not take effect until March 4, 1921, and will not affect the incumbent of the White House, but its purpose is to overcome just such difficulties as now prevail.

The bill provides that any member of the Cabinet or Senate or House of Representatives may question the ability of the President to perform his official duties. Under its provisions the Supreme Court is charged with the duty of investigating the matter and certifying as to the President's condition.

If the court finds that the President is unable to function properly the Vice-President shall take over his duties until such time as the President shall have fully recovered.

In the event the Chief Executive is not restored to complete vigor the Vice-President shall act as President for the remainder of the full term.

SUGAR ONCE MORE ON THE TOBOGGAN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—There was another break of 1-4 cent a pound in the price of raw sugar today, with Cuba's selling at 6 cents, cost and freight, a new low record for the season. At today's level prices represent an almost perpendicular decline of 17½ cents from last May.

The weakness in raw sugar brought about a further decline of a half cent a pound in granulated by the Federal Sugar Refining Company to the basis of 10 cents, representing a new low record price for the season. Other refiners are still listed at 10.50, although they are expected soon to follow the lead of the Federal.

Troops on Rhine Bill Collectors, is Belief of Kahn.

FREDERICK (Md.) Nov. 11.—Immediate withdrawal of American troops on the Rhine was urged here today by Representative Kahn of California, chairman of the House Military Committee, speaking at the Armistice Day celebration.

If he had his way in the next Congress the forces would be recalled, he said, adding that American troops were not "bill collectors for other nations, nor are they policemen for the nations of Europe."

Mr. Kahn urged military preparedness as a means to prevent war, adding that he took little stock in talk of war with Japan.

LEGION REFUSES TO MARCH PAST MAYOR.

OBJECTS TO ISSUANCE OF PRO-GERMAN TAG DAY PERMIT AT PITTSBURG.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 11.—Protesting against the presence of Mayor E. V. Babcock in the reviewing stand, because the city recently issued a permit for what they termed a "Pro-German tag day," scores of overseas veterans who took part in the Armistice Day parade here refused to march past the stand. After vainly trying to make a speech, which was drowned by the cries of spectators and marchers, Mayor Babcock left the stand, and the parade proceeded.

When the permit was granted for the tag day, which was to raise money for children in the Central Empires, it was greeted by protests from soldier organizations. While Mayor Babcock refused to withdraw the permit, the society back of the movement finally decided to cancel all arrangements and collect no money. Meanwhile pressure on the Mayor was without result. Last night he issued a statement in which he said that "whether right or wrong, the permit had been issued," and that he was the "Mayor of all the people of the city of Pittsburg."

This did not meet the demands of the soldiers. Today when a line of automobiles carrying 1000 or more men who had been wounded reached the reviewing stand, on which stood Mayor Babcock, the parade stopped. Men climbed out of the machines and the assembled crowd cheered them. They made a detour of a block or two around the stand and then took up the line of march as though nothing had happened.

The word was carried back along the long line of marchers, and post after post of the American Legion followed the example of the wounded as they reached the stand.

GERMAN-AMERICAN NEWSPAPER MAN DIES.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 11.—Hans Ernst Kurt Mortimer von Kessel, 77 years old, Milwaukee newspaper man and scion of one of the oldest families of German nobility, died at the home for the aged yesterday, it became known today.

Kessel served as an officer in the Prussian army in the war against Austria in 1866 and took part in the war against France in 1870. At one time he was a wealthy brewer in Iowa, but lost his fortune when that State went dry several years ago.

Later he engaged in newspaper work, but retired several years ago.

SIXTEEN INJURED WHEN CARS OVERTURN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

GRAND JUNCTION (Colo.) Nov. 11.—Sixteen persons were injured, none seriously, when three cars of a westbound Denver and Rio Grande train overturned near Grand Valley, forty-four miles from here, this afternoon.

The injured were taken in charge by Miss Helen Baylis, Red Cross nurse of Palisade, Colo., a passenger, and brought to this city.

Softened roadbed, allowing the rails to spread, was said to be responsible for the accident. The train was dragged 250 yards before it could be stopped.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AUTO HITS AGED MAN.

Wilshire Boulevard Resident May Die of Serious Injuries.

Edward Eisenhauer, a retired business man of 3340 Wilshire Boulevard, 69 years old, was possibly fatally injured last night while crossing the boulevard at Manhattan street, when he was struck by an automobile driven by Fred Johnson of 1012 East Seventh street.

Mr. Eisenhauer was taken to his residence and Dr. P. R. McArthur summoned from his home at 539 South Manhattan street. The surgeon found that the elderly man had a broken leg, broken shoulder and a long scalp wound that required twenty-two stitches.

BANDITS ROB PAIR.

Auto Highwaymen Hold up Couple in Lonely Spot, Beat Man.

Two armed bandits in a small touring car last night held up J. E. Stengel of 4326 South Flower street and his companion, Miss Gladys Howard of 1434 South Union avenue, in a lonely spot on Mesa drive, about a mile south of West Adams street, according to a report made to the University Police Station by Patrolmen Moran and Henderson. After taking $18 from Mr. Stengel the bandits beat him on the head with their revolvers. After they fled he secured emergency treatment at a near-by drug store. The police have a good description of the bandits and their machine, and a squad of officers was dispatched in pursuit of the highwaymen.

ITALY HIT FINANCIALLY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Nov. 11.—A royal decree has been signed increasing the price of bread for well-to-do classes, but even this is insufficient to cover the loss of more than 7,000,000,000 lire yearly which the government is suffering through the purchase of wheat abroad. The deficit will be covered by new taxes on luxuries, and in addition an extra 80 cents on every gallon of wine. The government estimates its new taxation will produce 4,700,000,000 lire.

Tender Gums —A Warning

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea—many under forty, also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes. All druggists.

THE PARADE.

...ded the veterans' parade ... Broadway at First street ... Redman, Gen. Pendle... ...Gov. Young and Mayor ... platoons of ex-service ... firemen and policemen heading the column. Other honored guests were Col. Pierce Murphy, Maj. Harold Geiger, Maj. W. Tidball, Col. E. W. Clarke, Commander A. H. Woodbine, Lieut.-Col. J. J. McKnight and Capt. Chauncey Shackford.

The units in the first group led the patriotic procession to Tenth street and Broadway, where the Mayor's party and army and navy officers reviewed the remaining nine groups of the column. The platoons of firemen and policemen flanked both sides of Broadway south of the reviewing point, while the thousands of service men and women marched past the reviewing party.

First came a corps of smiling women, the American Women's Overseas League, and in their ranks were the uniforms of all the women's organizations overseas. They were the women of the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, the Y.M.C.A., the Y.W.C.A., whose cheerful messages and tender ministrations to the suffering ones aided in the winning of the fight. The service women carried a huge flag which, at the end of the march, was weighted with many pounds of coins.

CRUTCHES AND SMILES.

The disabled veterans, those whose feet itched for the pavement yet whose injuries compelled them to ride, provided the largest contingent of the parade. One hundred and seventy-five automobiles conveyed them through the line of march. Though crutches were seen in many of the autos, each car was burdened with a load of smiles. And over the hearts of many of these disabled ones was pinned the Distinguished Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre, typifying acts of gallantry for which they had paid with their own limbs.

Other automobiles carried many scores of Civil War veterans, those who had tasted of the more primitive methods of warfare, yet smiling and cheerful and envious of the younger uniformed veterans that trailed behind them in a seemingly endless procession.

Bearing a banner aloft with the inscription, "California's Fighting 91st," a detachment of veterans of the Ninety-First Division, most representative of the city's participation in the World War, next passed before the reviewing party.

THE REGULARS.

That part of the vast war-time army, which has since chosen to continue to serve their country in uniform was represented by large detachments of soldiers from Rose Field Balloon School, Fort MacArthur and the National Guard, and sailors from the Pacific Fleet, the Naval Reserve and the Naval Marines.

Group Four consisted of the Lincoln High School R.O.T.C. and the American Legion Posts—Los Angeles Post No. 8, Harbor and Victory Posts, with Capt. Walter Brinkop in command of this large detachment.

The First Division veterans, though only a small group of men from that most conspicuous of combat divisions, marched alone, bearing aloft their treasured divisional insignia.

Students of the Franklin and Gardena High Schools, marching erect under heavy rifles that had worn callouses on many shoulders more sturdy than theirs, completed the second half of Group Four.

Los Angeles High School R.O.T.C. students, with the veterans of the Three Hundred and Sixteenth Signal Battalion, marched in the fifth group.

Most inspiring of the detachments in Group Six was the delegation of Elks from B.P.O.E. Lodge No. 99 with their band and drill team attired in the picturesque uniforms of the style of 1812. The Elks, all in white uniforms, carried a service flag with 272 stars on it. Representatives of the overseas coast artillery units completed Group Six.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, though with thin ranks, presented a motley array of foreign uniforms. Among them were the uniforms of the Italian, Belgian, French and numerous other armies. The Manual Arts High School R.O.T.C. and veterans of the Fortieth Division, which had trained for overseas service at Camp Kearny constituted the seventh group.

In the eighth group marched the Los Angeles men who served with the Rainbow Division at Luneville, Lorraine, Champagne, in the Aisne-Marne offensive, at St. Mihiel and in the Meuse-Argonne. With the Rainbow Division marched the Polytechnic High School R.O.T.C.

Group Nine contained the ex-Navy service men, former officers and men of the medical corps, veterans of the air service and the Virgil School R.O.T.C.

In Group Ten were the boys of the local military academies. They were mostly little fellows, but with chests thrust out and with long-swinging strides they received a generous share of the honors bestowed upon all the marchers. The military schools represented were Harvard Military Academy, Los Angeles Military Academy, Page Military Academy and Loyola College.

In the tenth group also were the Spanish War Veterans, uniforms of blue offering a decided contrast with the olive drab of the younger soldiers.

THE "FOREIGN LEGION."

Though the ex-service men of the French army appeared in the uniforms of the various French armies, most conspicuous of all was Lieut. George LeMesnager, patriarch of all the armies of France and a citizen of Los Angeles. It was Lieut. LeMesnager, who, in the early days of the World War, left his home and later was located in the front line in France. He had enlisted as a private and, though 65 years old, was decorated twice for heroism and returned as a lieutenant.

The British delegation was headed by a band of Highland pipers, and in the ranks were Canadians, Scotch, Anzacs, Royal Mounted Police and men from the historic regiments recruited in the British Isles.

At the head of every group marched a military band, and many groups contained more than one band. The bands that kept the immense column in step were the First National Guard Regimental, the Elks, Harvard Military Academy, Page Military Academy, Los Angeles Military Academy, Loyola College, and the Lincoln, Jefferson, Manual Arts, Polytechnic, Los Angeles, Franklin, Gardena high schools R.O.T.C. bands.

SERVICE MEN FILL ARMORY AT GAY BALL.

Hundreds of Couples Enjoy Drill Field Entertainment, Followed by Dancing.

Taxed to its utmost capacity, the Armory at Exposition Park was the scene last night of one of the gayest semimilitary balls ever given in this city. It was the conclusion of the big Armistice Day celebration and was attended by a goodly number of members of Los Angeles Post No. 8 and Victory Post of the American Legion, together with their wives and sweethearts.

An excellent entertainment preceded the ball, the various numbers being given on a temporary stage on the drill field. Helen Josephine Ford and Max Martinez appeared in a dance duet, Avonda Phelphs did a French dance number, Frances Scarcella appeared in a classical toe dance act, Grace Shardlow entertained with a song and dance, Delores Palethoyse gave an Arabian cymbaline solo, and Maxine Sullivan appeared in the "March Voluntaire" solo number. This was followed by a Spanish dance ensemble.

Dancing, which was the leading attraction for the crowd, was enjoyed upon a sawdust base which had been sprinkled over the cemented surface of the drill field. At times during the evening there were as many as 1200 couples on the dance floor at once. Music was furnished by the First Regiment Band.

The Reception Committee was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tuller, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gradie, Mr. and Mrs. Munro Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brinkop, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Zeno, Capt. and Mrs. H. E. Insley, Mr. and Mrs. F. McGregor, Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Wood, Mrs. Rawn and Mrs. Wallace.

JOFFRE AND PETAIN WRITE TO COMPOSER.

Gen. Joffre and Gen. Petain, marshals of France, have written a joint letter of thanks and appreciation to Jean de Chauvenet, a Los Angeles musician in the Majestic Theater Building, for copies of his patriotic song, "Twin Nations," the words of which were written by J. E. Smith. The song, which was indorsed by President Wilson, celebrates the cordial friendship of the United States and France.

FATHER WITH SON IN ARMS HIT BY AUTO.

Both Hurt and Youngster May Not Recover; Mother of Lad Saved by Swerve.

Three-year-old Horace A. Knox was dashed from his father's arms and possibly fatally injured, and Mr. Knox, Sr., of 753 Micheltorena street, suffered a broken left leg, when they were knocked down last night by an automobile driven by Glenn Dunaway of 6122 Selma avenue. The accident occurred at Sunset Boulevard and Golden Gate avenue, as the father, with the infant in his arms, and followed by his wife and an unknown woman, stepped from the curb to catch a street car. The injured were taken to the Receiving Hospital where it was found that the little boy had a possible basal fracture of the skull.

Detective Sergeants Shy and Mart, after an investigation, declared that the accident was unavoidable. According to three eyewitnesses, Mr. Dunaway was ahead of the street car, driving east on the boulevard, when the Knox party stepped into the street in single file to signal the approaching street car. As the automobile neared them, the party split and the two women ran toward the curb. Mr. Dunaway swerved to the left to avoid hitting them and struck Mr. Knox, knocking him and the baby to the pavement.

Cadets Conduct Military Rites for Dead Boy.

A military funeral, participated in by thirty members of Jefferson High School's R.O.T.C. companies, was conducted for Earl P. Guysi, Jr., a student of the school, yesterday afternoon.

Earl was the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Guysi, Sr., of 147 West Forty-third street. Last Friday afternoon he became sick from some unknown cause and Monday morning he died. His parents requested that he have a military funeral, and so yesterday at 3 p.m. thirty of his schoolmates, who had just taken part in the Armistice Day parade, headed by the band and the firing squad, attended the services at the grave in Inglewood Cemetery.

ANGELENOS JAILED ON UGLY CHARGE

Auto Owner Says They Lured Him to Lonely Spot and Beat Him With Club.

Two men, giving their names as John J. Lewis, 2107 South Harvard Boulevard, and J. J. Carroll, 2015 Aubrey avenue, both Los Angeles, were locked in the Santa Monica City Jail last night and, according to the beach police, will be charged today with assault with intent to commit murder upon M. Fehrny, 650 South Hope street, this city.

From accounts given the police it appears that Mr. Fehrny had an automobile to sell and that some days ago he met Carroll, who is said to have informed him that Lewis would buy the car. The three met by appointment and drove to Ocean Park Heights, where Carroll is said to have suggested they turn up a side street to find his father, who was to supply the money. In the side street one of the men, according to Fehrny, seized an iron bar and beat the auto owner over the head with it, inflicting dangerous injuries.

A Mrs. Stern, residing at 233 Wilshire Boulevard, Santa Monica, and F. H. Brown, also of the beach city, witnessed the supposed assault. Mrs. Stern rushed Fehrny to the Emergency Hospital in her car, and J. H. Crumb, another witness, assisted the police in making the arrests.

Hollywood Post Dedicates Site for New Home.

Hollywood Post No. 43, American Legion, Harold G. Ferguson commanding, yesterday dedicated the ground recently acquired at 1600 El Centro street, upon which will be erected a post building. The post was escorted to the grounds by the Reserve Officers' Training Corps of the Hollywood High School. Two bands, the American Legion organization, of forty-five pieces, and the high school band, furnished the music for the parade.

At the grounds, the American Legion band gave a forty-five-minute concert. This was followed by a flag raising and a speech by Capt. M. Taylor of the British Army. He spoke of the late conflict, the tremendous energy and gallantry of the American soldier and the joy of the peace that followed. He was introduced by Commander Ferguson, who paid a graceful tribute to the British Tommy. The invocation was by Rev. Marcus P. McClure, of the First Presbyterian Church.

Commander Ferguson presented to the members of the Post No. 43, medals typical of Armistice Day. The ceremonies were witnessed by 5000 persons.

ELKS TO SPEND OVER A MILLION

Big Membership Growth Seen in Expansion's Wake.

By an unanimous vote of the lodge members, Edwin Bergstrom has been chosen, it was announced yesterday, as the architect of the new home to be erected by Los Angeles Lodge No. 99, Elks. Mr. Bergstrom stated yesterday that he had been instructed to prepare plans for a building to cost approximately $1,500,000. When completed, it will be the largest and finest lodge building in the country, he stated.

The B.P.O.E. building will be of reinforced concrete, with a terra cotta finish, will be approximately 150 feet high, or about thirteen stories, and will combine all of the modern conveniences of a lodge building.

It is to be built on the northwest corner of Eighth and Flower streets, on a lot purchased several months ago by the lodge. The lot has a frontage of 175 feet on Flower street and 170 feet on Eighth street.

In addition to the lodge room proper, which will be the largest in the world, it is stated, there will be a big dining-room, also several smaller dining-rooms and special quarters for the wives and women friends of the members of the lodge.

Sleeping quarters will be provided for the bachelor members of the lodge. There will be 350 sleeping rooms, each with a private bath. A gymnasium and large swimming pool will be other features of the new building.

The tentative plans for the building will be completed about January 1, when the Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks and the Grand Trustees are to visit this city to approve of the plans made for the holding of the Elks' convention in July, 1921. The trustees will pass on the proposed plans, and then the work of erecting the building will begin. The lodge is arranging to have the corner-stone laid by the officers of the Grand Lodge in July, 1921.

The membership of the local lodge is growing rapidly, according to Lloyd Mace, Exalted Ruler of No. 99, and there are now 3750 members of the local lodge. Because of the increased facilities of the lodge when it moves into its new quarters, plans are now being considered for the raising of the initiation fees to $150. This will probably be made effective within a few months.

Last winter the local lodge started a campaign to raise the membership to 10,000, and this is being rapidly realized, it was stated yesterday. The lodge is choosing its membership with great care, it is stated, and taking only those applicants who are considered excellent American patriots, and those possessing the other qualities to make a good Elk.

TURNS DOWN ARMISTICE DAY PLEA.

Burleson's Action on Employees' Request Stirs the Postoffice Force.

All efforts of employees of the local postoffice to get a holiday yesterday in honor of Armistice Day were unsuccessful. A direct appeal was made to Postmaster-General Burleson, by an official of the postoffice employees' organization, for a day off to celebrate the anniversary of the end of the war, but he was told that the employees would have to remain on duty.

There was much feeling at the postoffice yesterday on the subject, as there was a total cessation of all other official activities at the Federal Building, the postoffice alone observing the usual hours.

The People and Their Daily Troubles

Interior Decorations and Our Domestic Tranquillity

BY JANE DIXON.

Buy becoming furniture and keep out of the divorce court.

A French interior decorator has given it as his expert opinion that wives lose the love of their husbands by surrounding themselves with the wrong chairs, tables, draperies.

"Have your home harmonize with your personality," advises the Parisian prattler.

"If you are blonde choose for your color schemes shades to accentuate your type.

"If your eyes and hair are dark, your skin olive, select tints becoming to the brunette.

"Always make your home a setting for yourself.

"Do not allow the decorations of your rooms to outshine you, overshadow you, submerge you entirely, so that you are no more than a piece of furniture."

Our tipster goes on to say the angular woman should lean toward stiff, formal effects; the round, willowy creature to soft, graceful lines.

He is certain, is Francoise, that many a husband would cut the club nights if his temper would not be unconsciously ruffled by the incongruity of his environment.

The lord and master of a home whose chatelaine is crowned with hair generously styled "auburn" is entitled to something more in the line of harmony than a living-room papered and upholstered in red.

The lady with the sallow complexion need not call attention to her lack of the right color by giving herself a background of tan, sage or saffron yellow.

When a wife makes such a glaring mistake she need not wonder if her husband becomes restless and roving.

Nor should she whine when the judge sends along the papers.

Has it come to this—The success or failure of marriage dependent upon the color of the parlor wall paper?

What has become of that much maligned phrase, "for better or for worse?"

We prefer to believe that in the "States" a divine institution does not rest for its success on a level so low as the dining-room rug.

"ALEXANDER REX."

Alexander, King of Greece, is dead from the bite of a pet monkey.

Kings, it seems, are no better than other humans.

In the great adventures of life, when all things are levelled before the onrushing wings of the Dark Angel, crowns are but sounding brass and sceptres tinkling cymbals.

The youthful monarch of the Classic Isle was a fine sort of a fellow despite his handicap of kingship.

No better measure could be taken of his character than that he went to his death in defence of a favorite dog which had been attacked by monkeys.

Alexander Rex leaped to the rescue of his dumb friend just as quickly and as fearlessly as he would to the rescue of a buddie caught in the tide of battle.

He saved the dog. Himself he could not save.

Little jungle children, cheated of their prey, turned upon the interfering force and lacerated it with their sharp teeth.

Frenzied anger had tipped those teeth with poison, as it does the tongues of humans.

A few days of delirium.

Some breathless hours before the turning of the tide.

The sun of kingship sinks into the eternal West.

And with the passing of Highness turbulent waters of state begin tumbling toward an already rocking throne.

It is possible, by one of those curious tricks wherewith Destiny plays the juggler, for a monkey's bite to overthrow a dynasty.

For the youthful Alexander we feel a surmounting sympathy.

He was a King who proved himself a man.

Deserving by reason of the staunch heart of him a worthier fate.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

From a Lawyer.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The newly elected legislature, as soon as possible, should enact some measure for the relief of tenants, and one measure that would afford some relief would be the repeal of section 827 of the civil code. The section reads as follows:

"(Sec. 827.) Terms of lease may be changed by notice. In all leases of lands or tenements, or of any interest therein, from month to month, the landlord may, upon giving notice in writing at least thirty days before the expiration of the month, change the terms of the lease to take effect at the expiration of the month. The notice, when served upon the tenant, shall of itself, operate and be effectual to create and establish, as a part of the lease, the terms, rent, and conditions specified in the notice, if the tenant shall continue to hold the premises after the expiration of the month.

This is the black banner under which the landlords profit.

Probably seven out of ten tenancies, aside from tenancies of business properties, are tenancies from month to month and come within the provisions of the section.

The statute is an anomaly. For no other kind of contract has the Legislature provided that one of the parties to an agreement may alter its terms without the consent of the other, and declared the alteration binding upon the dissenting party under a specified condition. Without this provision of the statute, of course, the landlord could not change the terms of the lease in the mode prescribed and create a new contract against the will of the tenant. The repeal of the section would not deprive the landlord of any right pertaining to his status as a landlord, but would bring him down to the level of parties contracting as to other matters, and also to the level of his tenant.

It is not alone in this section that the legislature has exhibited hostility to the tenant. It has done so in the procedure. In the ordinary action on a money demand, a defendant is entitled to ten days after the service of the summons within which to appear; a defendant in unlawful detainer is entitled to but three. On a failure to pay a money debt, the creditor is entitled to recover the amount owing and interest thereon, only, as damages; the unfortunate tenant may be required to pay three times the amount of rent he owes. On an appeal in other actions, the appellant is entitled to a stay of execution on furnishing the undertaking required by law; a tenant appellant is granted or refused a stay at the arbitrary discretion of the Judge or justice.

The solicitude of the legislature to conserve the interests of the landlord, and its display of animosity toward the tenant, is inexplicable, unless we may conclude that it was moved by the spirit of those times when the serf was transferred with the land and was considered as of less consequence than an ox.

I am not aware that our Supreme Court has passed upon the constitutionality of the section. The statute was attacked in one case (Stoppelkamp vs. Mangeot, 42 Cal. 316,) but the court did not pass on the question, assuming, for the purposes of the decision, that it was constitutional. An attack upon it would probably be successful.

Sec. 827 of the civil code should be repealed, and only through its repeal can arbitrary increases in rent be stopped, unless it should be annulled by a decision of the Supreme Court or one of the courts of appeal.

WILLIAM CRAWFORD.

A New Thriller.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have ridden bucking broncbos, I have sailed the briny deep, I have hit the bumpers on fast transcontinental freight trains, and have taken a chance in an airplane and a captive balloon, but it remained for the one-man cars of Los Angeles to give me the thrill of my young life.

Not only was I thrilled, but I was chilled. I was amused and I was frightened. In fact every human emotion from laughter to rage was inspired by this cross between a wheel-barrow and a Ford. It jostled me, it jolted me, it played with me at will. It caved my brand new derby in and dumped me in a spill. It hissed at me, it growled at me, it made me sick at heart, it knocked most all my senses out and awoke me with a start. It jammed me and it jammed me until all hope had fled, it landed me downtown at last, half dippy and half dead.

How long, how long, we wail, will this insult to public pride and inconvenience to the forced patrons of the railway company be permitted to litter up the streets with these bunches of scrap iron on wheels.

THOMAS A. GOOD.

Tells of Red Tape.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] After a long separation from my wife and little boy—the war having kept me from them for seven years, I decided to bring them to America, here to make our future home. I wrote the Greek Consul at San Francisco for information as to a passport for my family.

The reply I received inclosed some blank forms and a request for $10 which was gladly paid and the forms filled in and forwarded. Some time after this I received another letter which said that on account of some of the information requested being missing I should send another $5.50. This I did and waited. After having written five letters and sent a telegram I finally got the passports, written in the Greek language, and sent them to my waiting wife across the sea. She started joyfully to her new home here, with me, only to be stopped on that side and told her passports were no good as they must be in English. I had already sent my wife $700 and waited many weary months only to be bitterly disappointed.

In three months, from now, I will be a citizen of the United States, if there is no hitch in my second papers, which I am told will be finished at that time, and then as a citizen of the greatest country in the world, I can laugh at little Greek Consuls and their bungling ways.

I have written this in order to warn other citizens of Greece to watch closely any relations they may have with the Consul.

WILLIAM DOOVAS.

Objects to Tent City.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Has the City Council or anybody else the authority to give our park over for use as a tent city, to be cluttered up with sewage and rubbish? Is there not enough acreage vacant in and around Los Angeles that could be rented for that purpose?

The property owners paid assessments for a park, not for a tent city, to be used by newcomers, who perhaps have never paid a tax in their lives or owned any property.

The property owners are the people who pay the taxes and why should the City Council allow the property in the neighborhood to be cheapened, which a tent city undoubtedly would do.

Exposition Park is a beautiful open park and should not be used for housing. The ground, formerly was used for a pleasure park where the working man could enjoy a game of baseball or football on Sunday, but then we had a cattle show and we were all charged admission to a city park. Now comes the tent city proposition—What next? Keep the park as a park.

MRS. W. SPIERS.

Takes Too Long.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As a recent home-builder in your city I am much interested in all that tends to build our city of Los Angeles. One of the important, if not the most important adjuncts to city life is transportation; in this you will permit me to be frank and say that we are far behind. If the street-car service is unsatisfactory (and where will you find a Los Angeles man or woman who will admit that it is?) let us have gasoline-propelled passenger vehicles. What would be the plight of interurbanites if they were compelled to rely on our electric lines? The 2000 busses that ply out of Los Angeles every day answer that question. In order to give the city dweller quick and satisfactory transportation from his home to his place of business let our city transportation authorities grant 10-cent busses between certain districts in the city to the business centers—for example, from First and Western avenue to First and Broadway. This journey now takes thirty-eight minutes by the Western-avenue street car, an air line distance of exactly three and one-half miles! When a business man boards a Western-avenue car at First and Western any time between 7 and 9 in the morning or 4 and 6 in the afternoon he has to join the army of strap hangers; this car, already crowded, stops at every alternate block, or thirty-seven times. At Seventh and Broadway he gets a transfer and hangs onto the steps of a car and rides down to First and Broadway. This means that over an hour every day is consumed in riding a total distance of seven miles, a distance which a jitney could negotiate in one-third of the time and in comfort. Put on the 10-cent express jitneys running between certain population centers!

FORREST J. HYDE, JR.

Ancnt Car Conductors.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have been a subscriber to your paper for a long time, and I read the letters to the editor each day, and I note that the majority of them are "kicks." Why don't the people of this city write about something sometime, without complaining. I think the subject for a discussion through your paper would be courtesy to the conductors on the electric cars of this city. There are many conductors who are anything else but courteous; then there are many who are courteous, and I believe if the subscribers to your paper will start writing letters about the good things they see conductors do, it will go a long ways toward making the work of more pleasant.

MAKING MORE MONEY.

An Eye for Color and a Will To Win Solve Widow's Financial Problem.

WHEN Mrs. Grace Wilmot recovered from the first stunning shock of the death of her husband she found herself face to face with another crisis even more far-reaching in its results. Time, which dulls the keen edge of grief, only gives additional sharpness to the age-old query, "Where am I going to find the money to support myself?"

In Mrs. Wilmot's case the problem was solved, not by a reliance upon any of the methods which had previously been tried, but by striking out along an entirely new road, by blazing a trail which no one had followed before.

When she came to analyze herself and her talents, Mrs. Wilmot found that she possessed little of value in the business world. In fact, the only thing she could think of that might be successfully capitalized was a talent for interior decorating, an ability for making houses into homes. Lacking the money necessary to set herself up in a business of her own, Mrs. Wilmot approached the head of one of the big paint companies with the proposal that she be permitted to handle some "home specialties" in connection with the department of decoration. By specializing upon the use of paints in the interior of the average house, Mrs. Wilmot soon worked herself up to a position where she was recognized as one of the leading experts on indoor color schemes and requests for her services began to come in from all parts of the country.

Today she occupies a place which "is unique in the world of paints and draws a salary far beyond her most optimistic dreams of a few years ago—just because she refused to be handicapped by tradition or daunted by the fact that "no one has ever made a success of that."

Good News for Winter Residents

If you've not found just the rooms or apartment you are looking for, here is an exceptionally advantageous opportunity.

Close by Los Angeles, and overlooking the ocean, are the many modern and attractive hotels of San Diego, that exquisite American City tinged with the rare beauty and romance of California's early hospitality, yet already ranking second in Southern California.

Built to accommodate the hundreds of thousands of visitors at the Panama-California Exposition, they are modern, comfortable and homelike, and offer twice the advantages usually found in a city of 100,000 residents.

But the rates! How about that?

Rates as a rule are lower than elsewhere and are based on a fair and reasonable charge for accommodations and services. Their best advertisement is the thousands of winter guests who last year returned east praising the fairness of San Diego citizens.

By rail or over excellent roads, the pleasant afternoon ride through orange groves and along the seashore to San Diego is a delight,—or you may go by sea. To live there, whether for days, weeks, months or years, is a never ending adventure in happiness.

Now, before the winter crush is reached, is the best time to find exactly the place you want to live at

BACK TO CASES.

One of the problems we have is to adjust normalcy to the music of a jazz band. It would take a miracle in transportation to accomplish that.

HIGH MARKS.

Congressman Osborne's majority of 75,000 makes all other Congressional high-water marks look like the big dreuth. It seems like an adventure in higher mathematics.

IN THE WOOD.

The merchant was advertising "all-wooden overcoats," but the haughty proof-reader let it go in the paper as "all-wooden." Men have always steered clear of wooden overcoats if they could, and yet it is possible for a wooden overcoat to be poplar.

REPROACHFUL.

A naturalist says that canaries and all genuine song birds indicate either fear or disdain in the presence of our jazz music. Put on a record of the "Livery Stable Blues" and a self-respecting nightingale will burst into tears of anger and reproach. A canary bird condemned to listen to a jazz band rendition of "Whoa, Bill!" tried to drown itself in its water dish. And yet they say that song birds have no intellect!

BULKING LARGE.

The League of Nations is meeting at Geneva, opening November 15 with nearly 1000 officials and representatives present. There are delegates from forty-one of the forty-five countries now pledging allegiance to the League and these include two former Presidents, two former Premiers, two heads of Senates and one Speaker of the House of Representatives, nine Cabinet ministers, seven former Cabinet heads, four ambassadors and twenty foreign ministers. It will be the most representative group of world diplomats ever assembled. Japan has already over eighty secretaries and delegates on hand. Practically every country is represented but Russia, Turkey, Mexico and the United States, and Russia will be there unofficially. This is the League that is expected to dissolve itself at a word from Washington.

WESTWARD HO!

Probably at this moment thousands of fairly-fixed Americans are on their way to California by the overland route. They are not traveling in prairie schooners or on horseback, but are journeying pleasantly and comfortably by the grace of Henry Ford or some other masterful mechanic. The present season will show the greatest chain of auto arrivals the State has ever known. They are coming alike from the big cities and the small towns and remote New England is represented almost as fairly as nearer Iowa. The entire family, including the dog and the canary, are piled in the car and possibly a trailer and a tent will make a camping party of the cruise. But always it is in the direction of Southern California—the land of sunshine and good roads. When a railway ticket costs a couple of hundred dollars journeying in an upholstered buzz wagon is not so bad. Anyhow, thousands are trying it because they cannot even find room in one of Mr. Pullman's sleepers.

ALL ON A LEVEL.

The French newspapers, in making further comment on the election of Harding and the relation of this country to the League, admit that the League can be strengthened and improved, but if there are to be reservations or amendments they should be for all and not merely for the United States. The great purpose of the League is to equalize the strong and weak and confer the benefits of peace upon all. As one Paris paper says: "Why should we contract more extended obligations than the United States?" The French interpretations should be the same as ours. The French government would be satisfied with a new deal. The French were never over-enthusiastic over the peace treaty or the covenant, but accepted the joint document as being the best obtainable at the time and under the circumstances. The papers all agree that the covenant can be easily amended and there is no objection to change, but the status of the United States should be the same as her allens.

HOME BUILDING.

An agreement is said to have been reached in the building trades in Chicago whereby there will be no general strike until next May at least. There has been such a slump in building in Chicago because of labor troubles that there was very little doing when the first frost came, and because of the weather there will not be very much new construction until next May, anyway. The men at work are mighty lucky to have jobs and they have further promised that they will not loaf or soldier—in return for which the present wage schedule will be maintained. But if a man doesn't work satisfactorily he can be at once fired by the contractor without any flareback by the union. The building permits in Los Angeles have been heavier than those of Chicago for several months, although that city has a more desperate housing problem than our own. Union men out of work have been flocking to Chicago in great numbers and now cannot find homes because union strikes put a crimp in the season's building operations. The workers and their wives are the final sufferers in all strikes.

TOM CAMPBELL OF ARIZONA.

To the bushel baskets of congratulation that are coming to Gov. Campbell of Arizona The Times would add its own contribution. So many Arizonans come to Los Angeles of summers and so many here have finally established themselves there is good warrant for the local claim of close kinship to the Sun-kissed Land and for our interest in things Arizonan. In the career of Tom Campbell this interest is especially keen.

Six years ago Campbell was elected as Governor of Arizona in protest against the existence in his State of political conditions that gave control to sympathizers of the I.W.W. After serving a year without pay he was dumped out on judicial ratification of the legality of the vote of a large precinct where the ballots, according to good evidence, had been changed against him at the will of the counters. Two years ago, on much the same issues, he was re-elected by a plurality of a few hundred votes over a candidate who would have continued the same old regime. Now comes the gratifying news that Campbell goes back to the executive office with a majority of about 6000 votes, after a campaign in which the opposition appears to have left no stone unturned or unthrown.

In Campbell's first election the dominant reason was a wish for a change from radicalism. In the second there was addition of sympathy for a clean man believed to have been "jobbed." In his third success it is clear was contained a vote of appreciation for service well performed.

Now the Arizona people can look forward to real State administration. With Campbell into the Statehouse goes almost a full set of Republican officials. Heretofore the Governor has been surrounded by hostile political influences that blocked his efforts at many points and sought continually to discredit him with the voters. Each of the houses of the Legislature had a two-thirds majority of Democrats who played horse with his vetoes at will. From late dispatches there is hope that at least one of the new legislative chambers will have a Republican majority in control.

The good news coming from Arizona seems almost incredible, with the State sending Harding electors and a Republican Senator, as well as electing Republicans to most of its State offices. But it's no dream. For a couple of years, at least, Arizona is to have a State administration marked by strength, ability, probity and patriotism, one in which development of resources, administrative economy and businesslike methods will replace the blind abandonment to Socialistic fads following the first year of Statehood.

GOMPERS SEEKS BALM.

Samuel Gompers, in his statement on the outcome of the elections, tries to obscure the fact that the candidate and the party with which he has repeatedly aligned himself and for which he has urged unionists to vote were literally buried at the polls. In order to keep his face he has switched around and says that his old argument for nonpartisan activity by unionists is vindicated by the results. This in spite of the fact that, as the spokesman of organized labor, he pleaded with labor to vote for Mr. Cox.

As a matter of fact, Gompers and his element in this country got the setback of their lives. The people not only went on record against any fantastically autocratic foreign policy, but also against that peculiarly vicious type of class domination of government which Gompers was able to make effective while the Democratic party was in power. He has just about as much right to feel elated or upheld as has Mr. Wilson or Mr. Cox.

It is just that attitude of constant shiftiness which has lost Gompers even the position which he once held as a factionalist. He has tried to ride two horses so long that he now finds himself trudging along on foot, with a greatly diminished following. For a while he was able to win the sympathy of a certain type of hopeful employer and citizen who thought that Gompers represented the one restraining element in an organization otherwise dedicated to turmoil. But his course has taken from him that last distinction and he stands out as a class leader who has alternately counseled moderation and whipped up violence.

When the labor-unionists defied the government or threatened to leave the country cold and hungry his voice was not raised on the side of the general welfare or of patriotism. He let his underlings do the dirty work in the steel strike, but never condemned them. When the wave of outlaw strikes was sweeping across the country he did nothing to really check that wild outbreak of violence and that wholesale repudiation of contracts.

Gompers has consistently preached upheaval in general terms and has occasionally tried to check his followers when he saw that they were about to ruin themselves, but for the most part he has sown discord and then retreated to a safe distance to await the turbulent harvest. His announcement that labor would not consider itself bound by any legislation which it regarded as unfair to it, made at a critical time and in connection with specific legislation, was in fact so revolutionary as to surpass in seriousness the utterances for which many other radicals are now behind the bars. Similarly, his effort, when the welfare of the nation depended on vastly stimulated production, to hold the creative energies of America down to the thin drip-drip of output which characterizes the shackled routine of unionism was diabolical in the extreme.

The people voted unmistakably against ultimatums to governments and ultimatums to consumers. They have wearied of the walking delegate and of the sower of Bolshevism. They are through with the leader who seeks to place the part above the whole and who preaches violence while posing as the apostle of order and integrity in industry.

Since Gompers saw fit to take a very noisy part in the recent campaign and since he is seeking to draw some conclusions from it he need only look facts in the face to realise that he was repudiated along with the rest, and that, as the prophet of revolt, he but shrieks into deaf ears and preaches an unrest of which the world has already had more than enough.

One of the winners in the Olympic Games saved the lives of three persons imperiled by fire in his home town the other day. Showing that even a prize athlete may sometimes be of practical service to his fellows.

We Must Keep 'Em Up!

EMERGENCY FLEET.

To inefficiency rather than villainy is doubtless due the major part of the waste and extravagance disclosed so far in the Congressional investigation of the activities of the Emergency Fleet Corporation during the war. While charges of theft and corruption of employees are made in a report filed with the House committee, the evidence on which these charges are based has not yet been officially examined; and a certain amount of animus is apparent in the report.

There can be no disguising the fact that the affairs of the Emergency Fleet Corporation were, for the most part, wretchedly handled. Many of the employees owed their appointments to political influence, and they appear to have given little thought to whether they were serving the public, so long as they were looking after the personal interests of their political bosses.

From the beginning the corporation was organized on so vast a scale that its operation was bound to be cumbersome. Politics and red tape combined to make efficient service impossible. Under such conditions it is not surprising that there was gross wastage of government funds, that contracts were awarded according to the political standing of the bidders, and that the chief object of some of those in charge was to get as much money as possible out of the Federal treasury and into the pockets of deserving Democrats.

That "cost-plus" contract under which so many vessels were constructed was as gross an example of inefficiency as the war afforded. Under the terms of that contract the builder of a ship was paid by the government the entire cost of construction and 10 per cent in addition for his profits. If a given vessel cost $400,000 to build the builder's profit was $40,000; but, if he employed an unnecessary number of men, paid unwarranted prices for material and encouraged such waste that the cost of construction rose to $600,000, he received $60,000 profit on the job.

Under such conditions it is not surprising that enormous profits accrued to those who furnished material for the vessels; neither is it surprising that vessels of a given type cost from three to five times as much to construct as they did before the Emergency Fleet Corporation was organized.

Those who are familiar with the maladministration of the Federal departments by the deserving Democrats will not be surprised to read that the government inspectors were drawn almost exclusively from political lists and that a previous knowledge of ship construction was not considered essential to employment. The report recites that numerous cases are on record "where doctors, veterinary surgeons, barbers, dry goods clerks and others of similarly inept callings were placed as inspectors over work of construction of both plants and ships." This much was to be expected. It was only Democratic inefficiency running true to form. But when the intimation was given that most of these political inspectors secured their positions in order to escape service in the army or navy one begins to feel indignation toward an administration that could be so stupid or so venal.

It is too soon to pass judgment on the truth or falsity of all the charges made. But enough has been disclosed to show that political methods cruder than those of Tammany Hall were employed in the organization and activities of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. Big Democratic politicians in Washington and elsewhere seem to have schemed to have their relatives and political friends protected from overseas service by getting them sinecures with government departments. They protected their hides and fattened their purses while tens of thousands of more deserving men gave their lives as a heroic sacrifice for the country these crooked politicians and vile slackers were pilfering and betraying.

When the investigations are finally made the American people will be more interested in ferreting out and punishing these draft evaders than in strictures on the ignorant maladministration of those in charge of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. It seems to be a fatal weakness of the average Democratic politician to regard the mulcting of the government as shrewd business. Men who never robbed an individual in their lives are ready and eager to formulate some conspiracy to get money from the Federal treasury without giving value received. Robbing the government is regarded as a legitimate indoor sport. If a few score of these deserving Democrats could be convicted of misappropriation of Federal funds the object lesson might have a salutary effect on future administrations.

Not even a suspicion of malfeasance in office attaches to Admiral Benson, Charles M. Schwab and other noted Americans who contributed their services to assist in straightening out the tangled skein of emergency fleet construction. These men did wonders, considering the conditions under which they worked. But there were groups of politicians in the different departments organized under the Shipping Board who turned the public service to their personal account, and it was the activities of these groups that caused the investigation now taking place.

KANSAS REBUKES RED-CARD POLITICS.

Both Kansas and Gov. Allen are to be felicitated on the result of the vote yesterday. The question raised by those who sought to defeat Mr. Allen was far more serious than the ordinary issue of a State campaign. All the dangerous elements of good government were engaged in the effort to gain control of Kansas by the overthrow of the Allen administration, running the entire scale, from the advocates of riot and disorder to the unscrupulous, cunning and crooked politicians who sought under cover to gain control of the State government for sinister purposes. It has been many years since Kansas "took a wallop" at so many undesirable influences in its State politics.

The Kansas issue was as clearly defined as the national issue. It was a fight for the maintenance of a government of Kansas for Kansans and by Kansans, just as in the national contest it was a fight to maintain an American government for Americans—and Kansas won its fight. It was the second time this year for the State to give a practical demonstration to its red-card citizens and to its red-card politicians that Kansas can take care of itself with the ballot when it comes to a question of exalting and vindicating its own government.—[Kansas City Times.

VALUE OF THE DOLLAR.

An unidentified magazine writer makes a good point which he might carry still further to advantage. He wants America to get rid of the dangerous and half-baked idea that a dollar is only worth a half or a third of what it was. His philosophy is to remember that it is only the spent dollar that has lost this part of its purchasing power and that the saved dollar is just as valuable as ever it was. Nothing can be lost in assuming that he is right in this, as long as the assumption continues that the time is coming when the price level will descend approximately to normal. That it ever will return to the plane of ten years ago is open to serious doubt. But what is certain and beyond all doubt is that the saved dollar has the same debt-paying power as of old. It may not buy as much in the store, but when it comes to paying a note or lifting a mortgage it will go as far as in the cheapest period in our history.—[St. Paul Pioneer Press.

GENE FIELD'S PRANKS.

Eugene Field and I were seated in a Chicago theater near the stage, and "East Lynne," or some equally tear-forcing play, was being produced. At the moment of high tension, when there was profound silence throughout the house, there burst out a loud "Ha! ha! ha!" and then Field turned to a quiet old gentleman seated by his side and silently denounced him with a look of amazement and condemnation. The audience took it up and all recognized the poor old fellow as the culprit. He blushed and, when the curtain fell, quietly took his hat and slipped out and did not return. Field, who was almost a ventriloquist, was the real offender.—[Melville E. Stone in Collier's Weekly.

THE FIRST OF ARMISTICE DAYS.

BY OTIS M. WILES.

Armistice Day.

Too soon do we forget the true significance of Armistice Day. In two short years treasured memories have been fading into forgetfulness and, with more sane struggles for existence crowding our minds, too quickly are our thoughts becoming oblivious to the incidents of that first Armistice Day. Yet—

At midnight, Nov. 10, 1918, a column of fatigued but resolute men arrived at Laneuville, on the western banks of the Meuse. After weeks of fighting through simmering volcanoes of artillery fire, raking showers of machine-gun bullets and the reeking mire of riddled woods they had enjoyed one night's rest in the reserve line at Tailly and were again coming up to the front line on the Meuse—to ford the death traps hidden in the river.

Though weary and tattered and hungry, they had tasted victory—at St. Mihiel, in the Bois de Banthe-ville, on the heights of Barricourt, at Remonville, Nouart and Tailly—and, like hounds in pursuit of their quarry, were straining at the leash. The battered roads were cluttered with infantry and artillery, cursing and struggling for supremacy of the pock-marked highway and crawling onward toward the river. The guns were rumbling; the earth shook with the concussions of heavy firing; from the woods red flashes pierced the black heavens; on the horizon huge red flares marked where towns were burning.

Into the slimy streets of Laneuville the wearied column stumbled, tripping over fallen wires and timbers into the mire and arising again with a flow of curses on their lips—for war without curses cannot be.

Through the long, dark hours that followed midnight outposts were sent down to the bank and patrols strove to swim the river under machine-gun fire. Some swam across, some rowed across on rafts and others were pulled across by ropes—and many never came back. Foot bridges were smashed as fast as the engineers could build them, for the crossing of the river was being made without the aid of American artillery. On the opposite banks were thousands of civilians in the little French towns.

Back in the town of Laneuville, once a picturesque village that was now reduced to a shambles, another detachment of Yanks threaded their way through the darkness up the hill and across the moat to the great chateau. Battered and torn, it stood as a mighty sentinel overlooking the enemy positions. In its doorways and courtyard many men had died, but behind its heavy walls, which no enemy shell had yet been able to pierce, the more fortunate ones were safe.

"We feel sorry for you," said the men of the outpost that was being relieved. "This is the gateway to hell."

Safely inside the great walls of the chateau small groups of men crawled through the dark passages in search of food. There were potatoes, meat, flour, sauerkraut, sugar and chicory, and the ever-hungry doughboys appeased their appetites while awaiting their turn to relieve the patrols on the river bank.

At dawn on the 11th the machine guns were sputtering down on the river. Shells, coming from all directions, were screeching their death songs overhead. A battery of Yank seventy-fives, using the chateau as their breastworks, was hurling tons of steel into the enemy positions outside the unharmed towns across the blood-stained river. An enemy battery was trying in vain to find the Yank seventy-fives and occasionally would rip another gaping hole in the chateau roof or tear a ton of stone from the impregnable walls. Yet the Yanks sat serenely behind its protecting walls flipping flapjacks through the early morning hours.

None of them knew how long the wanton exchange of murdering was to continue. Some of them were ignorant of its cause. They were fighting their best to quicken their journey homeward and to avenge the deaths of their buddies who lay back in the shallow, muddy graves.

At 10 o'clock in the morning a lieutenant, patiently separating cooties from his shirt, casually remarked:

"They're going to cease firing at 11 o'clock."

Cease firing? That would mean the end of the war! Impossible—with the guns still rumbling, the machine guns still sputtering down on the river, even as they had been doing for years. A sergeant laughed and an automatic gunner muttered, "damn fool." Shell shock was a common malady on the front. The lieutenant had said something about "armistice," but it was an alien word that few had ever heard before.

An hour passed. Then the sergeant cast a perplexed look at the lieutenant. The little world of destruction around them was like a sepulcher, deathly quiet. The ears of the men were ringing. They could hear each other breathing—a phenomenon—and through the window they could hear the swishing of the trees, and a bird singing.

Armistice Day or miracle—they had ceased firing. There was no shouting, for they were too tired to shout. And the firing was never revived. More flapjacks, shedding of muddy garments for the first time in weeks, a bath in the murky river without fear of being shot, a real night's sleep in the evening and a triumphant march across the river in the morning.

For this day armies had grappled through four years of wholesale slaughter. For this day seven and a half million men had died, including Doc Tindle and Herring and Devine and the rest of the marked lads who lay back yonder in the mud.

It was the first Armistice Day—a day to be remembered, yet too easily forgotten.

Just as Col. Watterson predicted, at the end of the second term of President Wilson there is a Wilson party, but not a Democratic party.

THE WET HOME.

I stand upon the shore and peep at creatures that infest the deep, all sorts of things with fins and scales, from shrimps and lobsters up to whales. (Of course, you'll say, with scornful grins, these haven't either scales or fins; smart alecks always gather near to show where little breaks appear.) As I was saying, on the shore I stand and hear the breakers roar and wonder how the things that roam forever in that briny home can stand such moisture all their lives and not get mad and beat their wives. No magazines or books are there, no glowing hearth, no easy chair; there's nothing for a fish to do but soak itself the long years through and dodge the bigger fish that strive to catch and swallow it alive. There's no place for a fish to go, no lecture hall or movie show. I have a sympathy profound for all the fish that scoot around and ply their fins and wag their tails, the sharks, the devilfish, the whales. I would invite them from the deep and give them beds in which to sleep, and places where they might get dry, and noggins of denatured rye, but they can't understand the tongue in which the invitation's sprung. And, maybe, as they see me stand in solemn grandeur on the land they wonder why I don't wade in and like them wield the trenchant fin.

WALT MASON.

The American's Creed—for you and me.

NOBLESSE OBLIGE

By John Strong,

AN AMERICAN.

The world's greatest distinction!

In all history the only nation in which the distinction is equally high for every citizen.

The American's greatest fault is the lack of deep respect for this genuine dignity and distinction.

Even in Rome, whose citizens gloried in their citizenship, the citizen was a "class" inferior to the soldier. The military caste prevailed.

Until we reverence our little "Citizen, U.S.A.," more than we do; until we dignify it with more of Noblesse Oblige in our living there will grow up economic and social abuses which our fathers sought to guard against.

Abuses in America are your fault and mine; they are not the fault of our institution.

When it means something to you and me, besides a smile and a jest, to earnestly declare ourselves an American, or a "Citizen, U.S.A.," there will be fewer things in America to find fault with or cause discontent.

America is a religion; the religion of the rights of man won; the obligation of the rights of man to preserve. Whatever our religious belief or unbelief, America is an adjunct that should deeply stir and hold our souls in reverence.

It cannot be overstated or overemphasized, neither can we too deeply deplore its lifelessness in our lives.

America IS the land of the free!

Whatever its faults, they are the faults you and I put into it by the carelessness of our regard for it—by our forgetfulness of Noblesse Oblige.

APE NOT OUR FOREFATHER.

One reason that human and prehuman fossil remains are rare is that the ancestors of man lived partly among the trees and forests; this does not mean that they were arboreal; they lived chiefly on the ground. Even when living in a more open country the ancestors of man were alert to escape the floods and sandstorms which entombed animals like the horse of the open country and of the plains. Hence fossil remains of man as well as of his ancestors are extremely rare until the period of burial began. Only two races, the Heidelberg and the Piltdown, are certainly known from the river drifts and gravels before the period of burials.

The ascent of man as one of the primates was parallel with that of the families of apes. Man has a long line of ancestry of his own, perhaps two million or more years in length. He is not descended from any known form of ape, either living or fossil. One hypothetical ancestral stage, of which we have a small jaw found in the Oligocene of Northern Egypt, is the Propliopithecus, which, in the opinion of Prof. W. K. Gregory of the American Museum, our leading authority on the anthropoids, is at least structurally ancestral to the higher apes and man—in other words a possible prehuman link. From such an animal possibly four branches were given off leading respectively to the living orangs, the gibbons, the chimpanzees, the gorillas and some of their fossil ancestors.

All these great man apes are distinguished from man by being more or less arboreal in habit; they are shown to be very far removed from the large-brained walking line which gave rise to our ancestors. Our own immediate ancestors did not live in trees; they were erect or semi-erect for a very long period, perhaps as far back as Miocene time. Back of this, perhaps a million years ago, was a pre-human, arboreal stage.—[Henry Fairfield Osborn.

DRY TODAY, IS THE FORECAST.

Grand Jury Not to Take Up Whisky Quiz for Week.

However, Four Bills, One for Bourbon, Are Promised.

Chief Hits Report of Water Haul in Liquor Cases.

Despite reports to the contrary, the "dry" sign will be hung today over the doings of the Federal grand jury in the so-called whisky inquiry. The reason is that U. S. Atty. O'Connor went to Fresno last night to attend to some matters in connection with the Federal court hearings there, before U. S. Dist. Judge Trippet, and to the further fact that the camel squad is still said to be shy on testimony of the affirmative kind. As a result the jury will consider routine matters.

Unless the signs shift from dry to wet suddenly, there will be no meeting of the grand jury on the liquor lack or abundance subject until next Thursday.

According to present indications, a report involving four persons, one said to be prominent in Bourbon circles, will be returned either Thursday or Friday.

It was stated yesterday that Special Agents Lucas and Weisbach, the latter sent here by E. C. Yellowley, State prohibition director, who was appointed to succeed Lorin A. Handley, have made rapid progress the past week, rounding up the evidence upon which the expected indictments will be based.

These agents being unacquainted in the city, had a hard time getting started on their inquiry, it is stated. They did not know whom to trust, but they have now placed themselves en rapport with the situation and valuable work is being done, the word is. Their lack of activity-producing results was at one time the subject of adverse criticism in official quarters, but with the mist of uncertainty cleared away, what once gave evidence of being a water haul is now said to body forth like a pay load.

Witnesses supposed to know something of the asserted violations of law will be further questioned in private today and the final round-up of facts secured to be further utilized next Thursday, when the voting on the proposed indictments will take place.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Lawson is assisting U. S. Atty. O'Connor in the prosecution of the investigation, and he pays a high tribute to the value of the work that has been done by Special Agents Weisbach and Lucas.

Lucas was originally sent here from Washington at the personal request of Internal Revenue Collector Carter, who thought that the rumors in regard to the asserted violations of the law as to intoxicants should be cleared up.

Regarding the statement that "six indictments had been withheld," U. S. Atty. O'Connor said yesterday that there was not a word of truth in the assertion. No indictments have been prepared, as no testimony up to this time has been sufficient to warrant the return of any indictment in the specific cases to be reported on later, he declared.

DISABLED VETERANS GUESTS OF A.W.O.L.

OVERSEAS WOMEN HOSTESSES TO THREE HUNDRED AT CHEERFUL REUNION.

Three hundred disabled veterans were guests yesterday at a dinner given by the American Women's Overseas Leagues the A.W.O.L. Some without arms, others without legs, gassed, blinded, maimed, they met again and, seemingly undaunted by what they termed their "luck," they joked and told of funny incidents that occurred before 11 o'clock on that day two years ago.

The dinner was given by the A.W.O.L. to the soldiers, and the women who also had served overseas joined in the exchange of reminiscences and in thanksgiving. Nurses, surgeons, women "Y" workers, Salvation Army lassies, Red Cross girls, all met again with the men they had cared for and nursed "over there."

Veterans of other wars went to the little church on Fifteenth street and exchanged stories of adventure, pain and glory across the dining tables. But the only tales heard on the lips of the men who served in France were tales of the other fellow. They had nothing to say of themselves or their exploits.

One man, a leg missing, stood smiling beside his girl wife and exhibited his 3-month-old baby. Another, his neck broken and his head resting in a metal frame, joked with a blind man, who laughed with the rasping laugh of one who has been gassed. Others with arms missing danced with former nurses and workers.

Jack Rowe, who had charge of the disabled veterans yesterday, directed operations and saw that the men were taken to the dinner and to the football game in Pasadena in the afternoon. Harry Steinberg had charge of the dinner. Orville O. Jonas, president of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, was one of the hosts.

Following the dinner at noon, the men were taken to Pasadena in machines to see the football game between the Army and the Navy. In the evening a second meal was served at the same place by women members of the families of disabled veterans.

TWO HURT IN CRASH; DRIVER PUT IN JAIL.

AUTO COLLIDES WITH SWITCH ENGINE; MOTORIST WAS DRUNK, DOCTORS SAY.

Two men were painfully injured and an automobile driver was arrested early yesterday morning as the result of a collision between a motor car and a switch engine at Butte street and Santa Fe avenue. The two injured were treated at the Receiving Hospital. The driver, charged with intoxication, was locked in the City Jail.

W. C. Keever, 34 years of age, of 525-A East Sixth street, the driver, was not injured in the crash, which demolished the automobile. He was pronounced intoxicated by police surgeons.

James C. Moore, 28 years of age, of 843 Maple avenue, and his brother, A. C. Moore of the same address, passengers in the automobile, were both injured. They were treated by Assistant Police Surgeon Goodrich and then removed to their homes.

According to the police, Keever was driving north on Santa Fe avenue when the switch engine passed in front of his machine. The officers were told by witnesses that there was ample time to avoid an accident but Keever failed to stop the automobile.

FOR CHRISTMAS CHEER.

Mayor Plans Rodeo to Raise Funds to Make Needy Happy.

Preliminary plans were made yesterday afternoon at a conference held in the office of Mayor Snyder, for a two days' wild west rodeo for the benefit of the Mayor's Christmas fund for the needy. Representatives of the leading motion picture producing companies of the city attended the conference and agreed to co-operate with the Mayor in staging a rodeo.

Leading motion-picture stars will also probably appear at one or more theater benefits for the fund.

Mrs. J. T. Anderson, chairman of the Council of Community Service, will have charge of the fund, as she did last year, when many poor families were made happy with useful gifts.

NONSUPPORT WINS DIVORCE.

Mrs. Fannie M. Reid was granted a divorce by Judge Willis yesterday from Edwin H. Reid, and was awarded $60 a month for the support of herself and child. Mrs. Reid charged her husband with failing to properly support her. He countered with a charge that she had been seen with other men. By a stipulation, Mrs. Reid will keep the furniture and Mr. Reid the money in their bank account.

ASKS FORTUNE, DUE TO CAR AND AUTO CRASH.

Katharine Genzel of Arizona, brought an action in the United States District Court yesterday, against the Pacific Electric, for $75,245 damages, as a result of an accident at Tenth street and Santa Monica Boulevard, Sawtelle, in which her hip was fractured. She asserts in her bill that the electric car was traveling at the rate of forty miles an hour when it struck her automobile, which was driven by Joseph Rackerby.

PURCHASING AGENTS MEETING AT FRESNO.

State, county and municipal purchasing agents of California yesterday began a three-day meeting at Fresno. Mayor W. F. Toomey of the Raisin City gave an address of welcome. A. S. Ballagh of the Occidental Life Insurance Company represents the Los Angeles Purchasing Agents' Association at the meeting. Among the speakers will be H. G. McMillan, State purchasing agent, State Senator Sarkey of Martinez and H. F. Feagans of San Francisco.

Brilliant Ball at Pasadena Feature of the Great Armistice Day Program.

Southern California gave itself up yesterday to impressive observance of Armistice Day. Practically every city had its patriotic exercises, followed by sports and presentation of Victory medals and generally the day was wound up with a ball under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion.

Pasadena held the most notable celebration outside of Los Angeles. The big affair concluded at night with a brilliant ball and reception given at the Hotel Maryland by the American Legion.

The victorious Pacific Fleet football team and other Navy officers and men, including Admiral Hugh Rodman, commander of the fleet, and the same, but vanquished Army eleven from March Field and its entourage were specially honored guests at the affair. Hundreds of "gobs" from the fleet, Army men, Pasadena war veterans, their friends and townspeople also attended.

In the receiving line at the reception which preceded the ball were Admiral and Mrs. Rodman, Maj. and Mrs. R. E. Yount of the Army; Herbert Hahn, commander of the local Legion post; Miss Mildred Landreth, chairman of the ball committee, and Earl Messer, chairman of the general Armistice Day committee.

GREAT CROWD AT BEACH.

Venice concluded a day of Armistice celebration with a display of fireworks from end of the pier. In the afternoon, after a band concert, State Senator Lyon and Walter K. Tuller addressed a crowd of more than 8000 persons. At the Ocean Park Plaza Frank J. Tyrrel was the speaker at patriotic exercises.

Santa Monica's parade of patriotic floats was more than a mile in length. The float entered by the Santa Monica G.A.R. won the first prize for fraternal organizations, and that of the George Harts Flower Shop was awarded first prize for the displays by commercial organizations.

Alhambra's parade was followed by a program at Library Park where Dr. James Whitcomb Brougher was the orator. The streets were crowded with spectators and there was a great throng at the memorial service. Judge H. S. Farrel, commander of the local post of the American Legion, presided.

Eagle Rock City's former service men were guests of the Women's Twentieth Century Club. Rev. E. Morgan Isaac was the speaker at the accompanying patriotic exercises. In the afternoon formal exercises were held, at which Prof. Shriber of Occidental College made the principal address.

Glendale Girl Scouts made their first public appearance yesterday when they marched in the Glendale parade which celebrated the anniversary of the signing of the armistice. Miss Gladys Sharpe is leader of the troop, which followed the veterans of three wars in the line of march.

FROM FORT MacARTHUR.

Long Beach veterans, city officials, fraternal societies, patriotic organizations and school children participated in a parade which was several blocks long. Mayor Lisenby, presided at the exercises, introducing Maj. N. E. Bailey of Fort MacArthur as the speaker of the day.

Redondo Beach, Hermosa Beach and Manhattan, joined in celebrating Armistice Day. After a parade through the three cities, led by the G.A.R. Drum Corps of Inglewood, exercises were held at the Redondo Beach Band Pavilion, with Dr. Andrew Lobinger of Los Angeles as chief speaker.

Monrovia enjoyed baseball and football games yesterday afternoon as part of the Armistice Day program. On the diamond, the American Legion nine beat the Ross Field team by a score of 6 to 5, and the Monrovia High School football team scored 19, against the zero of the gridiron players from Alhambra. There was a street dance in the evening.

Pomona American Legion members put a ball team into the field against the city team yesterday afternoon, and won by a score of 15 to 10. There was not other celebration, but the town was decorated and business was suspended for the day.

ORANGE COUNTY.

Anaheim was the center for Orange county's celebration. The parade was over two miles in length. Deputations attended from Orange, Fullerton and Santa Ana. At the latter place there was also a separate ceremony in the afternoon, when Victory medals were presented, and the American Legion gave a benefit theater performance at night.

Redlands people enjoyed a parade in the morning, in which many beautiful floats were entered. The city contributed a symbolical float, representing "War's Return to Industry." All business houses were closed, and the streets were hung with flags. A baseball game in the afternoon was followed by a dance in the evening.

Ventura's streets echoed to the tramp of 1000 veterans who marched in uniform for the first time since demobilization. A baseball game, dancing, and a special luncheon served by Ventura women for about 1000 women visitors from out of town were features of day.

Santa Barbara saw 600 men from five warships of the Navy, march with 600 former service men in the Armistice Day parade. Veterans of the Mexican, Civil and Spanish wars also marched, and listened later to an address by Dr. A. Grant Evans of Montecito. A baseball game in Riverside chapter of the American Legion was host to sixteen disabled war veterans from Arrowhead Hospital yesterday at the parade and football game, which were features of the Armistice Day celebration. Mt. Rubidoux was decorated by Boy Scouts with the flags of the Allied nations, and memorial exercises were held at the foot of Serra Cross. In the afternoon, Peter B. Kyne, the author, who was a captain in the Grizzlies, delivered an address on "America for Americans."

Puente residents were entertained yesterday by an "all-home" program put on by La Puente Post of the American Legion. The Armistice Day celebration included addresses by Puente men, a picnic dinner, out-of-door games, races, a baseball game and a vaudeville performance. the afternoon, and boxing contests at night, completed the program.

San Diego remembered the hour of the signing of the Armistice, and at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, every whistle in the city was blown for one minute. A crowd of 10,000 people assembled at Balboa Park to hear a musical program by the band from the U.S.S. Brooklyn, and by the Spreckels organ. Prof. J. H. Hildebrand of the University of California, was the principal speaker.

LEGION MEN WIN.

San Bernardino stores, offices and schools all closed so that the entire city might join in the Armistice Day activities. A feature was the football game between an American Legion team and the Sherman Institute Indians which the Legion men won by 7 to 6. A banquet and ball were given tonight.

Brawley invited all other American Legion posts in Imperial Valley to attend its celebration and there was a large turnout. State Commander Buron O. Fitts arrived with the El Centro delegation and addressed a crowd numbering thousands in Depot Park. Calexico, Imperial and Calipatria sent delegations.

Holtville's observance began with an address by Homer C. Chaney at the high school, who warned against the danger of forgetting the ideals for which the war was fought. He expressed the belief that President-elect Harding would help perpetuate those ideals and insure the peace of the world.

Porterville staged a parade, races, airplane stunts, a football game and a grand ball. Gov. Stephens spoke on the significance of the day. He said those who preached destructive doctrines should either be locked up in America or locked out of America. Prof. David Starr Jordan spoke at night on the spirit of democracy.

Lindsay and Tulare posts of the American Legion fathered the proceedings at Lindsay. Chief interest was taken in the awarding of Victory medals. Capt. H. C. Billings of San Francisco spoke. After the parade there was a program of athletic events.

BIG FOOTBALL GAME.

Dinuba was visited by hundreds from the surrounding country to witness the program under the auspices of Alta and Selma posts. The big football game between the posts was a drawing card and so was the dance which wound up the day's program.

Exeter displayed its patriotism with a parade and then enjoyed a wild west show followed by a street carnival and dancing. Hon. James M. Burke was the orator of the day. The Reedley football champions played the Exeter All-stars.

Bakersfield's celebration brought together a crowd from many sections of Kern county. State Senator J. C. Irwin of Hanford voiced a strong appeal for a League of Nations to prevent future wars. Athletic contests featured the afternoon and there was a dance at night.

Fresno's former service men were presented with Victory medals yesterday morning after a patriotic program, which was enjoyed by a crowd of 10,000 people, had been held at the Courthouse. Col. R. P. Wheat was speaker at the exercises which were preceded by a parade.

CRIME INCREASES.

Prohibition Fails to Work Wonders in Orange County.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 11.—Crime is on the increase in Orange county in spite of prohibition, according to figures made public today by County Jailer Budge Lacy, showing an increasing number of prisoners received in the County Jail each month.

Last year's average, ending June 30, was thirty-six prisoners a month or a total of 438. Receipt of prisoners since that time are July, 36; August, 31; September, 49; October, 64; November to date, 26. At the present rate it is estimated more than 600 men will have served terms in jail when the present fiscal year ends, which would be more than during the last year when saloons were operating.

FAVORABLE TERRITORY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENTURA, Nov. 11.—A gasser was brought in this week on wild cat territory on the Joe Lewis ranch at Camarillo. The depth was 436 feet. The well was finally capped and the flow stopped. The prospects for oil are said to be good. A syndicate of Los Angeles and Ventura county men is behind the operations.

BANDIT KILLER NOT McCABE OF OAKLAND.

MISTAKE IN IDENTITY ADDS TO MYSTERY IN SLAYING OF LANCASTER OFFICER.

Identification of the bandit who shot and killed Constable H. E. Glidden at Lancaster on Tuesday and was himself slain, is still in doubt, according to information received by the Sheriff's office yesterday. First information to the county authorities was to the effect that the man was W. L. McCabe of Oakland, but it is now said that McCabe is alive and well and is in San Jose. The owner of the auto has not been found.

Various persons have communicated with the Sheriff and intimated that they may know the man killed. Several Colton people will go to Lancaster today to see if they can identify the corpse. The Sheriff is trying to solve the mystery of what lies back of the crude attempt to camouflage the car by use of yellow paint and the quick action of the man in shooting the constable.

FACTS ABOUT TANLAC ARE GIVEN TO

Special Representative Tells Why It Has Become Most Talked of Medicine in the World Today.

NO GREAT MYSTERY ABOUT IT, HE SAYS

Merit Alone Has Confirmed It in the Minds of the People All Over the American Continent.

A. C. Cole, special representative of Tanlac, the medicine that has created such a sensation all over the United States and Canada, is in Los Angeles to supervise the distribution here. He will make his headquarters at the Owl Drug Store, 5th and Broadway, where he will personally interview hundreds of people who have purchased the preparation during the past few weeks and have reported astonishingly good results.

When seen today, he gave some highly interesting facts about Tanlac and the remarkable results achieved by it.

"Contrary to popular opinion," he stated, "there is no great mystery about Tanlac, except in so far as the chemistry of the human body itself and what it does with substances taken into it, is a mystery. Some of the ingredients of Tanlac have been known and used as medicine for centuries. Others are of more recent discovery, but every one of them is of recognized therapeutic value and used by the medical profession everywhere. Tanlac is simply a co-mingling of these medicinal elements in a way hitherto unknown and which brings out their curative and reconstructive powers to a most remarkable degree. Briefly, it allays irritation of the stomach, strengthens the digestive and assimilative organs, builds up and revitalizes the whole system, and gives the body new powers of resistance and strength. Gratifying gains in weight are not uncommon, especially where a person has suffered from undernourishment brought on by dyspepsia, indigestion, illness, operation or other causes.

Navy goat, who wagered his blanket against the black and trappings of the Army mule, the result of a certain football massacre at Tournament Park today, last night was nibbling satisfaction his rival's coat of colors.

Fielding made 2 yards, Ingram 9, Roberts 15 through center, Benoist 15 the same place, Ingram 5 and Roberts took the ball over. Ingram kicked his second goal, having missed the attempt after the first touchdown.

Fielding made 10 yards and then 44, Ingram went 15 yards through left guard, Roberts dashed 27 yards around the Army left end. Ingram went over from the 11-yard line, carrying a couple of Army tacklers on his back.

Experts in the stands were saying that the Navy backfield was the best combination that had ever played on a field in Southern California, bar none.

Fielding 11, Ingram 9, Roberts 10, then 5, a forward pass Ingram to Jordan for 12 yards, and Ingram went over for another touchdown.

Fielding scored the sixth touchdown to open the second quarter, on a beautiful running forward pass from Ingram, the latter kicking goal. In fact Mr. Ingram, the 215-pound antelope of the Navy team, kicked fifteen goals out of seventeen trials. After he departed from the scene in the fourth quarter to give an ambitious gob a chance to do something, Mr. Arthur, who holds down the center position on the team, crashed a goal between the uprights for the eighteenth and final touchdown.

OH, SO EASY!

Fielding scored the next touchdown on a forty-yard forward pass from Ingram, loping over the line with no one near him.

Coach Andy Smith went in for the Army at this stage of the parade, and the Army team, greatly enheartened at his entrance, went to work with a zeal to hold the Navy and force Roberts to punt, the sec-

MANUAL ARTS AND L. A. HIGH MEET IN CRUCIAL FOOTBALL ARGUMENT THIS AFTERNOON.

Glenn Whittle's Los Angeles High School football team, undefeated so far this season, will clash with the Manual Arts eleven on the Pioneers' field this afternoon in the crucial game of the three on the City League schedule.

If the Pioneers win today they will go into the game with the Poly crew for the championship next week an even money bet. Poly defeated Manual 23 to 10, but the dope went askew in that contest. The Artisans went into the game heavy favorites, and came out bad losers.

L. A. doesn't figure to wallop Manual today, but the gameness and courage of the Pioneer scrappers has carried them through to victory in practically every game this year, and the same factors may bring about success today.

Poly goes to Hollywood for a tilt with Coach Fred Johnson's Foothillers. Hollywood has had indifferent success, having won two and lost two games this fall. The Red and White crew have the beef and some speed and are liable to become dangerous at most any time.

The Lincoln-Pasadena brawl at Lincoln should be one of the toughest of the day. The Crown City eleven, potentially a very strong one, has had bad luck all season on account of injuries. Lincoln is ahead of it in the City League standings with one victory and three defeats, while Pasadena boasts one victory and four downfalls.

NEVADA PRIMED FOR FRAY.

Trojans' Football Opponents All Set for Tomorrow's Big Battle.

Headed by Coach R. R. O. Courtright, the University of Nevada's football prides will bust into town this morning all primed and set for their game with U.S.C. on Bovard field tomorrow afternoon.

The big squeeze of the Nevada gang, which is eighteen strong in point of numbers, is "Rabbit" Bradshaw, the diminutive quarter-back whom the experts have been pointing at with an all-American wheeze in their voices.

ONLY BIRD.

When the University of California defeated Nevada, 79 to 7, Bradshaw was the only bird on the Sagebrush who could ramble through the staunch Bear line and he did so well, that he finally drifted across the last chalk mark for a touchdown.

Coach Gloomy Henderson of U.S.C. thinks so highly of Bradshaw that he has been giving his flank men a special course of instruction all week long in the gentle art of streaming down the field and nailing a man who receives punts in his tracks.

Henderson will work his men at 1 o'clock this afternoon, giving the field over to the visitors after the Trojan practice.

NEW LINE-UP.

The Trojan coach said last night that he will present a different alignment in the backfield when the teams take the field tomorrow afternoon. Slippery Leadingham, the 146-pound fullback, will devote his veteran services to playing quarterback and running the team in the best approved fashion.

Dean, Butterfield and Kincaid will compose Slippery's engine of attack. Slippery has played quarter in several of the games this fall, but only for part of a period.

BEST TEAM.

This is the best scoring machine Henderson has put on the field this year, and unless all signs fail the football populace will see tomorrow the best U.S.C. team that has performed at any time this year. Defensively U.S.C. has shown up in splendid fashion all year, but because all the games have been won in the first quarter has never been called upon to uncover much of her aerial attack or trick plays.

Nevada has fair weight in the line, and in this respect the Trojans probably will not have much of an advantage. A 180-pound guard and a 190-pounder with a 170-pound tackle and a 210-pound baby give an average displacement that ought to make the Cardinal and Gold boys hump their carcasses.

Nevada has won four games and lost one this season, and has only lost two in the last two years. Bradshaw at quarter and Capt. Reed are the best players. The team is noted on the Coast for its open style of play and ability to handle the forward pass. Nevada has been selected to go to the Hawaiian Islands during the holidays and play two games. The tentative lineup:

SANTA CLARA SAYS "NO" TO WHITMAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA CLARA, Nov. 11.—Notification that it could not grant the request of Whitman College, of Walla Walla, Wash., for a series of two football games to be played in 1920 and 1921, was sent to the Whitman athletic authorities by Santa Clara University here, today.

Santa Clara answered that it was too late to make arrangements for the game this year, and the university's prospective schedule next year would not admit of a game then.

DECISION TO MOORE.

SHREVEPORT (La.) Nov. 11.—Pal Moore of Memphis, Tenn. was awarded a referee's decision over Dick Griffin of Fort Worth in a fifteen-round bout today.

PEACE ILLUMINES HORIZON.

Warring Baseball Factions to Meet Today; Johnson Not to Attend.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Nov. 11.—With a dove of peace perched on their shoulders, the warring clubs of the American and National Leagues left tonight for Chicago, where tomorrow they will meet in conference to decide for war or peace in the major leagues.

Predictions were made freely that the eleven club owners of the newly organized National League and the five clubs "loyal" to President Ban Johnson of the American League would agree to end hostilities. While no official announcement has been made, every member of the two major leagues has gone on record as favoring a reorganization in baseball, of the appointment of a new board of control, and the selection of Federal Judge Landis of Chicago as the chairman with a salary of $50,000 a year.

BAN NOT THERE.

When the sixteen club owners go into session tomorrow neither President Johnson nor President Heydler of the National League, will attend. Neither will there be any lawyers or other outsiders. Only the sixteen club owners will take part in the discussion.

Out of the peace negotiations it is expected that the Lasker plan for baseball reorganization will be modified to meet the new situation. The minor leagues have decided upon a "hands off" policy in regard to indorsement of the plan, but they insist upon equal representation with the major leagues, on the new governing body.

MEETING ENDS.

After the minor leagues agreed upon the selection of a committee of six to meet with the major leagues in developing the plan of baseball reorganization, and chose Buffalo, N. Y., for the 1921 meeting, the annual convention was closed. The committee selected to meet with the major league owners probably will not go into conference with them until after the threatened major league war is settled.

It is considered likely that the joint meeting of the three organizations will not be held until February.

The minor leaguers unanimously voted President M. H. Sexton of Rock Island, Ill., an annual salary of $5000. He will devote his full time to league affairs. Sexton has served the minors for twenty years without compensation.

Among league officials chosen as members of the national board of arbitration were:

NAME THREE.

Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American Association; J. Cal Ewing of the Pacific Coast League, and David L. Fultz, president of the International League, as representatives of the Class AA leagues.

Nearly 100 cases involving everything from disputes between clubs over the ownership of players and territorial rights, remain for settlement before the board of arbitration, which probably will be in session until the end of the week.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Nov. 11.—The National Association of Minor Leagues today appointed a committee of six to meet with the American and National leagues to draw up a new governing body of organized baseball. M. H. Sexton of Rock Island, Ill., president of the National Association, will be chairman of the committee.

The other members will be Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American Association, representing the Class AA league; John D. Martin, president of the Southern Association, representing Class A; George H. Maines, president of the Michigan-Ontario League, representing Class B; William Walsh, president of the South Atlantic League, representing Class C, and J. W. Morris, president of the West Texas League, representing Class D.

This committee will meet with the majors, providing they succeed in settling their threatened war in Chicago tomorrow.

CINCINNATI GETS HOME-RUN HARGRAVE.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Nov. 11.—Garry Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati Nationals, today signed a contract with John W. Norton of the St. Paul American Association Club, for the purchase of Catcher Eugene "Bubbles" Hargrave, sensational home run hitter of the association. Hargrave hit twenty-three home runs during the past season, and batted .359. The cash consideration was not announced. Cincinnati players are also involved in the deal.

YOUNG GEORGE DYNAMITED.

BISBEE (Ariz.) Nov. 11.—"Dynamite" George of Los Angeles, quit in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout with Johnny Celmars of Toledo this afternoon. "Red" Milburn of Bisbee and Battling Ortega of Tucson, fought a six-round semifinal, Milburn getting the decision.

ARMY GRID TEAM SINKS WITHOUT A GULP.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Navy tried out a new depth charge at Pasadena yesterday.

Pacific Fleet, 124; March Field, 0.

Army was all right at squads right and squads left, but got its liaison all tangled up on cross bucks, end runs, forward passes and sich like.

Army was game as that handful of American engineers at Cambrai, and was worse outweighed.

Navy also was game. In addition, it knew the game, and had the necessary displacement.

NEEDED BOX.

First football game ever played here that need a box score to accommodate the tallies.

In one afternoon the gobs made more touchdowns than Babe Ruth had home runs up to June 1. Tough bunch of sailor lads.

Merrily they rolled along o'er the dark blue grass of Tournament Park.

Started scoring in the first four minutes of play and when last seen were still kicking goals in the low visibility of twilight.

HAD NO CHANCE.

Army had about as much chance as a whistling buoy against a dreadnaught with a super-attachment.

Reminded us of the Resolute engaged in mortal combat with the California in waters of the latter's own choosing.

Navy consisted of three battleships and one tough young monitor in the back waters, with a screen of battle cruisers in the front line.

Army with only thin line of pickets was unable to hold the fort.

Battleships were named Fielding, Ingram and Benoist, and the tough young monitor had been christened Roberts by its parents.

SOME PLAYER.

Chief Fielding is a bona fide all-American football player. His ancestors were here before there were any real estate agents to pick a name for the continent.

Bill Ingram and Brother Benoist are of later vintage. They do not have as old a family tree as Chief Fielding, but we will say it bears no quinces.

Then there was Roberts, not much larger than a keg of T.N.T. and fully as dangerous.

The only chance the Army ever had to stop this quartet was to mine the field, which is about the only thing not permitted in football.

SAD SIGHT.

Thought the conventional army mule was the saddest sight in the world until we got up courage to look at the Army team after the first half.

Gobs did their best to convert the other great arm of the service into a species of corned willie.

First step in the manufacture of corned willie is giving it to the victim in the neck, or thereabouts.

FISHER'S STARS PUT ON BLINK.

Heaver Hubbard Sure Shows Some Fine Stuff.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

The Lincoln Giants (colored) experts in the diamond pastime simply ironed out Bobby Fisher's All-Star (Vernon) team at Carroll's Park yesterday afternoon to the melody of 4 to 1.

Jesse Hubbard, the last word in colored pitching finesse, swung the trick in style most easy and graceful. Following his notable victory Ebony Broadway (Central avenue) went on a jamboree and Jesse was accorded the thoroughfare's freedom.

RIP IN AIR.

And well did he come by his laurels for he had such stickers as Johnny Mitchell and Truck Hannan fanning the ozone on a number of occasions. Jesse has a mighty deceptive curve and a fadeaway that is a peach. He was nicked a number of times, but kept the sniping scattered and in the pinches was a bear for fair.

Toward the end of the game his effectiveness became so galling to the All-Stars, that several of them hinted that Hubbard was no other than Sailor Stroud blacked up. This cruel calumny was soon knocked in the head when the Sailor, himself, was found to be among the spectators.

One colored fan in describing the black Walter Johnson's hip-the-dipper, purred: "He do make a noise wid dat pill dat sound like de engine in a bumble bee and when de buzz comes near de batter he shoo do duck for fear of being stung."

FADES AWAY.

Wheezer Dell was on the firing line for Fisher's squad. The old boy was there for a spell, but soon his shoots began to glimmer feebly, finally fading away to nothing when Hubbard insulted one of his cripples for a double in the third inning. "Go! darn it," gloomed Wheeze, about the fifth inning, "I'm kind of all fussed up. I can make up my mind to heave 'em nicely but not my body." The old man probably needs a trip to the north pole selling bath robes to the Esquimos.

During the third inning two friends of Hubbard's got into a jam about his heaving ability. Said one to the other, "I've a good mind to smash yu nose ober all yu face." "Can't be done, boss," was shot back—"because nature done beat yu to de punch."

The Lincolns scored their first two in the third inning on Alcock's error of McLaughlin's hit, Hubbard's double and Pettus's and Thomas's singles. They came right back in the fourth with two more on Perry's walk, Hubbard's second double, Mitchell's and Alcock's errors.

The All-Stars scored their only run in the fourth on Chadbourne's double and Alcock's single. The score:

JOCKEY SCHILLING IS GRANTED LICENSE.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11.—Complying with an order contained in a resolution adopted last night by the Maryland racing commission, the Maryland Jockey Club, operating Pimlico race track, today issued a temporary license to Jockey Carroll Shilling, who was suspended by the Jockey Club of New York for alleged rough riding at Havre de Grace, in 1912.

BIG TICKET SALE.

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Nov. 11.—Applications for tickets to the Yale-Harvard football game, November 20, have reached about 90,000. The actual number of seats available is 73,000. The crowd is expected to be about 80,000.

A SUGGESTION—NOTHING MORE.

Now that the smoke of battle has floated away from Tournament Park might we not humbly suggest to the management of the Army-Navy touchdown carnival that it displayed rotten judgment in matching an outfit drawn from a few hundred flyers and enlisted men against the pick of several thousand officers and men of the Pacific Fleet.

Not only was the March Field team outclassed on the face of things, but there seems to have been a rather deliberate attempt on the part of somebody to hide the facts of the case.

The continued "playing up" of Maj. DeVore, a former West Point and All-American star, as one of the men on the March Field squad when he had been out of the Army for two months and hadn't the slightest idea of playing, was something that will not help the promotion of simliar events in the future.

Worn Out In Mind and Body

Your child is quick to observe disturbances in your mental attitude or physical condition. And when he asks: "What's the matter, Daddy?" there's a tone of solemn anxiety in his little voice. The depression stamped upon you reflects intensely upon him because of his profound solicitude. He at once drops his playthings and rushes to your side, but his happy smile has disappeared and his buoyant spirits are gone—replaced by a countenance of worry and a bearing of hopelessness.

You owe it to the happiness and welfare of your family to keep trim in body and keen in mentality. You are the sun and the inspiration of their lives. Dark, threatening clouds hover over their heads the instant you show signs of being "out of sorts" or "under the weather." Don't imperil their future by neglecting your health.

FRANKLIN EASY WINNER.

Taking Glendale High completely by surprise Franklin High's football eleven threw sand into the suburbanites' machine to the tune of 14 to 0 on the latter's field yesterday afternoon.

When the two teams lined up Franklin was outweighed about ten pounds to the man, but the fighting spirit of the city lads brought them out on top.

The first three quarters went scoreless, and it was not until near the end of the game that Franklin rolled up her scores. Two touchdowns were made by Capt. Brayton and Halfback Gulick. Stan Creswell converted both times.

As a result of her victory Franklin is now standing near the top of the Central League with an average of .666. The Patriots have played five games, of which they have tied two, won two and lost one.

Next week Franklin will wind up the season with the final clash with South Pasadena High School at South Pasadena. The line-up yesterday:

ARMY SIMPLY MASSACRED.

Ingram galloped thirty-five yards around the Army left flank, made another seven yards through the line, and then heaved a forward pass to Von Heimburg, who scored.

The Navy was penalized soon after the next kickoff, when a rough Navy bird clipped Coach Andy from behind, when the latter was obviously out of the play. It was good football when this bird played at Annapolis, but the rule dads have barred it now. After a few plays of one sort and another Ingram decided to try Von Heimburg on the receiving pass again. Von did the expected, and Bill Ingram's prolific boot did the rest.

BILL DOES IT.

There was just enough time left in the second quarter for Ingram to intercept a forward pass and run fifty yards to the twelfth touchdown.

GOOD INTERFERENCE.

Fielding contributed the fourteenth touchdown on a magnificent fifty-yard dash around right and behind a bank of perfect interference.

Long end runs by Fielding and Ingram and a buck by Roberts brought the next touchdown. Fielding legged off another forty-yard run for the fifteenth touchdown.

Andy Smith, who sat on the sidelines during the third period, went back in at the start of the fourth quarter, and gave a sterling exhibition of how to tackle. If his mates had been able to do half as well, they might have fared better. And they said Andy was playing with a busted rib, too. Andy, who was playing center, couldn't catch Fielding, however, and the giant Indian made another lone end run, and then flicked a forward pass to Ingram, who scored. Fielding made the seventeenth and eighteenth touchdowns after lugging the pill down the field on long end runs.

The line-ups:

ARMY GRID TEAM SINKS.

Zeebrugge never was anything quite like this.

Was found almost impossible to stop battleships. Time and again, after being hit, they would turn turtle, regain their equilibrium and then proceed as before.

Repeatedly the prows of Fielding and Ingram cut clean through the Army team, or put on full steam ahead around the end.

Twenty-two men tackled Chief Fielding during one run, and he didn't seem to notice it.

Meaning that each man on the team tackled him twice in one inning without once connecting.

Army tried everythig from wave to mass formation with the same result.

They were unable to cut any mustard on the Pasadena terrain.

Always the Army came out of the trenches at its own peril, which was considerable.

The army gave the Red Cross something to do, but none of the fleet units went into dry dock.

Navy was strictly big league. Had all that old Carlisle and Annapolis stuff, and also some World War stuff.

Beginning with yesterday we undoubtedly have the strongest Navy in the world.

Army team was not picked from the Army at large. It came exclusively from March Field, where they fly. So they hadn't learned to march down the field.

Andy Smith, forty, and with a cracked rib, was the real hero of this Waterloo.

Navy, when it comes on land, provides its own brine with a Waterloo. Very resourceful.

Andy is the March Field coach. His contract doesn't call for him to teach the men football in the heat of battle.

But after a time Andy could stand it no longer to sit idly in that vale of tears on the sidelines, and jumped into the front line.

He pulled a "Phil Sheridan."

When navy was penalized fifteen yards, gob yelled, "Take it down to San Pedro, and we will bring it back again."

That's the old confidence, and a remark worthy of any of our great sea fighters from Farragut down to yesterday.

Bread famine added to the well-known horrors of football. Hot dog merchants ran short of buns just as the sun went down on the fifteenth touch down.

What is life in the navy without a bun now and then?

Anyway, it was quite a skirmish, even if one-sided. And it was Armistice Day. Also, it was the Army and Navy, and as the old song runs, may it be, "The Army and Navy Forever."

Olympic Lads Pump it Into Davis Farm.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 11.—Playing in a downpour of rain, the Olympic Club eleven of San Francisco defeated the Davis Farm School here this afternoon by a score of 20 to 6. The Winged O men outplayed their lighter and less experienced opponents in every period, scoring a touchdown in every quarter except the last. Pike kicked two goals.

Because of the rain the game was confined to straight football, with end runs predominating. Only in the last few minutes of play was the Davis line able to hold, the Olympics failing to make their downs after carrying the ball to the Davis 2-foot line.

The line-up:

Davis (6)		Olympic Club (20)

ATHLETIC CLUB TAKES BLAKE.

Army Boxing Chief to Teach Local Amateurs.

Van Court Remains, Making a Double Battery.

Stirring Revival of the Art Fistic in Sight.

George V. Blake, until recently chief boxing instructor of the United States Army, will teach the fistic art at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. He signed a year's contract with Frank A. Garbutt yesterday and will begin his duties Monday. De Witt Van Court, the veteran, will continue as heretofore. The Mercury club simply will have a double battery. There is renewed interest in the game of padded gloves and a stirring revival is in sight.

The new arrangement is in line with the L.A.A.C. policy to have on its staff the very best instructors. Mr. Blake is regarded as the world's foremost man in his line. His reputation was enhanced by his great work in the Army, covering a period of over three years. The War Department accepted his method of teaching and adopted it as the standard. Cordial letters from the Secretary of War, generals commanding departments and divisions, heads of army schools and other activities, attest to his remarkably successful work in fitting the soldiers to take care of themselves.

During his army service, where Mike Gibbons was associated with him, Mr. Blake directly instructed not less than 25,000 officers and men, and indirectly taught more than a million. He traveled to practically all the army posts and camps and instructed the officers who were in turn to teach boxing. He was at the head of boxing during last March in the country's most important military physical training school, Camp Benning, Ga. Here a third regular army officers, five from each department, were his pupils. When proficient these were sent back to their respective departments similarly to instruct more officers. Thus in a short time the Blake method was spread throughout the army. He maintained close supervision. At one time he trained 600 men a day at Camp Kearny during a period of three weeks.

George Blake,
Who will assist DeWitt Van Court training aspiring boxers over at the Los Angeles Athletic Club from now on. Blake spends his odd moments refereeing the weekly fights out at Vernon and does an exceptionally good job of it.

RACING STEWARD IS ATTACKED BY CROWD.

JOSEPH P. KENNEDY IS SEVERELY BEATEN BY DISGRUNTLED SPECTATORS.

BALTIMORE (Md.) Nov. 11.—Joseph P. Kenendy, member of the Maryland Racing Commission, today was attacked by the crowd of men and women at the Pimlico races and severely beaten.

A woman using a folded program was the first to strike him. Then a man in the crowd hit him a heavy blow behind the ear. Others joined in. A finger of his hand was broken in the fracas and Kennedy suffered from severe bruises on the body and the effects of a blow on his head.

Belief on the part of the crowd that Mr. Kennedy was responsible for Frankie Keogh riding "Buck" Foreman's horse, Manoeuvre, instead of Jockey Carroll Schilling, is thought to have been responsible for the attack. The assault came immediately after Mr. Kennedy had left a conference with members of the Maryland Jockey Club race officials, J. K. L. Ross and Jockey Schilling, relative to the latter's riding Manoeuvre in the seventh race.

Poly High Too Fast for the Jeffersons.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 11.—Polytechnic High School football team won from Los Angeles Jefferson High School team by a score of 27 to 7 in a hard-fought contest here this afternoon. The first scoring was made in the first five minutes of the play, when Halfback Lorenta ran from middlefield while the locals looked on, scoring a touchdown, Quarterback Kerwin scoring the goal. Score, 7 to 0 for Jefferson.

Riverside now grew frantic and Left Halfback Martin, for the locals, by a desperate line buck, succeeded in scoring a touchdown. He also kicked successful goal. In the same period, Halfback Martin staged another line buck, climbing over the stacked-up Jefferson men, and scored a touchdown. Chico, quarterback, kicked the goal for the locals. Score, 14 to 7 for Riverside.

The third period was a see-saw contest with no scoring on either side. In the fourth period Halfback Heiser intercepted a forward pass of Jefferson, running 40 yards for a touchdown. No goal. A few minutes later he made another line buck, and scored a touchdown. Chico kicked goal.

SPITBALLERS ARE WORRIED THESE DAYS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Many ball players, especially those whose duties are to baffle batsmen, are not worrying whether there will be two leagues or one twelve-club league next season. [BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BAKERSFIELD (Cal.) Nov. 11.—Bakersfield High School defeated the St. Mary's High School team of Oakland, 35 to 6, in a hard-fought game here today. Spalding, Bakersfield halfback, made two touchdowns by forty-yard runs after receiving the ball on the old time criss-cross play. Penalties and fumbling were costly to the visitors. St. Mary's scored when Capt. Silva made a forward pass of thirty yards to Camou, who went over the goal line. Spalding, in kickoff, booted the ball clear over the St. Mary's goal posts, the longest kick seen here.

LONG BEACH IS READY FOR FOE.

To Meet Tough San Diego Grid Babes Tomorrow.

Both Squads Have been Going Great Lately.

Coaches Admit Teams Are in Good Condition.

Long Beach, the lone wolf of the southern prep football colony, believes that it sees its day coming and is prepared to howl. Tomorrow afternoon the San Diego football eleven, an outfit of massive construction, streaking speed and considerable point-annexing ability, will endeavor to eat the beach squad without salt. Fireworks of pleasing brilliance are expected.

Both San Diego and Long Beach have figured it out that whoever wins the struggle tomorrow will have a rather neat grip on the California football title. Both machines have been massacreing everything in sight for the past several weeks and guarantee that there will be no Army-Navy flavor to the fight.

SLIGHTLY LESS.

San Diego's scoring record is but slightly less appalling than that chalked up by the beach lads this season. Every game has been won by overbalanced scores. During four arguments the Gray Castle team has accumulated 174 points against their opponents 10. National City was slammed, 68 to 7. Franklin High was bounced, 32 to 0, Loyola College went down on the short end of 56 to 0, and Fullerton was eliminated, 21 to 6.

The Long Beach disciples of Coach Kienholz have, during their quartet of starts this year, returned with 285 points against 7. This total was rolled up against teams outside of the prep ranks, some classed as very good and some not classed at all.

ARE CANDID.

Coaches of both aggregations are perfectly candid in admiting that their men are in great shape and that they will win easily or know the reason. In this respect they differ vastly from Los Angeles coaches who usually burst into print with the assertion that they hope the score isn't over a hundred to nothing against 'em before each game.

Regardless of whether or not there's a title at stake as Long Beach and San Diego believe, the game tomorrow promises to be an overpowered football carnival. Special arrangements have been made at Long Beach for handling a capacity crowd.

Following are the line-ups for the San Diego-Long Beach fracas:

Long Beach.		San Diego.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—That Japan is preparing to join in the struggle for the Davis tennis cup is indicated by a series of meetings this week in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, between T. Asabuki, a Japanese tennis enthusiast, and officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. These meetings had their beginning some time ago at a dinner given by Asabuki to a number of men prominent in the tennis world.

VARSITY TEAM OFF FOR FINAL CONTEST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 11.—The football team of the University of Washington departed late today for Eugene, Or., for the final conference game of the season with the University of Oregon at Eugene Saturday. It was announced the Washington team would show no radical changes from the eleven that appeared against Stanford here last Saturday and went down to defeat. Washington and Oregon have both been defeated by Stanford and the game Saturday will be a fight to keep out of the cellar.

IDAHO THROWS IT INTO UTAH ELEVEN.

BOISE (Idaho) Nov. 11.—Before a crowd of 7000 frenzied football fans, Coach Thomas Kelley's University of Idaho football team demonstrated marked superiority over the University of Utah eleven by winning today's game on the fair grounds field, 10 to 0. Idaho's most effective offensive play is what is known to the football world as a split or delayed buck. This play enabled the Idaho team to march down the field to within striking distance of the Crimson line.

ELATED OVER LONDON TRIP.

Bryant Washburn Fights the Weather, but Wins.

English Exteriors Rich in Atmosphere, He Says.

Don't Go There in Winter, He Advises.

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT.

London is not a place in which to make pictures in winter, but it is fine in summer.

That is the summing up of Star and Producer Bryant Washburn's opinion regarding the opportunities for English production, as expressed on his arrival yesterday in Los Angeles. He has just returned from a trip to Great Britain, where he made his first independent film feature, "The Road to London." He has brought back all the film shot abroad, and will cut and title the picture here.

The Washburn homecoming was one of the happiest participated in by a cinema celebrity in a sequence of months. The actor and his wife were met at the train by Mrs. M. Chichester, mother of Mrs. Washburn, and Bryant Washburn, Jr., as well as Mrs. Joseph Kilgour, wife of the actor, and others. It was the end of the first lengthy separation that had ever obtained in the Washburn household, and everybody in the party radiated joyousness.

The former Lasky star is highly elated over the results of his overseas expedition. He finished his photoplay just in time, because the fogs and rain were beginning to set in heavily. As a matter of fact, he had some qualms as to whether or not they would not interfere with the completion of the picture, particularly as the seasonal change was in imminent dangers of affecting the outdoor scenes.

"We literally explored London for our locations," said Mr. Washburn. "I am sure we will be able to show the public something entirely different.

"As far as interiors go, the producer is just as well off in California as abroad. Because he can duplicate everything in sets. But as regards exteriors there is nothing like the actual locale, because there only can you succeed in getting the actual tradition and atmosphere—the reality.

"We took advantage of this fact throughout our picture, securing shots along the Thames, in Piccadilly, at Windsor Castle, and many other famous and historic spots.

"In their equipment the English are ten years behind us, but they were most generous in co-operating with us while we were abroad—even to the city officials and the police department.

"Glad to be back? I should say so," he continued smiling in answer to the inevitable question. "My wife liked London immensely, but I don't care if I never leave Hollywood again. Yes, I do—I believe that maybe I shall go back to London to make a picture next summer. There are really great opportunities but only in summer.

"Nice, Monte Carlo and the Riviera are all right in winter, but this would be a bad time of the year to go to London. The spring is the time to set out, so that you may be able to avail yourself of the fine weather period."

Mr. Washburn made up his cast for the picture while abroad. The feminine lead was Joan Morgan, who once played the lead with Henry Miller in this country in a picture. She has recently been appearing in Dickens plays at the English theaters. The widow of the late Cecil Raleigh, the writer, was also in his company. He took his technical chiefs with him from here.

To Aid Composers.

To aid the cause of the California composer a program of interest will be presented under the auspices of the Los Angeles Music Teachers' Association tonight at Gamut Club Auditorium. The specific object is to raise money as a nucleus of a fund to be used by the California Federation of Music Clubs under the department of American music; this to further the reward and publication of California compositions.

Norma Gould will present a dance drama of especial attractiveness as a feature, while Charles Wakefield Cadman will introduce a number of new compositions.

Tony Moreno Feature.

Actual filming of Tony Moreno's first feature play for Vitagraph is about to commence. The title is "Three Sevens." It is a film version of Perley Poore Sheehan's novel. Chester Bennett is to direct.

It is likely that the company will go to Florence, Ariz., to take the initial scenes at the State Penitentiary.

Ray's Dog in Person.

Charles Ray's pet dog, "Whiskers," who has an important supporting role in the star's production, "Peaceful Valley," is himself to make a personal appearance during the showing of the picture at the Kinema Theater next week.

HISTORY OF OPERA PROLOGUE TOLD.

When "Pagliacci" was first produced in Italy, the leading baritone objected to the composer about the scarcity of opportunities in his part and energetically refused to go on at the premiere unless his role was fattened. Leoncavallo went home, and that night and the next morning composed what is now known as the prologue—one of the most beautiful pieces of operatic composition on record—and the curtain went up on the premiere with satisfactory result.

It is this historically true episode which suggested the prologue to the Katherine MacDonald feature, "Curtain," at the Kinema this week. On a dimly lighted stage the audience beholds the composer at his writing desk, a miniature stage in front of him, his pen swaying as the melodies come to his busy hands.

Rene Williams leads the Kinema Symphony Orchestra in a short prelude during this mute action until Amon Dorsey Cain appears in front of the scrim drop through which the setting can be seen. As the baritone starts his song the vision of Leoncavallo at work disappears.

AMERICAN Merchant ships are now the rule rather than the exception in European ports.

FAVORITE RETURNS.

HERBERT RAWLINSON HERE TO STAR WITH MAYER.

By Grace Kingsley.

Having remained away from this city so long that he finds the geography of filmland pretty much changed, but not long enough so that the head waiter of the Athletic Club had forgotten him, Herbert Rawlinson, former Universal star and member of the Sleep-Haters' Club in good standing, and of late a Blackton star, is once more in our midst.

Mr. Rawlinson has been so busy greeting his friends around town that he hasn't had much time to work, but yesterday he decided that nothing more stood between him and labor, so he went over to the Mayer studio and donned the grease paint preparatory to playing the leading masculine role opposite Anita Stewart in her current picture.

However, it isn't to be expected that so dashing a leading man as Mr. Rawlinson should remain a mere leading man, and, as a matter of fact negotiations are already under way between him and Louis Mayer to sign him up on a contract to play star roles in some of the all-star features. Mr. Mayer is preparing to produce.

Mr. Rawlinson has the distinction, in addition to his own fame, of being the husband of Roberta Arnold, who first gained note for herself by playing a leading role in the original Morosco production of "Pair o' My Heart," and who afterward won New York in the role of the widow in the Hatton play, "Up-Stairs and Down."

Now Miss Arnold is scoring a big success in Frank Craven's latest play, "The First Year," at the Little Theater in New York. Rawlinson reports that naturally his wife is receiving more flowers these days than any husband cares to think about, but as theirs has proven one of the real romances among stage folk, he's going to trust to fate that things will continue to be all right. Besides, Mr. Rawlinson is pretty popular himself.

Louis Gasnier Busy.

One of the busiest men in filmland is Louis J. Gasnier. He not only has his own Robertson-Cole features to make, but he has also associated himself with Lloyd Hamilton and Jack White in Mermaid Comedies.

Mr. Gasnier begins next week the filming of his newest picture story, adapted from a photoplay tale by C. Gardner Sullivan, entitled "A Good Woman." He will have as his principal players Rosemary Theby and Hamilton Revell.

He will work at the new Robertson-Cole studios on Melrose avenue, where his style won't be cramped by too meager quarters, and where he will have every technical convenience at hand.

Regarding his affiliation with the Mermaid Comedies, Mr. Gasnier announces a complete change in the management and working forces of the Astra studios for the better production and presentation of comedies.

In future Hamilton-White Mermaid Comedies will be produced under the auspices of the Astra Film Corporation, of which Mr. Gasnier is the head. Henry J. Arenz has been retained as general manager for Hamilton and White, and Al Dobson will look after the Astra interests, assisted by F. J. Clark, secretary.

From New York come remarkable reports concerning the success of Mr. Gasnier's Robertson-Cole film production of "Kismet," starring Otis Skinner.

Bill Hart, Author.

It does look as if our own William S. Hart might eventually turn into a regular author with horn-rimmed specs and everything.

If you are a boy, or even if you happen to be only a girl, or even, again, if you're only a grown up boy or girl, you're sure to enjoy Hart's latest book for boys, called "Injun and Whitey." It's about the adventures of a white boy and an Indian youth. There are two houses, too, which reveal Hart's understanding of and sympathy with equines.

Its style is spontaneous, and there's a wealth of breezy humor, while the plot is full of exciting twists. Reading it you fairly forget the tiresome old greasy grind of life in its freshness of outlook and its thrilling happenings.

The two boys are fast friends, and their adventures take place in Montana, in the mountains and plains. Speaking personally, I can hardly wait for the promised sequel to come out, telling how Injun and Whitey go seeking for gold.

Ouija in High Says

That Gloria Hope yet, or perhaps it's again, wears a diamond ring engraved with the initials "L. H."

Noted Director to Noted Star: No, don't use that expression; use your other one.

Ray's Cast Complete.

From the Charles Ray studio comes the announcement that the cast to assist the youthful star in the portrayal of the many interesting characters abounding in Charlie Van Loan's story, "Scrap Iron," has been assembled. Ray himself, of course, will take the role of the young foundry hand, John Steel, and among the artists in support are Vera Steadman, Lydia Knott, Tom O'Brien, Stanton Heck, Tom Wilson and Charles Wheelock.

A huge arena has been erected on the stage and the fight scenes will be among the most interesting in the production. Real fighters will be imported and a host of Ray's friends, regular attendants at the Vernon Tuesday-evening soirees, will look natural as a drink of water sitting upon the benches.

Among those who will be present at the ringside will be no less a person that Arthur S. Kane, under whose banner the Charles Ray Independent Productions are made, and who has just arrived in town.

Studies Spanish Dancing.

Not content with being able to dance in two languages, Russian and English, Edith Roberts, Universal star, is studying Spanish dancing with Beatrice Domingues, the young stepper who was the official dancer at the San Diego exposition. The reason Miss Roberts is thus exerting herself is because in "Hidden Fires," her current picture, in which she plays a South American girl, she is expected to perform a seductive Spanish dance, and she doesn't want anybody to double for her.

Nancy Fair Due.

Arriving in town with "The Girl in the Limousine," at the Mason week after next will be Nancy Fair, remembered here some three years ago as ingenue of the Morosco stock company. Since she was here Miss Fair has been playing almost constantly in New York, appearing as star of Shubert musical comedies and others.

A certain well-known young business man of this city is buying up in advance all the red roses he can command for the opening night, red roses being Miss Fair's favorite flower.

Tom Santschi Ill.

All work on the Pathe western series being produced by Cyrus J. Williams Company for the Arthur S. Kane Pictures Corporation has been suspended on account of the sudden illness of Tom Santschi, who was stricken Saturday with an attack of appendicitis while doing a difficult stunt at the studio on the picture, "Sagebrush Musketeers." Mr. Santschi is in the hospital at present, but hopes to be out in about a fortnight.

Arthur Kane Arrives.

Accompanied by his wife, Arthur S. Kane, president of the pictures corporation that bears his name, arrived in Los Angeles from New York. This is Mr. Kane's first visit to the coast in a year. It was during his last visit that he made public his affiliation with Charles Ray. Recollection of this has given rise to speculation in Hollywood film circles as to possible developments in the course of the present trip. According to Mr. Kane's statement his primary mission is to confer with Charles Ray with respect to winter and spring productions which the popular star will make for First National release. He will also confer with Mr. and Mrs. Carter de Haven.

ST. DENIS DANCE ART.

Repetition of Program Will be Given Tonight.

Ruth St. Denis and her troupe of concert dancers will be assisted by Ted Shawn when the "encore" performance of "Music Visualization" is given this evening at the Trinity Auditorium as a farewell to the company of nine artists who leave soon for a world tour.

It was decided by the management to have a second and final presentation of the classical Terpsichorean innovation after the "standing room only" response that crowded the auditorium last week.

Miss St. Denis won much praise from what critics described as "a new art in dancing and music," which portrayed the classics of music through the medium of rhythmical bodily motion.

Miss St. Denis and Mr. Shawn will be assisted by Ellis Rhodes, tenor; Ann Thompson, pianiste, and Everett Olive, pianist, as well as the company of the concert dancers.

"LOVE FLOWER" HAS ATTRACTIVE MUSIC.

The musical score for "The Love Flower," the new David W. Griffith production, which opens at Miller's Theater, today, is said to reveal how, more and more, the classics of the masters are being brought into use by those who compile the orchestral scores for important screen dramas.

The melodic setting for "The Love Flower" is the artistic handiwork of Albert Pesce, whose instrumental arrangement in "Way Down East" forms a notable feature of that photoplay. He has, in the newest Griffith work, provided unique instrumentation, and involving the works of Schubert, a passage from whose "Unfinished Symphony" is a fitting opening.

Other delightful passages in the "Love Flower" score are Schubert's "Erl King" and his "Marche Militaire;" Grieg's charming "Erotique;" MacDowell's "Wild Rose;" Puccini's "Madame Butterfly;" Liszt's "Liebestraum;" the Andante from Fifth Symphony, by Tschaikowsky; prelude, by Rachmaninoff, the favorite "Sakuntala" overture, by Goldmark, and the "Coriolan" overture by Beethoven.

Admirers of the best in cinema music will find in this discriminating arrangement much added enjoyment on viewing the new Griffith photodrama, said to reveal the producer in one of his happiest moods.

The picture, "The Love Flower," is eagerly awaited by movie fans who have heard and read much about its splendid success in New York, Chicago and other important eastern cities.

C. L. Riemer, a noted organist of Syracuse, N. Y., is musical director.

Lois Weber Entertains.

More than three hundred prominent members of Los Angeles' film profession were present last Sunday afternoon at the formal opening of the tennis court at the Lois Weber studio on Santa Monica Boulevard.

The afternoon was well started by exhibitions of tennis form by some of the best tennis players in this part of the country. In the ladies' doubles Mrs. Bruce and Mrs. Bundy, Mrs. Hope-Doeg and Miss Florence Sutton played. In the men's doubles, Mr. Thomas Bundy and Mr. Maurice McLaughlin, Mr. Harvey Snodgrass and Mr. William De Mille.

Following the tennis and during part of it dancing was the order—the ballroom being the production stage, hung with Japanese lanterns and trimmings of various color, and with a seven-piece orchestra. "Something to eat" preceded the final event, which was a preview of an unheralded product of Miss Weber's pen, a six-part super production for Famous Players-Lasky entitled, "Painting the Lily." Both as a picture and as a satire on society life, it was accorded the full approval of the company, the opinion being voiced frequently that it was the best effort in the premier woman director's career. Claire Windsor, Mona Lisa, Louis Calhern and Arthur Stewart Hull were featured in the cast.

Leading members of the personnel of Famous Players-Lasky, including Frank Garbutt, vice-president; Charles Eyton, local manager; William and Cecil B. De Mille, the directors; Rupert Julian, novelist, and several from the New York headquarters, formed a large part of the assemblage. Thomas Lee Woolwine and others prominent in civil life were there.

Fourth Annual Roll Call in Full Blast; Doing Well.

Volunteers Get Twenty-five Hundred Dollars in Day.

Universiity Women Will Vend Buttons on the Streets.

Under the auspices of the American Legion the fourth annual Red Cross roll call opened yesterday with subscriptions totaling $2500, secured largely through volunteer workers on the streets and at Armistice Day gatherings.

Tomorrow is University of California Day and 350 young women of the Southern Branch will sell memberships and buttons on the downtown streets. The following Saturday 150 young women from the University of Southern California will endeavor to beat the record made by the University of California girls tomorrow. The university making the best showing will receive the California silver loving cup donated by Fred A. Miller, general manager of the California Theater.

The motion picture industry of Los Angeles is expected to bring thousands of memberships to the American Red Cross. J. C. Jessen, western representative of the Motion Picture News, has organized the eighty studios of the city and spurred them on in competition with two silver loving cups offered, one to be awarded to the studio which first reports a 100 per cent enrollment in the Red Cross; the other cup to go to the studio which secures the largest number of memberships and dollars.

Thousands of buttons were distributed yesterday from roll call headquarters in the north annex of the City Hall, 226 South Broadway.

POPPY SEEDS SOWN IN MEMORIAL GROVE.

SYMBOL OF BATTLEFIELDS IS PLANTED WITH CEREMONY AT ELYSIAN PARK.

More than the usual interest attached to ceremonies conducted in the Victory Memorial Grove, Elysian Park, yesterday.

In the presence of members of the American Legion and many civilians, poppy seeds from Flanders were planted so that in the course of time this beautiful flower will cover the lovely park and ever remain symbolical of the sufferings of the American troops abroad and the joy that came with the signing of the armistice.

The seeds were sent to Maj. Frank P. Doherty by relatives. He was wounded in the battle of the Argonne and awarded the D.S.C. for gallantry in action. Speaking at the ceremonies yesterday, he referred to the great conflict happily over and said the grown poppies will ever be a reminder of the gallantry of the American troops abroad. Mrs. Leslie Sloan-Orcutt, president of the city Park Commission, presided at the ceremonies. Beautiful flowers were sent to the grove by the commission.

Some time before Christmas, seventeen trees, the gift of Capt. Walter Brinkop, machine-gun company, Three Hundred and Sixty-fourth Infantry, will be planted in the Victory Memorial Grove.

Another ceremony, soon to be conducted at the grove, will be the unveiling of the bronze tablet now being made by Julia Bracken Wendt, the sculptress. The design represents a soldier and a sailor clasping hands. The background is a live oak tree.

The Park Commission will shortly unfurl a large American flag in the grove, so that the people when they visit the spot may know and appreciate it.

"Daredevil" Campbell made two parachute descents from new all-metal airplanes at Mercury Field, Crescent and Wilshire Boulevards, yesterday afternoon. The planes, in charge of Pilots Montes and Thompson, ascended to a height of 5000 feet before Mr. Campbell cut loose and dropped to the ground. Probably 2000 persons witnessed the thrilling flights.

Men, women and children who came from Pawnee county, Kansas, to make their home in Los Angeles, gathered in Echo Park for a regular Kansas picnic dinner yesterday. Acquaintance met acquaintance and old times were revived.

College days were recalled in Sycamore Grove yesterday when more than 100 members of the Alumni Association of Ottawa University met and enjoy a picnic dinner.

RAISE FLAG ON HILL.

Daughters of War of 1812 Observe Day With Proper Ceremony.

While veterans of the World War were celebrating the armistice anniversary with exercises, the Daughters of the War of 1812 held a flag-raising ceremony on old Fort Hill. The local chapter of the organization met on the historic site of Fort Moore, and with Mrs. James A. Vandegrift, 95 years of age, the oldest member of the organization in California, holding the new flag, they raised it to the heights overlooking the city.

Following the flag raising, the members of the organization gave the American's pledge and sang "The Star-Spangled Banner," led by H. J. Brubaker. Mrs. A. G. Castle, president of the organization, was in charge of the affair.

ARRAIGN SEA CAPTAIN.

Charge Him with Evading Tax in Bringing in Whisky.

Capt. A. H. Ahlin, commanding the steamship Pallas, who is charged with bringing seven barrels of whisky and a lot of dutiable articles from South American ports without paying the tax, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Long yesterday and held in $500 bond.

Efforts had been made to locate Capt. Ahlin for some time, and he was about to have been arrested at San Pedro a month ago when he sailed with his boat for the north. He was apprehended on his return.

HOMELESS GIVEN SHELTER.

Residents Respond to American Legion Appeal in Housing Crisis.

What many private families who heretofore did not rent any part of their homes are responding to the appeal of the American Legion for more housing accommodations is evidenced by the number of letters being received by Sol. W. Meyers, chairman of the American Legion committee, in which homes of all kinds are offered for rent to relieve the housing situation here.

Mr. Meyers is authority for the statement that there is no let-up on the effort of the rent hogs to assess exhorbitant rents for houses and apartments, but real patriotic Americans are offering parts of their homes to accommodate the visitors. Mr. Meyers stated yesterday that the housing problem in this city has not yet been solved, but that hundreds of American families are coming to the rescue of the homeless and it is probable that accommodations will be available for practically all of the tourists this winter.

One of the most pathetic cases that has been brought to the attention of the men and women who are engaging in the fight to stamp out the rent-hogs, is that of an elderly professor and his wife, who reside at Bonnie Brae street between Third and Fourth streets.

MAN CRIPPLED, WIFE BLIND.

This professor is a Frenchman, and formerly taught languages at one of the most prominent universities of the East. He is old now, and crippled, and his wife, is blind, but these conditions have not deterred the avaricioueness of the landlord of the property, occupied in part by the professor and his family.

The house is an old one, of the California bungalow type, with a beaked roof. There is a cellar under the house, which has the same floor space as the bungalow. Formerly this entire building, bungalow and cellar, rented for $14 a month, but conditions have changed, and the cellar is now used as living quarters, and nets the landlord $30 per month, and the bungalow proper, which the aged couple occupy, is now costing them $50 per month.

That the campaign being waged against the rent profiteers is having its effect is evidenced by the ever-increasing number of letters being received from renters of property in which attempts are made to justify the constantly increasing rentals, and changes in conditions of leases.

In a letter just received by The Times, from Fannie Fullerton, 2482 West Fifteenth street, some light is thrown on the reason why owners of property dislike to rent to families having children.

WANTS OTHER SIDE HEARD.

The writer declares in her first paragraph that there has been too much said in the Los Angeles papers about excluding children from apartments and cottages, and adds that she believes it is time that the other side of the question be heard from.

Parents are very much to blame for the fact that landlords dislike their children, Miss Fullerton declares. She says there is a very small percentage of people who dislike children, and declares that the desire to raise children unhampered is responsible for the destructiveness of the youngsters. She states that she has had fourteen years experience in renting to tourists and that of all the young folks who have been in her house she can recall only two whom she would care to have stay with her again.

The reason for this is that the children have been destructive. They have torn carpets, driven nails in the wall, broken glass and worn out chair tops. This is not the fault of the children, but of the parents, who would not correct them or permit anyone else to correct them, the writer says.

JAIL THREE, HUNT PAL.

Nab Men Charged with Beating Narcotic Case Witness.

Charged with having assaulted a government witness, Perry Yantz, Joe Fegelman and Eddy Menney were arrested early yesterday morning by Police Detectives O'Brien and Yarrow and Federal Agents Bright and Brooks and locked in the City Jail. One other man is sought on the same charge.

According to the officers, the men beat Richard Earlston last Saturday night. They say the attack was the outcome of a Federal case against Frankie Miller in which Mr. Earlston was a witness. Miller was convicted on a narcotic charge and sentenced to three years in prison.

CITY HONORS ITS HEROES.

Washington Park, where the Armistice Day patriotic exercises were held.

As the ten groups passed into the baseball field, they were distributed in fan-shape around the speakers rostrum. A trumpeter sounded "Attention," and, as one of the bands played the national anthem, the thousands of uniformed men and women stood at salute.

Following the invocation by an army chaplain, Mayor Snyder made the opening address, telling why again the service flag had been placed in the window of the veteran's home. He spoke of the significance of Armistice Day, the day that had saved thousands of young men from joining the numerous comrades that still rest overseas, those that died, that the world might be made safe from militarism and kaiserism.

Lieut.-Gov. C. C. Young, in the address of the day, said:

"The great joy of the first Armistice Day was the prospect of your return. You had been tested in the flames of frightful war. You had been in the thick of it, had seen comrades drop at your side, had tossed in fever in hospitals, had just escaped paying the ultimate price of your heroism. You proved the patriotic love of country was not the relic of a bygone age.

"But—men and women of the American Legion—I am not trying to preach to you. There are slackers in time of peace as well as in time of war, and the peace slacker as well as the war slacker is a menace to the country. This peace slacker is the slacker who neglects to go to the polls on primary day, and then wonders that his party has selected such weak candidates for office. Right here lies your opportunity to carry the ideals of service which inspired you in war over the times of peace, and to make the slacker who will not do his part in carrying on this government of the stitution will be improved.

people as unpopular in peace time as he was in war time. [Applause.]

"One of the problems which your experiences of the past four years have fitted you to help solve is the problem of the alien upon our shores. The unassimilable alien must not be allowed any longer to come here. We cannot afford to have another race problem in America. Three million unnaturalized males over 21 years of age, a million and half of whom cannot speak the English language, are in this country. They must be Americanized and become real 100 per cent Americans. We are done with hyphenated Americans in this country. They must be transmuted into loyal, English-speaking American citizens or be made to understand that the ships that brought them here are capable of taking them back. [Applause.]

"The future safety of our nation demands that the anarchistic agitators be transported quickly across the water. There is no place for them on American soil.

"Our ship of State needs steadying, and to you who have served us so devotedly in war, we must now look for a similar devoted and unselfish service in time of peace." [Applause and Cheers.]

Following Lieut.-Gov. Young's address, twelve permanently disabled veterans were officially decorated with the Victory Medal and six marines were decorated with the fourragere.

SERVICES FOR LITTLE VICTIM.

Child Killed in Explosion Buried at La Verne.

Sunday-School Workers Elect New Officers.

Pomona-Pasadena Stage Route Starts Operation.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Nov. 11.—Funeral services for little Florence Wheeler, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wheeler, of North Garey avenue, who died at the Pomona Valley Hospital today from the effects of an accidental explosion of a stick of dynamite, which her father intended to use in killing a gopher he had not been able to catch in an ordinary trap, will be held at the graveside at Evergreen Cemetery, La Verne, tomorrow.

Mr. Wheeler was terribly burned about the face, hands and arms, but is expected to recover. The accident happened early this morning at the Wheeler ranch, about a half mile north of the Foothill Boulevard on Garey avenue. Mr. Wheeler was preparing a charge of dynamite at the time the accident happened, and had arranged a device in which the gopher would set off the dynamite when it touched the trap. Mr. Wheeler was seated on the ground near the dynamite and his daughter was standing close by, when in some manner the charge prematurely exploded.

The child was within a direct range of the pieces of dynamite, which were hurled in every direction. The force of the explosion tore the clothing from her body, severed the right leg just below the knee, and completely riddled her body with pieces of the charge. The explosion attracted neighbors, who rushed the father and daughter to the Pomona Valley Hospital, where the child passed away a short time afterwards.

PASADENA PLANS ENLARGEMENT OF CITY LIGHT PLANT. —OTHER NEWS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Nov. 11. — Clifton Sundstrom, aged 15 years, and Youden Howell, aged 12, were injured when hit by a motor truck driven by George A. Leonard of South Pasadena, at Morton avenue and Cedar street. The Sundstrom boy was taken to Roosevelt Hospital with rather serious hurts. Both lads are pupils at the Washington School.

TO ENLARGE LIGHT PLANT.

Enlargements ultimately costing $300,000, are to be made in the municipal light plant, according to C. W. Koiner, the general manager. The first unit will be built next summer and will consist of a boiler. This will cost $50,000. The following summer a turbine and two other boilers will be put in. A new building to house the equipment will be erected on Glenarm street, adjoining the present property of the light plant. The land was bought from the Pacific Electric.

WHISKY SPECIALISTS MAY REAP HARVEST.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Doctors who specialize in issuing whisky permits were overjoyed today by the information that restrictions have been lifted and they will be able to secure more than the 100 prescription blanks heretofore limited to periods of three months. This only gave them 400 blanks a year, whereas they could use thousands.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue William M. Williams at Washington is said to have made a ruling that doctors may secure as many prescription blanks as they desire, provided applications for the number in excess of the 400 permitted each year show reasonable cause.

The more reputable physicians of Chicago have refused to apply for any blanks and have not written a whisky prescription since prohibition went into effect, but there are a number who make this practically their entire business. They make no pretense to surgery or prescribing anything except whisky. The business is very profitable and requires no skill or effort. With the recent ruling by the Supreme Court permitting the transfer of millions of gallons of liquor, the prescription writers see extremely busy and profitable days ahead.

OUTLAW STRIKERS ENTER GUILTY PLEA.

CHICAGO YARDMEN ADMIT THEY OBSTRUCTED INTERSTATE TRAFFIC.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Three members of the Chicago Yardmen's Association, which called the railroad strike last April, pleaded guilty in Judge Landis's court today to obstructing interstate traffic by stealing an engine on the Chicago Junction Railway, opening the throttle and letting the locomotive run wild through the yards.

Sentence against the men, G. W. Hansen, Alfred Gillard and James F. Toolin, was deferred until the cases of six others indicted in the same case, are disposed of.

TROPHIES OF THE HUNT.

Riverside Men Bring Home Heads of Two Elks.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 11.—The antlered heads of two elks are among the trophies brought back by M. H. Simons and J. L. Alabaster from a hunting trip in the Fall River basin in Northwestern Wyoming. Owing to the amount of snow encountered, the hunters' pack trains consisted of twelve horses, which drew their sleds more than 150 miles into a high altitude.

No bears were encountered on account of the heavy snow, which sent them into winter quarters, and two weeks elapsed before the hunters were able to get sight of elks. The two which fell to their guns weighed about 900 pounds each.

GOVERNMENT LAX IN CARE OF VETERANS.

FITCHBURG (Mass.) Nov. 11.—Walsh, addressing veterans of the United States Senator David J. World War, at an Armistice Day celebration today, said that although the government means to be generous, it has been very lax in its treatment of the wounded veterans.

"I shall not feel that the government has done its full duty to our disabled wounded veterans until it has given each of them everything that money can buy and service can do to restore them to full health and strength," he added.

Nervous Breakdown

"I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly"—"My nerves are all on edge"—"I wish I were dead." How often have we heard these expressions or others quite as extravagant from some loved one who has been brought to this state by some female trouble which has slowly developed until the nerves can no longer stand up under it. No woman should allow herself to drift into this condition without giving that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

Read the Letters of These Two Women.

North East, Md.—"I was in ill health four or five years and doctored with one doctor after another but none helped me. I was irregular and had such terrible pain in my back, lower part of my body and down each side that I had to go to bed three or four days every month. I was very nervous, tired, could not sleep and could not eat without getting sick. A friend asked me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am sorry I did not take it sooner for it has helped me wonderfully, I don't have to go to bed with the pain, can eat without being sick and have more strength. I recommend your medicine and you are at liberty to publish my testimonial."—Elizabeth Weaver, R. R. 2, North East, Md.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old and it was drudgery to care for them as I felt so irritable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from my milk so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children, and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."—Mrs. A. L. Miller, 2633 E. 24th St., Minneapolis, Minn.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Big Hydroelectric Offering; Selling Supremacy; Prices Must Come Down.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

The announcement yesterday by Blyth, Witter & Co. of the offering of $1,500,000 Nevada-California Electric Corporation ten-year 8 per cent notes is another evidence of the growth of this market for hydro-electric securities.

This company has been financed primarily in Denver and New York, where the securities have enjoyed a good market. As a result, local investors have never become acquainted with it to any extent.

It is interesting to note that although this company has a steam plant at San Bernardino for use in emergencies, that 97.67 per cent of the power sold by them in 1919 was derived from their hydroelectric plants along Bishop Creek. This is a higher percentage than that of any Company in California, and is reflected in the efficiency of their operation.

Through the subsidiary companies, the Southern Sierras Power Company, the Holton Power Company, and the Nevada-California Power Company, this corporation serves Southwestern Nevada and the agricultural sections of Eastern and Southern California, from Mono county to the Mexican and Arizonian borders, a distance of approximately 500 miles. All of this territory is served exclusively, except a small portion in Inyo county, where the city of Los Angeles has some small plants, and portions of San Bernardino and Riverside counties, which are also served by the Southern California Edison Company.

As the demand for electricity has greatly exceeded the supply, the Railroad Commission has permitted each company to serve that part of the territory which it seemed they could serve to best advantage. This is in conformity with the general policy of the commission to prevent duplication of plants, which necessarily means increased rates to the consumer. The rich agricultural districts of San Bernardino, Riverside and Imperial counties, including the Coachella and Imperial valleys, are included in this territory, as well as the fertile Owens Valley, the mining districts at Keeler and Randsburg, and the large soda and potash deposits at Owens and Searles lakes and the cement plants in the Victorville district.

Through a subsidiary, the Imperial Ice and Development Company, they manufacture 250 tons per day and supply exclusively the ice needed in the Imperial and Coachella valleys. Among other consumers they supply the Pacific Fruit Express Company, with the ice needed in icing the cars containing cantaloupes and vegetables.

At the close of 1919 there were 12,589 light and power consumers, with a total connected load of 61,475 horse power.

The revenues of the company are about evenly divided as to lighting, mining, manufacturing, agriculture and miscellaneous.

In 1919 gross revenue from all sources was $2,574,513; net revenue before depreciation, $1,405,761; bond and other interest, $655,647; balance applicable to new note issue, $720,114. For the nine months ending September 30, gross revenue from all sources was $2,377,553; net before depreciation, $1,247,971; bond and other interest, $530,285; balance applicable to new note issue, $717,686.

A large portion of the surplus has been reinvested in the company each year, but it has been found impossible to meet the growing demand of the territory for power, and proceeds of these notes will be used in providing this necessary development.

CALIFORNIA WAY.

The California co-operative system of handling and marketing her products, which finds its most perfect exemplification in the Fruit Growers' Exchange, is a constant source of wonder to Eastern buyers, where scientific methods of this kind are still in embryonic formation.

That it pays, even as advertising, is evidenced by the following editorial comment, which recently appeared in the Philadelphia Public Ledger:

Vegetable and fruit growers of the East have much to learn in the marketing of their crops from the Californians. In deciduous fruits, as in citrus, they give the most meticulous attention to the buyer's view. They pack their products most attractively. They spray their trees and plants so that insect damage is reduced to a minimum. They have in their two selling bodies the nearest approach to scientific marketing on a big scale that is presented anywhere on earth.

This has not been easy of accomplishment but they have worked together many years until they achieved what seemed to be impossible. They have done more to reduce the wastes of marketing than any other agriculturalists of the earth and they have set up a model that it would be well for other agriculturalists to study and adopt, so far as it is possible, for their products.

There is no more disorganized body in industry than that of agriculture as a whole. Yet in this California instance there is furnished a model organization. The wheat growers, the cotton growers, the corn growers, the vegetable growers, the nation over, operate much as do the lemon growers of Sicily. They would serve themselves and the nation better if they studied how to eliminate wastes and how to market their products to the best advantage of producer and consumer.

NONE SO BLIND.

There are none so blind as those who will not see. Trade Talk is thinking of merchants who refuse to recognize the trend of the times and will not meet the consumer half way in an effort to reduce prices.

Manufacturer and wholesaler have long since seen the handwriting upon the wall, and radical cuts in many commodities have been made at the base. Retailers are gradually falling into line, but they have been very reluctant and some are holding out for the old prices on the ground that they must get out of their stock that which they put into it. This argument was not used when prices were advancing and they were selling on the higher scale rather than on the one which prevailed before the government attempted to coerce the law of supply and demand.

A fine opportunity now exists to win the good will of the public which is in a resentful mood over what it thinks the extortionate prices which have been charged. It is utterly foolish to hold out against the inevitable for the present level is bound to give way. Its supports are being knocked from under by a slipping market in raw materials and in manufactured products, and the merchant who will come out best in the long run is the one who will take the lead in adjusting his prices to present conditions, pocketing his loss, and proceed with business as usual.

Whether or not the indictment is true or false the consumer does not think he has been getting a fair deal. Retailers make the same claim against jobbers and manufacturers, but what is one to think when he encounters a paragraph like this which appeared in a recent issue of a newspaper:

"The chief buyer for Wilson & Co., the packers, states that he had to pay a retailer 25 cents per pound for a pound of pot roast which cost the retailer 9 cents."

Isn't it about time to get together?

DRAINING OUR FORESTS.

The world is again turning to the United States for its supplies of forest products, and our exports of timber, lumber and other forest products will aggregate about $200,000,000 in the calendar year 1920 against an average of $70,000,000 per annum during the war period.

Our exports of forest products, says a statement by the National City Bank of New York, have aggregated more than a billion dollars in the last decade despite the partial interruption by the war and are now running at the rate of $200,000,000 a year or nearly four times as much, in stated values, as in certain of the war years when the natural reduction in the world demand was intensified by the lack of transportation facilities.

In the prewar years, our exports of lumber and other forest products aggregated about $75,000,000 per annum, and were steadily advancing so that in the year immediately preceding the war the total value of all forest products exported was $115,000,000. But, with the opening of the war, the demand temporarily declined, especially from Europe, and the total value of the exports of this class dropped in 1915 and 1916 to just one half that of the year preceding the war.

Now, however, with the resumption of building in all parts of the world and the Russian supplies temporarily cut off, the world again turns to the United States and her neighbor, Canada, and our exports of lumber and other forest products, which advanced from $55,000,000 in 1915 to $87,000,000 in the closing year of the war, was $137,000,000 in 1919 and promises to be about $200,000,000 in the calendar year 1920.

SEATTLE ON THE JOB.

Publicity Bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce is running a series of page and half-page advertisements in Eastern newspapers and magazines. A recent attractive spread in the Wall street Journal setting forth the advantages of the Northwestern metropolis as a seaport, railroad and market center cheap power, climate, manufacturing sites, abundant labor supply, opportunities and the open-shop is said to have attracted a large number of inquiries. This sort of publicity is expensive, but it brings results.

A FETCHING ARGUMENT.

One of the most remarkable arguments Trade Talk has yet heard in favor of a 10-cent street car fare is advanced by L. R. Nash in an article published in the Stone & Webster Journal. He says in effect that the double jitney toll is pre-

ADVANCES AT OPENING OF COTTON.

Market Also Firmer; New Cold Wave is Approaching the Belt.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The New York cotton market opened firmer at an advance of 35 points on firm cables, buying by Wall street and a new cold wave approaching the belt. After the call prices continued to rise about 40 points net.

The forecast for freezing temperatures over much of the western belt failed to stimulate buying and prices broke on reports of an easier spot basis in the South, 7 to 17 points lower.

Business was quiet in the afternoon.

New Low Levels Are Reached in Chidago Grain.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—New low levels were made for wheat, corn and oats as the result of a lack of aggressive buying. Highest prices were made at the opening and the lowest toward the close with the finish at new losses of 6¼@7¼ cents on wheat, 2@3¼ cents on corn, 2@2¾ cents on oats, 2¾@4 cents on rye and 1¼ cents on barley.

General business conditions are the dominating influence in the grain markets. Statistical developments that would be regarded as sensationally bullish fail to bring in buying orders.

The British commission failed to follow the previous day's bulge in wheat with buying orders and with a break in exchange heavy selling of futures developed. Stop-loss orders were caught on the way down. The feature was the buying of December and selling of March which widened the difference to 7 cents at one time with the close at 6 cents premium for the December against 2 cents on Tuesday.

An absolute lack of support, except such as was furnished by shorts and holders of bids was responsible for a decline to a new low on the crop for corn. At no time were prices more than a fraction above the previous day's level and the undertone was heavy at the last. Stop-loss orders were caught on the way down and holders of bids were forced to protect themselves.

Bulk of the trade in oats was of a local character and with other grains weak a decline to a new low on the crop was easily attained. Cash lots in the sample market were firmer as compared with the December.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE REMAINS NERVOUS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The foreign exchange market as expressed in terms of the American dollar, was again extremely nervous today, denoting in greater measure the paramount position of this country as the world's sole "creditor nation."

Heavy offerings of grain and cotton bills caused the British, or sterling rate, to fall to $3.52¼ for demand bills, as against the pre-war quotations of $4.86⅝. Today's low was 4⅛ cents under the record best, but considerably over the low record of last February, when sterling fell to $3.18.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. — Numerous speculative issues were subjected to further bearish aggressions in the stock market today, but recognized leaders of the railway and industrial classes offered a fair degree of resistance to professional pressure.

Selling of motors, shippings, equipments, sugars and several of the utilities at gross declines of 3 to almost 10 points coincided with reports of financial needs and other conditions of an unfavorable nature, these mostly indicating additional slackening down of various industries.

The more vulnerable shares included Willys-Overland, pfd., Pierce Arrow, pfd., Atlantic, Gulf, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, American Sugar and American Express. Oils and a few of the junior rails also yielded moderately with unclassified specialties, b ut Republic Steel was prominent for its net gain of 5¼ points.

Failure of the Southern Pacific directors to announce the terms of the company's oil segregation plan gave rise to reports of a hitch, but these met with prompt denial in which the stock recovered part of its decline.

Trading was light in comparison with recent active sessions, dealings falling away almost one-third. There was a sharp upward spurt in the final hour, based on the ease of call money, which fell from 9 to 7 per cent, the lowest rate in several weeks, but this was not realized by another break in foreign exchange. Sales amounted to 800,000 shares.

The decline in international rates carried London rates 4¼ cents under the recent high, while French, Italian, Spanish and Greek rates fell to discounts never before known in the market. South American and Canadian quotations also breaking.

Bonds were comparatively dull and irregular with no special feature in any particular division. Total sales (par value) aggregated $13,850,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

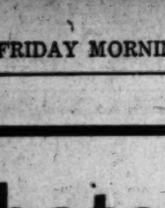
NO "BLANK FORM" FOR A WILL



EVERY DAY OR SO someone comes to our Trust Department and asks if we have not a "blank form" on which they can make out their "Last Will and Testament."

We have to tell these inquirers that the complication and difficulty of providing by Will for the disposition of an Estate is a personal complication, not covered by any set form of words. Your will must be drawn, by a skilled attorney, to meet YOUR conditions, YOUR estate, YOUR beneficiaries, and the requirements of law applicable to them.

What we can do, and are glad to do, is to confer with you regarding the business administration of your estate. We can show you the advantages of naming this Bank as Executor. When the Bank is named as Executor, then we can take custody of your will, properly drawn, and see that it is kept safely and secretly and presented for probate at the proper time.

But there is no such thing as a "Blank form" for a Will.

PREDICTS VAST GROWTH IN CITY

Million and a Third in Ten Years, Says Official.

Demonstrates Great Effect of Local Immigration.

Los Angeles should have a population in 1925 of 957,277, and in 1930 the number of residents should be at least 1,337,304, according to estimates prepared by Efficiency Director McQuiston and made public by him yesterday. A request was made of the city's efficiency department for estimates of the probable population of the city during the next ten years, and as a result Mr. McQuiston prepared the first definite calculations of the sort which have been made here.

In 1850, Mr. McQuiston's report shows, the population of Los Angeles was 1610, the area of the city being twenty-eight square miles. Today, as shown by the recent census figures, the city has a population of 576,673, with an area of 365.83 square miles. The average increase by ten-year periods since 1850, the report shows, has been 149.2 per cent.

The elements which produce growth in population, Mr. McQuiston states, are natural increase, local immigration and annexation of territory. In the case of Los Angeles, annexations from 1890 to 1900 brought in additional population, as the territory added included Highland Park, Garvanza, University and other well populated districts. The 1910 census likewise showed an increase due to the annexation of the Wilmington, Hollywood and San Pedro districts. The 1920 population was augmented through annexations of larger but more sparsely settled areas.

Analyzing the increases by ten-year periods, Mr. McQuiston shows that of the average increase for each period, 20 per cent has been due to natural causes, 11.7 per cent to annexation of territory, and 168.2 per cent to immigration or arrivals in the city, giving a total average increase for a ten-year period of 131.9 per cent. A census in 1925 would cover but one-half of this period. So allowing for a 66 per cent increase, the efficiency director arrives at the figure of 957,277 as the probable population of Los Angeles in 1925, and allowing the full 131.9 per cent increase for 1930, it may be reasonably expected that the population of the city will be 1,337,304 in that year.

WANTS COURT TO WITHDRAW GIFT TO SON.

Guardian of Wealthy Man's Estate Says Car Was Given by Incompetent Father.

Samuel J. McNeese, who started life as a sheep herder and accumulated a fortune of $100,000, is seeking in Judge Avery's court to recover from his son, Samuel S. McNeese, 20 years old, an automobile valued at $1800. He declares he was incompetent at the time he parted with the machine.

The defendant is fighting this declaration of incompetency on the part of his father, and because of the law points raised Judge Avery had the case submitted on briefs.

Waldo M. York, counsel for the plaintiff, submitted a long hypothetical question to medical experts covering the elder McNeese's history, the purport of which was to show that Mr. McNeese is incompetent. The medical experts, who included Dr. Rowley and Dr. Brainerd, declared that in their opinion the plaintiff is incompetent.

In another suit by Mr. McNeese against his wife, which is pending, he seeks to recover property he divided with her. The contention is that the agreement by which he divided his property with his wife was made while he was incompetent.

The suit against his son was brought through H. Parker Wood, the guardian of the elder McNeese. Nathan Newby represents the son.

TWO GOING NORTH.

Extra Precautions Taken to Foil Escape of Would-be Jail Breaker.

Joseph Alfred Paul Bellefleur, alias "Capt." J. Allan Brooks, who must serve eighteen months in the Federal penitentiary on McNeil Island for violating the Dyer Act in taking an automobile from one State to another without the consent of the owner, and Herman Munn, alias Harry McMunn, who was given three years for impersonating a Federal officer, will be taken north tonight by Dep. U. S. Marshal Bell and a guard.

Brooks made an attempt to escape from the County Jail, and extra precautions will be taken to see that he does not repeat his experiment in trying to get away.
